High Court upholds school property tax

Landmark ruling reversed

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Supreme Court today in a 5 to 4 decision upheld the local property tax for financing public schools.

The majority reversed a three-judge federal court which ruled that the Texas system of school finance violates the 14th Amendment's guarantee of equal protection of the laws.

The lower court had ruled that the system discriminates against the poor by making the school quality dependent on local, rather than state wealth.

All states except Hawaii depend in large part on the property tax to finance schools.

Justice Lewis F. Powell Jr., writing for the majority, noted that the court was not endorsing the status quo.

"The need is apparent for reform in tax systems which may well have relied too long and too heavily on the local property tax," Powell wrote. "But the ultimate solution must come from the lawmakers and from the democratic pressures of those who elect them."

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The Ohio Education Association reacted with discouragement today to the U.S. Supreme Court ruling upholding the property tax as the principal means of school financing.

The OEA filed a federal court suit in Columbus last year similar to the Texas case on which the high court acted today.

"My immediate reaction," said OEA spokesman John Hall, "is that on a 5-4 ruling, apparently the court is not very decided on what it ought to do."

Hall said the OEA had been operating on the assumption that U.S. District Court Judge Carl Rubin would decide their case "along the same lines" as the U.S. Supreme Court handled the Texas case.

The OEA and the plaintiffs in the Texas suit contended that the property tax violates the constitutional rights of children in poor school districts, where taxes don't generate enough money to adequately fund the public schools.

"I think we will still maintain there is great inequality in educational opportunity and whether you say that it is not a violation of constitutional rights really begs the issue," Hall said.

The U.S. Supreme Court decision said the high court was not endorsing the property tax as the primary method of education financing but any changes would have to come from state legislatures or from Congress.

VACANT HOUSE DESTROYED — This vacant house at 923 E. Temple St., owned by Rodger Chapel AME Church, was consumed by flames early Wednesday morning. Washington C.H. firemen said the blaze is believed to have started around a floor furnace. They said the house was completely engulfed in flames when they arrived on the scene shortly after 4 a.m. The fire also caused an estimated $2,000 damage to the roof and siding of the James Wackman home, left. The vacant house, valued at $10,000, was insured.

Federal fund freeze could hurt Buckeye State's budget plans

By ROBERT E. MILLER
Associated Press Writer

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)— Nixon administration cutbacks in funds that help pay for state programs have raised questions about Ohio's proposed $9.7 billion budget for the two-year state bookkeeping period beginning July 1.

House Finance Chairman Myrl Shoemaker, D-88 Bourneville, mentioned the dilemma Tuesday and said it could be another stumbling block to completion of work by his committee.

"We may have to go ahead and just guess at them for now," he said, noting that any needed adjustments could be made later in the Senate.

Shoemaker's committee is under pressure of House Speaker A. G. Lancione, D-Bellaire, who wants the big spending document out of the House and into the Senate by April 19. A 10-day legislative recess is due to begin that day, but there will be none unless the House finishes the budget, the speaker said.

The Democratic leaders discussed budget problems on a busy legislative day that included developments on several fronts.

—Sen. Donald E. "Buz" Lukens, R-Middletown, introduced a resolution asking the legislature to stand opposed to any federal legislation that would grant amnesty to those who refused military service in the Vietnam War.

—The House passed measures extending the terms of city council presidents, and adding a municipal judge each in the Lorain and Elyria municipal courts. Both bills now go to the Senate.

—Senators approved unanimously a measure that would allow jury service in county courts more than once in a period of 30 days, now limited to once in the statutes.

—Sen. Ronald M. Mottl, D-24 Parma, asked a constitutional amendment that would give Ohio a unicameral legislature of 85 members, claiming a two-chamber body duplicates time, effort, and money.

Shoemaker, whose committee has had the Democratic administration's budget bill since mid-January, said questions are being raised as a result of announcements from Washington that Nixon wants cutbacks in some poverty war and other programs that are built into Ohio's 1973-75 spending plans. Many state programs are paid for in part with federal matching funds.

Shoemaker said he is seeking to determine which federal funds might be cut, and that he has asked the state Department of Finance "for the figures, but I haven't heard from them yet."

Three subsections of the Finance Committee are "moving along pretty well" with interviews of administration officials on spending requests, Shoemaker said.

However, Rep. Fred Young, R-38 Dayton, ranking minority member of the committee, disagreed. He said "we've been having a lot of problems in our section (the general section). There's been something wrong with the request of almost every board or commission that has come before us." Many changes will have to be made, he predicted.

Young predicted the House committee will not finish work on the budget bill "at least until late April."

Lukens, a GOP conservative and former congressman who wants to run for governor next year, offered his anti-amnesty proposal to the Senate, then sought immediate discussion on it.

The Senator was ruled out of order, however, on a Senate rule that requires resolutions "of substance" to be assigned to a Senate committee—unless a majority agrees to immediate discussion. The resolution went to the Senate Judiciary Committee.

Lukens said in his resolution generally that millions of Americans served in Vietnam, many thousands died, and some paid the price of refusal by going to jail.

Senate approves extension of wage-price authority

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate has added federal rent controls for some metropolitan areas but otherwise agreed essentially with President Nixon's inflation-fighting program.

It passed late Tuesday, 85 to 2, a bill extending Nixon's authority to freeze and regulate wages and prices for another year—to April 30, 1974. The bill now goes to the House.

Senators approved rent control, 50 to 38. Sen. Clifford Case, R-N.J., who offered the amendment, said rent increases in urban areas have soared since Jan. 11 when Nixon dropped his mandatory Phase 2 controls in favor of the largely voluntary Phase 3 program.

Basically, rents would be limited to a 2.5-per-cent rise annually where a vacancy rate of 5.5 per cent or less is found.

Landlords could add to the increase their higher costs for utilities, maintenance and improvements.

The president could lift controls in any area after a hearing in the area to reassess the situation.

The controls apply to low and moderate housing. Luxury units—that is, a monthly rental of $500 or higher—and new buildings are exempted.

Each city would have to be studied before controls were imposed. Based on old statistics, Case aides said, some likely areas would be Los Angeles; San Francisco; Denver; Honolulu; Boise, Idaho, and most urban areas of New York; Pennsylvania, and New Jersey.

The last key test before final passage of the bill came on an amendment by Sen. William Proxmire, D-Wis., to freeze wages, prices, rents and interest for six months. It lost 51 to 36.

A supporter of the freeze, Sen. Henry M. Jackson, D-Wash., said that as things look now the future holds "tight money, high interest, a recession."

"The only sensible thing to do is to take this rather drastic step and provide the shock the economy needs so badly," Jackson said.

Broad oil industry rules under study by Congress

WASHINGTON (AP) — Fearful that fuel shortages may cut competition in the oil industry, Congress is considering giving President Nixon power to allocate oil products among distributors and to ration them to consumers.

The Nixon administration has stated no intention to take either step but has contingency plans ready should rationing— not seen in the United States since World War II—become necessary. There are unconfirmed reports that gasoline-rationing tickets are being printed.

The Senate voted 50 to 30 Monday to retain fuel-allocation and rationing authority in a bill, passed Tuesday, extending the president's wage-price-restraint power for one year.

The provision is now on its way to hearings before the House Banking Committee where, congressional sources say, the nation's major oil companies are expected to wage a major fight against it.

The allocation proposal was authored by Sen. Thomas F. Eagleton, D-Mo., and is being pushed by lobbyists for the nation's small, independent marketing of oil and gas.

The Eagleton proposal would give the president authority to set up an emergency board to allocate petroleum products among all companies and to all sections of the country on a more-or-less equal basis.

Fighting to strip the allocation proposal from the bill was Sen. John Tower, R-Tex., who said the market-price system "has proven to be the best allocation device in history." Trying to intervene in that system with rationing or controls has always caused worse shortages, Tower said.

Eagleton and oil-industry critics contend threatened shortages will give the industry's major firms life-and-death power over the independents, many of whom have sold oil and gasoline at cut rates.

The market-price system works fine during normal times, Eagleton said. "But in a period of shortages, I submit, it is a policy which would make rich men of a few and beggars of the rest of us."

A spokesman for Eagleton says the senator sees no need at present "for consumer rationing at the pump level." But Eagleton says the shortage already is serious enough—and threatens to become far more serious this summer—that a system for allocating oil products at the distribution level should be set up.

Prisoners end pen outbreak

MOUNDSVILLE, W.Va. (AP) — Inmates who had taken five guards hostage ended their rebellion at West Virginia Penitentiary today, Gov. Arch A. Moore Jr. reported. One inmate was fatally stabbed and two others wounded during the 24-hour uprising.

Moore emerged from the century-old prison with the five guards, who were pale but did not appear to be roughed up, after their day in captivity.

Moore said that to his knowledge only one inmate was dead, and identified him as Willy Hale of Charleston. Asked how Hale died, he said "I can't respond to that. It was very brutal."

Moore said the inmates' list of demands presented at this morning's negotiations totaled 10, but there were two which "under no circumstances could I agree to."

He said those two demands were for freedom from prosecution in connection with the disturbance, and for the right to carry as much money or cash with them in the prison as they wanted to.

The governor described the remaining demands posed by the inmates as "only humane and fair, in some respects."

Some 40 National Guardsmen and an unknown number of state troopers had surrounded the prison after it was taken over by the inmates Tuesday morning.

He said the inmates had agreed to return "to their former circumstances," which he said he interpreted as meaning they would return to their security cells.

One of the five hostage guards, Lloyd Miller, said they "never were touched" by the inmates. He said five or six of the inmates stood by them at all times.

The other four guards were identified as Larry O'Neill, Billy Richard Thomas, Basil Raley and Alfred Fernandez. Moore said he had telephoned their wives late Tuesday to assure them every effort was being made to free their husbands.

Prices rise at Korean War rate

WASHINGTON (AP) — Led by a record one-month increase in grocery prices, consumer prices went up in February at the steepest rate since the Korean War, the government said today.

The Bureau of Labor Statistics said the Consumer Price Index surged by eight-tenths of one per cent on a seasonally adjusted basis last month, marking the biggest monthly increase in the cost of living since February 1951.

Food prices over-all went up by 2.2 per cent seasonally adjusted, the biggest rise since February 1951. But food purchased in grocery stores jumped by 2.4 per cent, the steepest on record.

The bureau added that the increase in meats, poultry and fish bought at grocery stores accelerated, rising by 5 per cent in one month.

The price report was a stunning blow to President Nixon's inflation fighters, and reflected the sharp increases in food at the wholesale level in recent months.

But even without the big increase in food prices, the consumer price report was bad. There were sizable increases also in non-food commodities and services.

On an unadjusted basis, consumer prices surged by seven-tenths of one per cent, the highest monthly increase since March 1969. Food prices, on the same basis, increased by a sharp 1.9 per cent, the biggest since January's 2.1 per cent.

The BLS said that with the exception of eggs, prices of most kinds of food rose substantially in February. Meat, poultry, cereal and bakery products rose more than usual. There were also sharp increases in dairy products and fresh vegetables.

The prices of non-food commodities increased by three-tenths of one per cent after a decline in January. On an adjusted basis, the bureau said, the increase was even sharper—five-tenths of one per cent.

Prices of services also accelerated, increasing at a four-tenths of one per cent rate, double the previous month.

2 airmen die

CLOVIS, N.M. (AP) — Two F111 swing-wing fighter planes collided over Arizona, killing at least two Air Force officers.

Soviets may try to upstage U.S. orbit of skylab in May

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Russians may try to overshadow the launching of the first U.S. Skylab by orbiting a space station of their own a month or so earlier, some Pentagon specialists say.

They make their assessment on the basis of two Soviet instrument ships deploying into the Atlantic recently.

The Gagarin and the Komarov, described by U.S. experts as Russian space-support ships, were sighted sailing from the Black Sea and were tracked by U.S. patrol planes as they steamed through the Mediterranean. Dish-type antennae and other special electronic gear topside made them easy to identify.

Reports said the ships traveled at high speed, suggesting they were on an urgent mission.

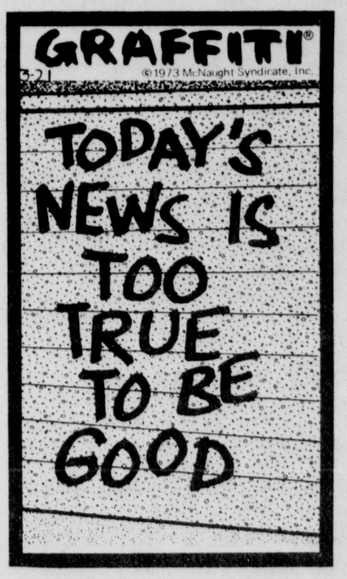
This could indicate that the Soviets are planning a space voyage soon, perhaps in April, to claim the world's interest before the first Skylab is fired into earth orbit in mid-May.

That Skylab is planned to stay in orbit for 28 days while American astronauts perform various scientific projects in a shirt-sleeve environment. Two Skylab voyages of 56 days each are to be flown later, if all goes well.

An atmosphere of U.S.-Soviet competition prevailed in the early years of space exploration, but in recent years the trend seems to have moved toward U.S.-Soviet cooperation in civilian space research. The two countries have scheduled a joint U.S.-Soviet space mission for 1975.



Drug firm denies responsibility

Probe hexachlorophene deaths

By STEVEN A. COHEN
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — The deaths of 15 persons in the United States have been associated with the external use of medical cleansing agents containing the germ killer hexachlorophene, according to federal records.

In most instances, the cleansing agent was pHisoHex which contains 3 per cent hexachlorophene, the records show. The manufacturer said the deaths were "not pHisoHex deaths."

The Food and Drug Administration in September banned hexachlorophene (HCP) from all but prescription products, but did not tell newsmen of HCP's association with the 15 U.S. deaths although it was aware of them.

The FDA did cite the deaths of 39 French infants and a university study correlating frequent bathings with HCP solutions and brain lesions. The ban covered over-the-counter sale of popular deodorant products containing HCP.

Asked why the FDA did not cite the 15 US. deaths, an agency spokesman said the French and university reports formed "the important data."

"Our action was fully responsive on the basis of the data as it was being developed," the spokesman said.

At no point do FDA records list the germ killer as cause of the 15 deaths which occurred between 1954-71. They are reported in a September 1972 FDA summary under a category entitled, "Fatal Reactions Associated With Topical Use" of HCP.

The summary also lists several nonfatal reactions and other deaths associated with accidental swallowing of products containing HCP.

Many of the 15 deaths occurred during a period when Winthrop Laboratories, manufacturer of pHisoHex, was not reporting to the FDA any adverse reactions to the product.

Asked about the deaths, an official of Sterling Drug, Inc., which owns Winthrop Laboratories, said in a telephone interview that the deaths noted in the FDA report "are not pHisoHex deaths."

"Just because someone happens to be bathing with hexacholorophene at the time he dies doesn't mean he dies from hexachlorophene," said Dr. Monroe Trout, Sterling's medical director.

The FDA records on fatal reactions associated with HCP cite instances in hospitals of the use of pHisoHex on

Deaths, Funerals

Miss Oma Bryant

Miss Oma Bryant, 85, of Washington C. H., died at 8:30 a.m. Wednesday in the Margaret Clark Oakfield Convalescent Center where she had been a patient the last three years.

She was born in Fayette County and had spent most of her life here and in Dayton. She was a member of the United Methodist Church.

Her closest surviving relatives are a brother, Bennett Bryant, of New Holland; a sister, Mrs. Audree Girton, 517 Mayfair Dr.; a nephew; two nieces, a great niece and two great nephews.

Services will be held at 1:30 p.m. Friday in the Kirkpatrick Funeral Home, Washington C. H., and burial will be in New Holland Cemetery. Friends may call at the funeral home from 4 to 9 p.m. Thursday.

Vannie N. McMurry

GREENFIELD — Vannie N. McMurr y, 86, Rt. 2, died at 9:20 p.m. Tuesday in Greenfield Manor Convalescent Center following a year of failing health.

Born in Pike County, he was a retired farmer.

He is survived by his wife, Minnie Mae Williams McMurry; a son, Charles E. McMurry, Rt. 2; two daughters, Mrs. Elva (Margaret) Mercer and Mrs. Phil (Donna) Smith, both of Rt. 2; 10 grandchildren; 21 great-grandchildren; a great-great grandson, and three sisters, Mrs. Florence Brigner, of Beaver, Mrs. Arch (Mae) Smith and Mrs. Flossie Smith, both of Greenfield.

Services will be held at 2 p.m. Friday in the Murray Funeral Home with the Rev. Robert K. Blaine, pastor of the Evangelical United Brethern Church, officiating. Burial will be in Greenfield Cemetery. Friends may call at the funeral home after 4 p.m. Thursday.

Mrs. Thomas Randolph

She was the daughter of Dewey and Louise Webb Smith, Rt. 1, Mount Sterling, and was an employe of the Montgomery Ward Store in Washington C.H.

Surviving besides her husband, Thomas, and her parents, are two sisters, Mrs. Darrell (Jean) Furniss, Orient, and Mrs. Donald (Ann) Woods, of Jeffersonville, and two brothers, Wilbur, of Mount Sterling and Jay E., of Washington C.H.

Friends may call at the Porter Funeral Home after 7 p.m. Wednesday. Services will be held there at 1:30 p.m. Friday. The Rev. Charles Hill, of the Jeffersonville United Methodist Church, will officiate. Burial will be in Madison Mills Cemetery.

The family suggests contributions be made to the Kidney Foundation Memorial Fund.

Mrs. David L. Ford

Mrs. Kathryn (Kaye) Ford, 53, of Columbus, died Tuesday in Riverside Hospital, Columbus, shortly after being admitted.

Survivors include her husband, David L.; a daughter, Marcia Ford, of Columbus; two sons, James, of Lancaster, and Richard, at home; a granddaughter, and her mother-in-law, Mrs. W.B. Ford of Stuckey Rd.

Services will be held at 1:30 p.m. Friday in the North Chapel of the Shaw-Davis Funeral Home on N. High Street, Columbus. Burial will be in Mifflin Township Cemetery. Friends may call at the funeral home Thursday and until the time of services on Friday.

S. Blaine Ater

WILLIAMSPORT — S. Blaine Ater, 88, died at 12:30 p.m. Tuesday in the Valley View Nursing Home, Frankfort, where he had been a patient three months. He had been ill a year.

Born in Ross County, he had spent most of his life in Williamsport. He was a retired railroader.

His wife, Blanche Bateman Ater, died in 1960. He is survived by a sister, Mrs. John (Ethel) Burns, of Chillicothe, nine nieces and two nephews.

Services will be held at 10 a.m. Friday in the Kirkpatrick Funeral Home, New Holland, with the Rev. Richard Crosby, pastor of the Williamsport United Methodist Church, officiating. Burial will be in Springlawn Cemetery here. Friends may call at the funeral home from 4 until 8 p.m. Thursday.

Lakes season

BUFFALO (AP) — The Great Lakes shipping season was opened Tuesday when the 424-foot freighter E. M. Ford steamed out of Buffalo harbor onto ice-free Lake Erie.

The first freighter to leave Buffalo last year waited until April 9 and even then the lake was choked with ice.

About a dozen other freighters still were tied up here and were not expected to sail before early April.

Capital gains tax change urged to spur investment

WASHINGTON (AP) — The New York Stock Exchange today proposed easing capital gains taxes on property held a long time before its sale.

James J. Needham, exchange board chairman, said such a provision would produce more revenue for the Treasury by encouraging persons locked into investments that have increased in value to sell and reinvest, meanwhile realizing their gains and paying taxes on them.

Needham's proposal was contained in testimony prepared for the House Ways and Means Committee's tax reform hearings.

Chairman Wilbur D. Mills, D-Ark., has invited proposals for capital gains tax changes, one of the main subjects of the hearings, and has indicated interest in a sliding scale of gains taxation.

In general, capital gains now are taxed, in effect, at half the rates on ordinary income. An individual taxpayer is allowed to include in taxable income only half the gain he realizes by selling securities, real estate or other property, provided he has owned it at least six months.

Needham suggested a scale under which gain from assets held six months to five years would continue to be included at 50 per cent.

Thereafter, the amount included in taxable income would drop 5 per cent for each five years the asset had been held until after 30 years only 20 per cent would be included.

Alternatively, the inclusion rate might be reduced one percentage point for each year of holding, he said.

"Since no one could possibly dissect all the investors' motives ... precise estimates of the impact on federal revenues are impossible. But all evidence points to an increase," Needham said.

He said the exchange has commissioned a study of revenue effects, which it hopes to have completed in time for the committee's deliberations on a tax reform bill.

burns and in enemas and vaginal packs.

In taking action against HCP in September, the FDA noted reports that said the French infants died as a result of baby powder accidentally containing 6 per cent HCP, double the intended dose.

The FDA also cited a University of Washington report which showed "a positive correlation between three or more exposures to hexachlorophene bathing with 3 per cent hexachlorophene emulsion and lesions found in the brain stem in premature infants who died of unrelated causes."

Widely used in hospitals for more than 20 years, HCP increasingly in recent years came into use in a variety of deodorant cosmetics and soaps.

In December 1971 the FDA sent a drug bulletin to 600,000 doctors and other health professionals, warning them to discontinue use of products such as pHisoHex in routine bathing of infants and adults.

The bulletin cited studies by Winthrop which showed that monkeys bathed in a 3 per cent HCP solution for 90 days had developed brain lesions.

In January 1972, the FDA announced in a press release that all skin cleansing products containing more than .75 per cent HCP would be restricted to prescription use only.

That news release, dated Jan. 6, 1972, said:

"In announcing today's decisions, Charles C. Edwards, M.D., the commissioner of Food and Drugs, emphasized: 'The FDA is not aware of any harm to humans from the use of HCP under recommended or normal conditions of use'."

municipal council presidents in Ohio's non-charter cities from two to four years.

Rep. Leonard J. Camera, D-53 Lorain, won floor approval after explaining that 90 affected cities have mayors elected to four-year terms, and that the head of a city's legislative authority succeeds the mayor upon the latter's death or removal from office.

Over Camera's objections, Rep. Robert E. Levitt, R-70 Canton, won approval of a floor amendment that would require that a city's electorate would have to approve the change. Levitt said Canton "doesn't want" to extend the term and is among the non-charter cities that would be affected. His amendment carried 47-43.

The House voted 99-1, with Rep. Alan E. Norris, R-27 Westerville, dissenting, to add one municipal judge each to the Lorain and Elyria municipal courts. Rep. Donald J. Pease, D-54 Oberlin, the bill's sponsor, said those cities are near or have surpassed the 100,000 population requirement for a second municipal judge.

Pease cited unofficial figures of their current populations that showed Elyria with 104,892 and Lorain with 99,238. In any case, he said municipal court caseloads "among the heaviest in the state" justified the addition of a judge in each city.

Plane sought

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP)— The U. S. Coast Guard said it was conducting a search of western Lake Erie today for a twin-engine plane reported missing on a flight from Cleveland to Detroit.

The plane, owned by Buckeye Air Service, Inc., of Cleveland, left here at 10 p.m. Tuesday and was reported missing when it failed to arrive at Detroit Metropolitan Airport.

The company withheld identity of the pilot, the plane's only occupant, pending notification of next of kin.

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Flood warnings are in effect for the western Lake Erie shore, the National Weather Service reported today. The service said cool and cloudy weather will prevail today, with better conditions just ahead.

The service's Ohio weather outlook:

Cool again over the state under variable cloudiness north and cloudy skies and some light snow near the Chesapeake area. During the night some light rain fell near the Ohio River, changing to light snow during the early morning. This precipitation and cloudiness in the south is the receding edge from a low pressure area which moved across Tennessee yesterday and is near to Western Carolinas today.

The precipitation is expected to end in the Chesapeake area this morning with generally cloudy and cool weather to rule the day. Temperatures have been in the upper teens to lower 20s in the north and near 30 in the south again over the state during the night.

The large high pressures area from central Canada through the Great Lakes will continue the northeasterly floor of cool air over Ohio. This northeast flow has again caused the water levels of western Lake Erie to rise during the night and lake shore flood warnings are in effect for the western Lake Erie shore from Maumee Bay to Vermilion.

Lake levels are at the critical level for flooding of low lying areas upstream from mouths of rivers and streams along the lake shore. Persons in those low lying areas should take appropriate precautions.

The northeast winds will become more northerly and lake levels will subside during the afternoon.

Otherwise cloudiness will tend to decrease over the state and somewhat warmer temperature are in prospect for Thursday under generally sunny skies. Temperatures reaching the mid 40s north to low 50s in the south.

Weekend POW releases slated

SAIGON (AP) — The Viet Cong delegation announced tonight that the last group of American prisoners held by the Communist side will be released Saturday and Sunday at Hanoi's Gia Lam airport.

The U.S. Command said that according to its records, the Communists still hold 147 American prisoners, including 140 military men and seven civilians.

But it was unclear whether the actual number released might be a few higher. The Pentagon had disclosed earlier that two U.S. Navy fliers formerly listed as missing in action are now carried as POWs. They were shot down over the northern quarter of South Vietnam a few days before the cease-fire went into effect Jan. 27.

The Viet Cong spokesman said that at least one of the POWs being released by the Viet Cong was captured on Jan. 26, the day before the signing of the peace agreement in Paris. But he gave no other details.

The Viet Cong spokesman said a list of 31 American prisoners captured in South Vietnam to be released at Gia Lam airport in Hanoi on Saturday would be turned over to the United States on Thursday.

North Vietnam will release the last group of Americans it holds, also at Gia Lam, on Sunday, thus completing the American repatriation three days ahead of the March 28 deadline set by the Paris peace agreement.

The Communist side previously had released 439 American prisoners, both military and civilian.

One reason the United States is seeking the last official lists from both North Vietnam and the Viet Cong is to ascertain if there have been any additions or deletions from the original list of 585 presented to the United States on the day the agreement was signed.

In South Vietnam, several thousand South Vietnamese troops with tanks and bomber support were advancing to lift the siege of a government outpost 30 miles north of Saigon, the South Vietnamese command announced today.

It was only the second time in the 53 days of the cease-fire that Saigon has admitted to major operations, although the Communist side has accused South Vietnamese forces of scores of land-grabbing maneuvers in violation of the peace agreement.

A South Vietnamese spokesman said the operation to relieve the post at Rach Bap was launched late Monday, and advance units were within half a mile of the outpost. He said he had no reports of major contact yet but the situation there was "much improved."

The Saigon command also has threatened to launch operations to lift the artillery siege of another outpost 30 miles farther north, at the Tong Le Chan camp.

Stock list holds gain

The Dow Jones average of 30 industrials at noon was up 3.76 at 953.19, while advances led declines on the New York Stock Exchange by about 3 and 2.

"The market is rebounding after four down days" in which the Dow fell some 30 points, said Robert Stovall, analyst with Reynolds Securities Inc. He said investors also were getting used to the idea of a higher prime rate, though it was expected that a compromise level of 6½ per cent would result from Thursday's meeting between bankers and Nixon administration officials. Some banks had boosted their rates to 6¾ per cent.

On The American Stock Exchange, the price-change index was up .01 to 24.54, while the Big Board index was up .10 to 59.93.

Michel wins fight for GOP post

WASHINGTON (AP) — Rep. Robert H. Michel, R-Ill., was elected chairman of the House Republican Campaign Committee today, giving him control over the purse strings for GOP candidates in the next congressional election.

Michel's only opponent, Rep. Clarence J. Brown, R-Ohio, immediately offered to resign as recruitment chairman of the committee.

Michel's election came during a closed meeting of the committee. The vote totals were not made public.

Brown, 45, who replaced his late father in the House seven years ago, earlier was considered in line for the committee chairmanship.

Defused, but still dangerous

Those who pooh-poohed talk of a United States population explosion when so many warnings about it were issued a few years ago are now enjoying an orgy of I-told-you-sos. The nation's birth rate has descended to a record low point. In consequence the conventional wisdom now is that we can stop worrying about the excessive-population scare.

The matter is not quite that simple. Short-range demographic changes tend to be inaccurate as a basis for prediction. It is true that the rate at which our population is growing has sharply declined in recent years: whereas the three-child family was about the average of 1965, women generally are now bearing only two children. A switch back to three-child families might well occur in the next eight or 10 years, however; there is no guarantee that the present state of affairs will continue over the long haul.

Some comparative figures are instructive. A population analyst for the Rand Corporation, Peter A. Morrison, recently elaborated on this aspect on the matter in the Los Angeles Times. Should the two-child average persist, he noted, our population would rise by a mere 61 million to around 271 million by the end of the century. But should the three-child family become predominant again, the U. S. population would rise to some 322 million by century's end.

Morrison makes one particularly interesting point. Noting that we really don't know quite why the dramatic shift since 1965 has occurred, he writes: "The explanation is more than birth control pills and abortions — those are just the tools for limiting births. The real reasons for the current low birth rate lie in attitudes, and the way they are formed are much harder to understand." Morrison concludes that "however defused the 'population bomb' may seem right now, even a slight relaxation of attitudes toward family planning could still result in its detonation." That is something we should not forget.

A WORD EDGEWISE . . . by John P. Roche

A tale of two cities

NEW YORK — Although both my wife and I grew up in greater New York, we have spent very little time here since our marriage in 1947. Until my parents died, we made ritual visits to Brooklyn, but basically we have been here for only one or two-day trips in which our time was thoroughly booked: we would hardly set foot out of a section of Manhattan 40 blocks long and 5 blocks wide.

This is set down as background for what may seem to many readers as the rediscovery of the wheel — that New York which we recalled nostalgically as a great center of urbanity now resembles an Indian reservation. Posh fortress areas are surrounded by not just slums — the world slum has a connotation of habitation — but by whole areas of abandoned buildings. As one drives in on the Bruckner Expressway (which I never expected to see completed in my lifetime), he gets a first vivid contrast. On one side is Co-Op City, a huge brand-new apartment complex, glistening in the spring sunshine. On the other is the Hunt's Point section of the Bronx, one of the most crime-ridden, desolate, and God-forsaken slums in the city.

YOU ARE SUDDENLY reminded of the medieval city with its moat, walls, and drawbridges. And indeed a friend tells me that the inhabitants of Co-Op City have what is in effect a private army to protect them from organized assaults. Not merely wandering burglars, but armed bands of guerrillas from Hunt's Point. Visiting another friend's home is like getting into CIA Headquarters; you turn a key, a light goes on and you have 60 seconds to get inside andsned a coded message — a certain sequence of pushes on a button — to a private protection agency.

The condition of the city had never registered before because we got around so little. What triggered off this discouraging essay was that this time we decided to take a trip. Tucked away in Fort Tryon Park on a bluff overlooking the Hudson, just north of the George Washington Bridge, is one of the most spectacular museums in the world: the Cloisters. It is literally composed of transplanted medieval architecture: one gorgeous apse is on loan from Spain and I suppose that some day it will be dismantled stone by stone and returned. In the building are gems from the Metropolitan Museum's superb collection of medieval art and artifacts.

Oddly enough my wife had never been there, and the last time I made the trip was during World War II when I had a girl friend who thrived on medievalism. So I promised Connie to take some time off and head up to the Cloisters. One thing I remembered: getting there (without a car) is no mean accomplishment. The best option on paper — the 8th Avenue subway Express—drops you off at the foot of the hill where the Cloisters sit. You can rope up and start the endless climb, or pray for a miracle: a cab to take you the last vertical half mile.

Then there is the Fifth Ave. bus which, I recalled, will take you all the way from Penn Station and drop you at the front door of the Cloisters. In my memory this was a double-decker and with luck you could get the upstairs from seat and enjoy the world. To make a long story short, we picked up the bus on Madison (Fifth is now one-way the wrong way) and off we went. It was a dreadful, one-hour ride, but in sociological terms we each got our 35 cents worth.

That bus wandered through an urban world we did not know existed. Initially, it is a pretty ritzy area, then — as you work your way north — you get a sense of Hobbes' "state of nature." Stores will steel grates over the windows where customers ring a bell and the proprietor — holding a police dog — carefully opens the door.

But at least this was populated: there were children playing and some feeling of vitality. Then came the other side of the moon: whole desolate blocks composed of buildings that seemed to be holding each other up. Every window broken, grafitti everywhere, and no people. (An expert on the subject tells me most of these buildings belong to the city — their owners let them go for the taxes.) By the time we got to Riverside Drive, we were both in a state of depression: "Good Lord, what has happened to OUR city?"

The Cloisters were worth the trip and the angst. But I suggest to any reader who wants to see them that he grab the A train, get off at 200th St., and do a little mountain climbing.

WASHINGTON CALLING . . . by Marquis Childs

America divided on amnesty

WASHINGTON — On the highly emotional issue of amnesty for draft evaders President Nixon has overwhelming support for his adament refusal to compromise. No poll is required to show how deep the feeling runs.

In response to a column suggesting that in accord with past precedent a way might be found to allow the evaders who fled abroad to be rehabilitated, letters have come from around the country. By as much as three to one they take a stern stand against any compromise. Those who fled must pay the penalty under the law.

Thank goodness, we have a strong President and not a weak one, a woman writes from Pennsylvania. She goes on:

"My youngest son went when his country called, as his father and I taught him, 'God and country first.' He lay in hospitals overseas for four months and then came home for two more operations. Yes, he is fine now, but will always carry the wounds of war with him. Nevertheless, we are very proud of him, but had he chosen to turn his back on country and family he would be dead as far as we, his parents, would be concerned."

From Kentucky a reader writes, challenging any precedent between the amnesty granted by Lincoln for the Confederate forces at the end of the Civil War and amnesty for Vietnam evaders:

"My people were Kentucky Unionists but would have resented, even as I do, your comparison of amnesty for the South with amnesty for the yellow so-and-sos who cut and run for Canada and elsewhere when faced with duty to their country. The Southerners did not take off for parts unknown but stayed to fight for what they thought was right."

OTHERS REACTED different. A woman reader in San Diego, who lost a son in Vietnam, phoned to ask how she could help persuade the President to modify his stand against any compromises. And she said she spoke for a friend who had also lost a son.

A letter from a reader in Buffalo endorsed the statement in my column that a way must be found to insure that the thousands of young who fled shall not forever be barred from the United States or returned to face the certainty of long prison terms. He writes:

"What I can't understand is the utter vindictiveness of President Nixon who occasionally speaks of himself as a birthright Quaker. Although I'm not a Quaker and had only the slightest contacts with any, I was born in Philadelphia, the most historic city in the country. From early grades in school we learned to respect William Penn. Further, President Hoover always seemed to me to be honest and forthright, but I've seen a few news accounts in which Philadelphia Quakers questioned the standing of Mr. Nixon."

As happens after every war the deep hatreds, the passions, boiling beneath the surface do not subside with the stroke of the pen that ends the war. They are, as we see today, a powerful force and, unhappily as history has shown, they nourish the seeds of yet another war.

THE RETURN of the American prisoners from North Vietnam is the occasion for an emotional outpouring which is hardly surprising. Whether the homecoming is carefully stage-managed by the military, as has been reported, or not, no one can begrudge these courageous men who endured so much the rewards of freedom after in some instances six and seven years of imprisonment.

But inasmuch as the fervent outpouring shown on the nation's television screens contributes to unthinking patriotism, and conversely to hatred of the enemy, it can be self-defeating for the basic postwar policy of the Administration. When he returned from his mission to Hanoi Henry A. Kissinger, the President's adviser on national security, made an eloquent plea for rehabilitation of North Vietnam with American help. As he pointed out, the North Vietnamese leaders have known nothing but war. To encourage them to participate in a peaceful world should be a major objective of American policy.

If reports out of Saigon of the continuing large-scale movement of weapons down the Ho Chi Minh trail are true, these leaders seem unwilling to learn the lesson of peace. But if Administration policy fails, and Congress now seems unlikely to vote any funds for the Communist North, we shall have no test of the peaceful experiment and the threat of a renewed war will hang heavy over Southeast Asia.

"TIGHTWAD!"

Hal Boyle . . . A gunfighter named Willy

By JEFFREY D. ALDERMAN
Associated Press Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — Little Willy Undermeyer may not have been much good at sandlot baseball. He may not have been able to balance his bike without training wheels. But he played one hell of a game of cowboys.

Not that his style was particularly flashy. No, Willy was not the white stallion kind of cowboy. Nor was he especially good at outdrawing the other preschool gunslingers in the neighborhood. Willy's specialty was "circling around" and there wasn't a 6-year-old in town who was better.

Maybe Willy was the best because he had the most patience. It took awhile for circling around to pay off. A kid of less durability might make a mad rush up the hill at the enemy. Maybe the kid would end up getting everybody with a flurry of verbalized gunshots. Maybe not. Jackie Sheehy was such a rash player.

"Dah! Dah! I got you!" Jackie, playing a fierce Geronimo, would shout as he bounded for a fortress of empty milk crates held by Terry Maher and four fellow members of the U.S. Cavalry, Toddler Division.

"Yah did not!," came Terry's inevitable retort. "You weren't pointing your gun at me."

"Was so."

"Was not."

Then Pee Wee Ruggles, a 5-year-old who sucked his trigger finger, would whiningly interject: "You're wrong, Jackie Sheehy, you're wrong. You're supposed to say 'bang, bang,' not 'dah, dah.' Who ever heard a gun go 'dah, dah' anyhow?"

While the others argued the pros and cons of "dah, dah" and "bang, bang," Willy would begin circling around. He would take them so completely by surprise that he would be able to say both "bang, bang" and "dah, dah" before anybody could get his genuine Roy Rodgers six-shooter out of its plastic holster.

There had been disasters. Once he emerged triumphantly from the underbrush, reached for his trusty repeater and found he had lost it while circling. Another time, just as he was about to capture some ferocious, three-foot dangerous desparadoes near Harry Billips' sandbox, his mother called him for dinner. Willy obediently answered "Coming, mother," blew his cover and took three slugs from Terry Maher.

But on this particular day, everything was working perfectly.

Willy's forearms were scraped raw by the brambles he had crawled through. His face was covered with dirt and his nose was running. He had torn his new corduroys at one knee.

"Dah! Dah! Bang! Bang!" he screamed. "Got you, got you all!"

It was a masterful job of circling around. Four outlaws had bit the dust.

At Inuvik, N. W. T., Canada, homes are built on wooden piles or pads of gravel so they will not melt the permafrost.

DAILY CRYPTOQUOTE — Here's how to work it:

is L O N G F E L L O W

One letter simply stands for another. In this sample A is used for the three L's, X for the two O's, etc. Single letters, apostrophes, the length and formation of the words are all hints. Each day the code letters are different.

Dear Abby:

ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

Someone should crack down on chiropractor

DEAR ABBY: I have always had a great deal of faith in chiropractic treatment, so naturally when my 15-year-old daughter suffered a bad whiplash in an auto accident I took her to a local chiropractic clinic where I paid in advance for a series of treatments. (She still has six to go.)

She was an hour late getting home from her last treatment and I was worried sick. When she got home I asked her some questions and she started to cry. Then she told me everything (I hope.)

She said the chiropractor insisted on showing her his new apartment near the clinic. She said all the walls were covered with pictures of nudes from Playboy magazine. She told me he showed her his bedroom in which he had a huge waterbed, and he asked her to bounce on it a few times just to get the feel of it. She said he kept touching her and she could tell he was getting aroused, so she ran out, saying she had to get home.

If my husband were alive he'd know what to do about this nut. I can't let her go back there. What should I do? I trust you.

HEARTSICK IN FLORIDA

DEAR HEARTSICK: This "nut" is accountable to the state Chiropractic Association. Report him. And for good measure, report him to the American Chiropractic Association, 2200 Grand Ave., Des Moines, Ia. 50312. There are a few kooks in every profession and the ethical ones will appreciate your reporting the clinckers.

DEAR ABBY: Last year I was a volunteer for the American Cancer Society Crusade. While working on the campaign I learned more about the "danger signals" and made an appointment for my husband to see a doctor. Immediately following the examination he was operated on for cancer. Thank God they caught it in the early stages. And thank God I volunteered. Believe me, when they called me again this year I said yes!

GOT MORE THAN I GAVE

DEAR ABBY: If you had friends who used your expensive cocktail table for a footstool, what would you say or do?

BUGGED

DEAR BUGGED: I would say, "Please don't."

DEAR ABBY: I am a graduate student. I'm bald-headed but I've been wearing a hairpiece for nearly a year. It is so natural-looking that when people who knew me before see me for the first time with the hairpiece on, they think I have new eyeglasses or something-they don't realize it's my hair.

The problem is how (and when) to let a girl know that I wear a hairpiece.

I don't think it's necessary to tell every girl I date about it, but when I start going seriously with a girl, she has to be told. But how? And when?

ANONYMOUS

DEAR ANONYMOUS: At the point of getting serious.

Problems? You'll feel better if you get it off your chest. For a personal reply, write to ABBY, Box No. 69700, L.A., Calif. 90069. Enclose stamped, self-addressed envelope please.

Today In History

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Today is Wednesday, March 21, the 80th day of 1973. There are 285 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history:

On this date in 1829, an earthquake in Spain killed some 6,000 persons.

On this date —

In 1685, the composer Johann Sebastian Bach was born in Germany.

In 1803, the French civil code, the Code Napoleon, was completed.

Ten years ago: President John F. Kennedy sent telegrams to 23 governors urging them to try to get their legislatures to do away with the poll tax.

One year ago: The U.S. Supreme Court ruled that states could not set one-year residence as a requirement for voting.

Thought for today: It is easier to do a job right than to explain why you didn't — President Martin van Buren, 1782-1862.

The egg came before the chicken. Birds evolved from reptile stock that was laying eggs millions of years before the first prehistoric bird flew, the National Geographic Society says.

MRS. SHARON CURL

Former resident is engaged

Eddie Pendergraft, 508 Carolyn Rd., and Mrs. Edna Pendergraft, Tucson, Ariz., announce the engagement and approaching marriage of their daughter, Mrs. Sharon Curl, to Dr. Colin R. Bamford, also of Tucson, formerly of Africa.

Mrs. Curl is employed by the Southwest Cardio-Thoracic Surgery Ltd., Tucson, and Dr. Bamford is a neurologist at the University of Arizona.

A May wedding is being planned.

Challengers meet attracts 47

The Christian Challengers Class and the High School Youth group of South Side Church of Christ met in Fellowship Hall for a covered dish dinner and fellowship hour. There were 47 members and guests for dinner and recreation which followed.

Jeff Smithson provided jokes for a "Laugh In," and a comedy skit entitled "An Evening with Grandma" was presented by Jana Bolender, Gloria Bolender, Linda Hollingsworth, Marilyn Creamer, Christy Davis, Robyn Leslie, Kevin Blair, Joy Burns and Keri Clay. The group all participated in games after which Jerry Sears accompanied himself on the guitar for some "fun" folk songs with audience participation.

Randy Creamer led the group singing and also sang a solo, "Sheltered in the Love of Jesus" with his own guitar accompaniment.

Kevin Blair gave the devotions. Dr. John T. F. Jordan, president of the class, conducted a brief business meeting at which the members voted to purchase a school bus for youth work and to meet as a group to paint Fellowship Hall.

Mr. and Mrs. Phil Johnson will be hosts at the next meeting.

WSG holds surprise shower

"Spring Training for Christians" was the devotions topic presented by Mrs. Helen Van Zant at the meeting of Wesleyan Service Guild in Church.

Mrs. C. P. Wagner conducted the brief business meeting at which plans for the annual bazaar in November were made. The poem "Start Something" was read for the closing.

Members then went to the church dining room for a surprise bridal shower for Mrs. Donald Long.

Cattle to get tapioca with grain so expensive

LONDON (AP) — Cereal feeds for beef and dairy cattle are becoming so expensive that British farmers are looking around for cheaper substitutes. Tapioca, or cassava, the raw material from which it is made, is high on the list.

Dutch and Belgian farmers have been using the product for some time. Mike Stranks, an animal nutrition expert with the Agricultural Development and Advisory Services, says: "In Holland and Belgium relatively small quantities of cereals are used for livestock feeding because they import a lot of cassava and citrus pulp which are used in preference to cereals as a cheaper source of energy.

Ann Judson Circle meets

The meeting of the Ann Judson Circle of First Baptist Church was held in the home of Miss Mabel Briggs Tuesday evening, with 11 members present.

A dessert course was served preceding the meeting by Miss Briggs and Jean McCoy.

Mrs. Kenneth Chaney opened the meeting with prayer and a reading. The group voted to make a donation to "Dollars for Christ's Children," at the Dayton Christian Center.

Mrs. Briggs reported two boxes of clothing had been sent to the Center and two to Merle Orphanage.

It was announced that 26 calls to shut-ins and members had been made. Mrs. Eugene Alkire gave devotions on "Thoughts about the Bible" Mrs. Charles Hurtt presented the program entitled "The Bible Speaks about Women."

A discussion of women's lib followed and Mrs. Ted Yoakum closed with prayer.

Burnett-Ducey Auxiliary has meeting

Fifteen members were present for the Burnett-Ducey VFW Auxiliary 4964 meeting in the VFW Hall conducted by Mrs. John Hizer. The opening prayer was offered by Mrs. James Puckett and Mrs. Ed Hidy was the acting senior vice president in the absence of Mrs. Eldon Kirk. Mrs. Lelia Campbell was patriotic instructor.

The Meals on Wheels program was discussed, but action was tabled until more information is obtained.

The charter was draped for a deceased member. The next meeting on April 2 will be a hamburger fry by the men at 6:30 p.m. preceding the meeting.

Mrs. Esther Hyer won the door prize.

'Factory' produces winners

By PHILIP DOPOULOS
Associated Press Writer

ATHENS (AP) — A former Athens fashion model runs a unique factory. She manufactures Miss Greeces.

Since Antoinette Rontopoulou opened her "factory," as she terms it, the "Antoinette Rontopoulou Modeling School" has produced 21 Miss Greeces, one Miss Universe, several top fashion models and scores of actresses. All beautiful girls with beautiful careers.

A former Miss Greece and top Athens fashion model herself, Miss Rontopoulou and her ex-journalist husband Chris Economou, have made a study of the world's leading modeling schools to give their graduates the best possible training.

Gone are the days of walking around with a book balanced on one's head, according to the Rontopoulou method. With a yearly average graduation class of 70, courses are given by teachers drawn from specific fields.

Veteran actors of the Greek National Theater present movement and makeup, professional photographers, some from abroad, explain the tricks involved when facing television cameras and in photographic work. Professional dancers present dancing and rhythm. Yoga, diet, elocution, poise and good manners are also covered by experts.

"Initially, the girls take a six-month course of elementary studies before sitting for an examination set by us," explains Economou. If the girls pass the test, they then go on to a three-month finishing course, where they take special coaching if they wish to specialize in a particular form of modeling.

Economou said that Greek women are a bit on the heavy side. "Thus, we work on elementary poise for about four months. Deportment, often the basis of a modeling course, comes later with us. We feel the girls should lose a little weight before attempting deportment." And adds:

"To be a success in the modeling world, a Greek girl has to really work hard. The physical features of the Greek woman do not readily lend themselves to modeling."

TOPS installs new officers

The meeting in Eastside School was conducted by Mrs. Smith. Reports were made by Mrs. Allen McClung and the roll was called by Mrs. William Fletcher. It was announced that Mrs. Robert Alkire is the new weight recorder.

Ava Hancel was crowned teen age princess.

The "forbidden food" this week is pie. Gainers are to bring a low-calorie item at next week's meeting.

Plans were completed for the anniversary party at Lafayette Inn April 17, and for the skating party April 19.

"Happy birthday" was sung to Mrs. Leo Merritt and Mrs. Chaney read an appropriate article pertaining to TOPS.

MISS DEBBIE OLINGER

August wedding planned

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Olinger, of Wilmington, former residents of Fayette County, announce the engagement of their daughter Debbie, to David Glenn, son of Mr. and Mrs. Louis Glenn, of Erie, Pa. She is the granddaughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles V. Sexton, 905 N. North St.

Miss Olinger, a 1972 graduate of Ohio State University, is currently teaching fifth grade in the Columbus public schools.

Mr. Glenn, a student at OSU, will be graduated with a bachelor of science degree in business this summer.

An August wedding is planned.

Father of conservation is honored by federation

WASHINGTON (AP) — George Bird Grinnell has been placed in the National Wildlife Federation's Hall of Fame for conservation.

Known as the founder of the Audubon Society, he was influenced as a youth in New York by the widow of John James Audubon. A trained scientist, he took over the weekly Forest and Stream magazine and made it a national force for conservation.

He campaigned for enforcement of game laws, for proper forest management and for protecting park land. When he died in 1938 he was eulogized as the father of American conservation.

DISCOVERY CLUB — These girls, members of the Discovery Club, under the leadership of Mrs. Richard Maddux, presented a skit for the Camp Fire Potlatch held in Mahan Hall Tuesday night. The theme was Wonderful World of Disney. There were over 500 present for the event.

'Wonderful World of Disney' Camp Fire Potlatch theme

"The Wonderful World of Disney" was the theme of the annual Camp Fire Potlatch in Mahan Hall Tuesday evening. Over 500 Camp Fire Girls, their families, leaders, assistants, and members of the Board of the Paint Valley Council of Camp Fire Girls were present.

Decorations of placemats, placecards and centerpieces were made by the girls and their leaders. The walls were colorfully decorated with posters depicting various Disney movies.

The Pledge of Allegiance was led by Joye Gardner and the invocation given by Marilyn Seifried preceding the dinner.

Mrs. Charles Zinn, potlatch chairman, introduced Frank Sanderson, board president, who presented the board members and committee chairman. Mrs. Ralph Tate, leader chairman, then presented the leaders and their assistants.

Mrs. Rollo Marchant's Horizon Club led a sing-a-long after the dinner, and Mrs. Richard Maddux's Discovery Club presented a most unusual skit.

Board members and committee chairmen present were Mrs. Donald Wood, first vice-president; Richard Maddux, second vice-president; Mrs. Gene Sagar, treasurer; Mrs. Donald Moore, recording secretary; Mrs. Gerald Burkett, cooresponding secretary; and Mrs. A. O. McClung, executive secretary.

Bicycle comuting beats going by car

CAMBRIDGE, Mass. (AP) — Although sale of bicycles in the United States in 1971 exceeded factory sales of cars by more than 2¼ million (8.9 million bikes versus 6.5 million cars, the bicycle has had negligible impact on commuter traffic, Arthur D. Little Inc., reports. The automobile still accounts for 82 per cent of trips to and from work, while public transport and walking accounts for most of the remainder.

But, adds the research firm, for trips in city traffic, the bicycle may be the fastest mode of travel. In one recent study with 25 bike-car commuter time trials over different routes averaging five miles, bicycles won 21, cars 3 and there was one tie.

New proposal for Ireland filled with compromises

By COLIN FROST
Associated Press Writer

LONDON (AP) — Britain's blueprint for Northern Ireland offers something for everyone— and demands something from everyone.

Most of all, it makes a heavy demand on the Irish republic in a bid to take the heat out of Northern Ireland's communal strife.

To Ulster's Protestants, the British plan offers a return of their prized provincial Parliament, though in emasculated form. Power over police and security will stay with Britain.

To Roman Catholics, the plan offers guarantees of equal status and a recognition of their nationalist tradition. A man seeking a job as a roadsweeper will no longer have to swallow his republicanism and take an oath of allegiance to Queen Elizabeth II.

Protestants are assured that they will remain inside the United Kingdom so long as a majority in Northern Ireland wants to.

In return they are asked to accept an electoral and administrative system designed to weaken the power monopoly which was theirs under the straight vote system.

Northern Catholics and their fellow nationalists in the Irish republic are asked to accept that Northern Ireland for the time being remains in the United Kingdom and to cooperate with it on that basis.

Northern Protestants are asked to accept that one day the situation may change and to cooperate with the republic with that possibility in mind.

This double demand is underlined by the British terms for an All-Ireland Council of the type first envisaged when Ireland was partitioned half a century ago.

1. "The acceptance of the present status of Northern Ireland, and of the possibility— which would have to be compatible with the principle of consent—of subsequent change in that status.

2. "Effective consultation and cooperation Ireland for the benefit of North and South alike.

3. "The provision of a firm basis for concerted governmental and community action against terrorist organizations."

The first point will be a tricky one for any Dublin government to accept. The reason is that the Irish republic's constitution lays claim to jurisdiction over "the whole of Ireland, its islands and territorial seas." Any Dublin administration that went into a conference on the British terms would be open to charges of betraying the constitution.

Another big question mark hangs over the intricate system of proportional representation the British suggest for the new provincial parliament. Protestant hard-liners say they will have no truck with the system, which they criticize as too complicated.

Youth Activities

HAPPY HOMEMAKERS 4-H

The Happy Homemakers 4-H Club held a meeting in the Buena Vista Town Hall, when pledges were led by Gina Graham.

Donna Smith conducted the meeting and reports were made by Debbie Patton and Jo-retta Brown. Mrs. Hardman and Mrs. Smith gave the project books out to members, and reminded all to take care of them.

Wendy Shoemaker gave a report on "Deafness." Julie Winters reported on "Boat and Water Safety" and the group voted to give $2.00 to the Heart Fund and $2.00 to the March of Dimes.

Dates for the camp were given and a discussion about the candy sale took place. Members will bring the money to the meeting.

Officers will attend an officers clinic in the near future.

CHARMING CHARCOALETTES

The second meeting of the Charming Charcoalettes 4-H Club was called to order by Gale Horney, followed by the Pledges led by Kim Smallwood.

Roll call was made and minutes of the previous meeting were heard.

Programs for the year were discussed and money-making projects. A bake sale is planned for April, and adviser Mrs. Virginia Dunn will find the place for the sale.

Five cookouts are planned and the officers of the club will decide concerning other ideas on the agenda. Meetings will be every other Monday.

Program book covers are to be designed and the Constitution and By-laws adopted and signed at the next meeting, March 26.

The meeting was adjourned and refreshments were served by Joyce and Anna Eggleton and Pam Smith.

Saxbe and Taft cast opposite votes

WASHINGTON (AP) — Ohio Republican Sens. William Saxbe and Robert Taft Jr. case opposite votes Tuesday as the Senate approved an amendment to the Economic Stabilization Act which called for restoration of Phase 2 rent controls in some 50 metropolitan areas.

TV Viewing

By JAY SHARBUTT
AP Television Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — The television program listing says: "Movie Orgy (Part II). More memories of a thousand hours of TV idiocy and a hundred Saturday matinees."

You'll never see the show on your commercial or public television station. But it's probably playing four and five times a day on scores of college and university closed-circuit systems.

The company, in business three years now, currently has 234 schools as "affiliates," according to John S. Lollos, a VTN vice president and one of the company's 16 full-time staff members.

Lollos, who was director of program promotion for the NBC Television network until he quit four years ago, got the idea for his closed-circuit corporation from darkened television sets, oddly enough.

He was touring colleges campuses with "Groove Tube," a privately produced videotape satire of commercial television that he was leasing for use on closed-circuit campus television systems.

"As I looked around the campuses, I saw nothing but dark sets," he said. "They weren't being played."

He said he knew from his network experience there was a sizeable college audience — among others — that commercial television didn't reach because it was geared to mass viewing tastes.

"From our 'Groove Tube' experience, we found that a lot of people were very turned on by specialized television," he said. "And they kept saying, 'How do we get more shows?'"

From that blossomed VTN, which leases to schools packages of shows ranging from a five-week supply to one lasting 30 weeks.

"When we go onto a campus, we try to get the monitors located in high-traffic, easily seen locations such as TV lounges of student union buildings, dorm lounges and fraternity lounges," he said.

The fare is a mixture of programs produced by VTN; old movies like "Reefer Madness," a 1936 epic about marijuana's dangers; free-lance documentaries like "Lenny Bruce Without Tears"; and, heaven help us, a Bullwinkle cartoon set at Wassamotta U.

Exclusionary rule studied

WASHINGTON (AP) — When the claim is made that criminals go free on "technicalities," chances are the target of the criticism is what is known as the exclusionary rule.

Chief Justice Warren E. Burger has held the rule responsible for "the release of countless guilty criminals," yet Supreme Court majorities dating back nearly 50 years have pronounced it essential to constitutional guarantees against unreasonable search and seizure.

The court Monday agreed to hear two cases concerning constitutional limits on searches— and the exclusionary rule.

The rule, which has been in force in federal courts since 1914 and in state courts since 1961, prevents unlawful searches by excluding from evidence what those searches produce.

Both cases accepted today concern drugs found by police searches of two men arrested on traffic violations.

Public employes get money back

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The Ohio Civil Service Employes Association said today it has won a suit forcing the state Public Employes Retirement System to pay back "more than a half a million dollars" the association contended was improperly collected from saate employes.

An OCSEA spokesman said the PERS began withholding from employes' paychecks starting Jan. 1 at a higher rate which the state will not be matching until July.

The spokesman said a Franklin County Common Pleas Court ruling Monday will force PERS to stop withholding at the higher rate until July and to pay back the extra money withheld since January.

60-YEAR MASON — Ogan A. Riley, 90, Brush Creek Rd., is shown receiving his pin for 60-year membership in Freemasonry. Riley has been a member of Bloomingburg Lodge No. 449, F&AM, for more than 60 years and is a past patron of the Order of the Eastern Star. Making the presentation is Gary McConnaughey, Dayton, worshipful master of the lodge. With them are Harold McConnaughey (left), secretary and past master, and Edgar McFadden, trustee, and past master. McFadden is a son-in-law of Riley.

Letters to Gilligan vary from bouquets to brickbats

Some of the letters are printed on elegant stationary. Others are scrawled on yellow note paper. Gilligan's staff tries to see that all of them get answered.

—A note from the Free Polish Krakusy Society berating Gilligan for not attending a memorial dinner for Polish astronomer Nicholaus Copernicus last month, and offering him a chance to make up by accepting an invitation to another Copernicus dinner in June.

—Two letters expressing outrage at the legalization of abortion and two more calling for state standards to protect mothers who have abortions.

—Two letters against ratification of the Equal Rights Amendment and another one in favor of it.

—Two letters opposing the phasing out of Ohio State University's Speech and Hearing Science Program.

—A request from the Kansas Wheathearts asking Gilligan to support their "Kansas Bake and Take Day" March 24 on which women are supposed to bake something and take it to somebody.

—A note from a therapist at a Grove City nursing home about a patient who will be 105 on March 25.

—A complaint from a Dayton man that his property taxes have gone up 30 per cent, despite Gilligan's 10 per cent rollback.

—A complaint from an Athens woman about a stretch of Ohio 33 south of Athens badly in need of repair which area partisans have labeled "Gilligan's Gulch."

Your Horoscope

By FRANCES DRAKE

Look in the section in which your birthday comes and find what your outlook is, according to the stars.

THURSDAY, MARCH 22

ARIES
(March 21 to April 20)

Stimulating Mars influences! You should be bristling with bright ideas now and, happily, they will work out well.

TAURUS
(April 21 to May 21)

Give top priority to career matters. No matter how desirable, by-pass other interests temporarily. It will pay later.

GEMINI
(May 22 to June 21)

Beneficent Mercury influences heighten your senses. Your perceptiveness in a tricky job situation will win laurels from superiors.

CANCER
(June 22 to July 23)

Caution and conservatism stressed. Above all, avoid persons who are impulsively taking risks.

LEO
(July 24 to Aug. 23)

Get an early start now. The forenoon hours will be best for realizing aims through acquaintances and group contacts.

VIRGO
(Aug. 24 to Sept. 23)

Mixed influences. You may encounter some frustrating conditions, but the tide will turn in your favor later in the day.

LIBRA
(Sept. 24 to Oct. 23)

Do not be misled by surface appearances. Look deep for true values. A good day in which to capitalize on your innate artistic ability.

SCORPIO
(Oct. 24 to Nov. 22)

SAGITTARIUS
(Nov. 23 to Dec. 21)

Planetary influences stimulate your hearty, spirited efforts. A day in which to do your best! If your path is blocked, seek another route.

CAPRICORN
(Dec. 22 to Jan. 20)

Comparison in performances should spur you on — not lessen zeal. Do not take criticism "to heart." Viewed calmly and objectively, it can prove helpful.

AQUARIUS
(Jan. 21 to Feb. 19)

A day of great inspriation! Your innate perspicacity and knack for pleasing, applied in the right areas, could bring many unexpected benefits.

PISCES
(Feb. 20 to March 20)

Even though your day may be crowded and you are eager for accomplishment, don't overlook "little" details. Seemingly minor factors could be extremely important.

YOU BORN TODAY are endowed with a dynamic personality, tremendous ambition and an inner drive which propels you toward your goals with the blinding intensity of a comet. Few failures have been born on this date, though some of you may not realize all of your potentials. It is important that you find your niche early in life because you are so versatile that you may change roads frequently, thus-scattering valuable energies before getting on the right track. Once there, however, your talents and determination can lead you to seemingly unattainable plateaus of success. Fields in which you should excel: Science, the law, music, art and the theater. Traits to curb: Overaggressiveness and excessive volubility.

Erie Lackawanna shows big loss

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP)— The Erie Lackawanna Railway Co. says higher labor costs and damages from Hurricane Agnes last June contributed to a $23.5 million net loss for 1972.

The 1972 loss reported in a financial statement filed Monday in U.S. District Court compares to a loss of $2.2 million in 1971.

CLEAN-UP TIME — Ronald Overstake, on ladder, a Washington C. H. City employe, and Danny Self, a Community Action Commission worker, paint street sign posts as part of the city's clean-up campaign. City Manager Dan Wolford kicked off the campaign Monday and asked all residents and businesses to clean up voluntarily. Violators of city refuse ordinances who haven't cleaned up their property after March 31 will be subject to prosecution, Wolford said. (Staff photo)

NEW YORK (AP) — One of the more interesting revelations about American consumer behavior will be provided during the next few months of conflict between food shoppers and the rising cost of supplying the body with energy.

This is more than a passing test. It is a watershed in the affairs of consumers, who for more than 10 years have been feeling their muscles grow and who have been exerting their powers in a variety of ways.

Can they stop food price increases? Their President believes they can, and has declared such faith in them that he has declined to appear in person on the field of battle as he has in so many other economic conflicts.

But faith alone won't win the battle. Aligned against the consumer are all the pressures of professional promotion, advertising, new product development and the like that have one message: Spend.

There is, moreover, the persistence of habit: Americans have been upgrading their diets since the Great Depression, adding more meat and using less starch. And they have been willing to pay dearly for conveniences, too.

Add to this the ideal of most Americans that life tomorrow will be better in regard to the basics of food, clothing, health and shelter. To lower standards is considered un-American, a violation of fundamental rights.

The consumer, therefore, is unlikely to respond affirmatively to Mrs. Virginia Knauer's suggestion that cheap cuts of meat can be turned into gourmet meals.

But there is a change of rather recent vintage that does put the consumer in a more advantageous position than before. He is better educated, better informed, more aware than in the past.

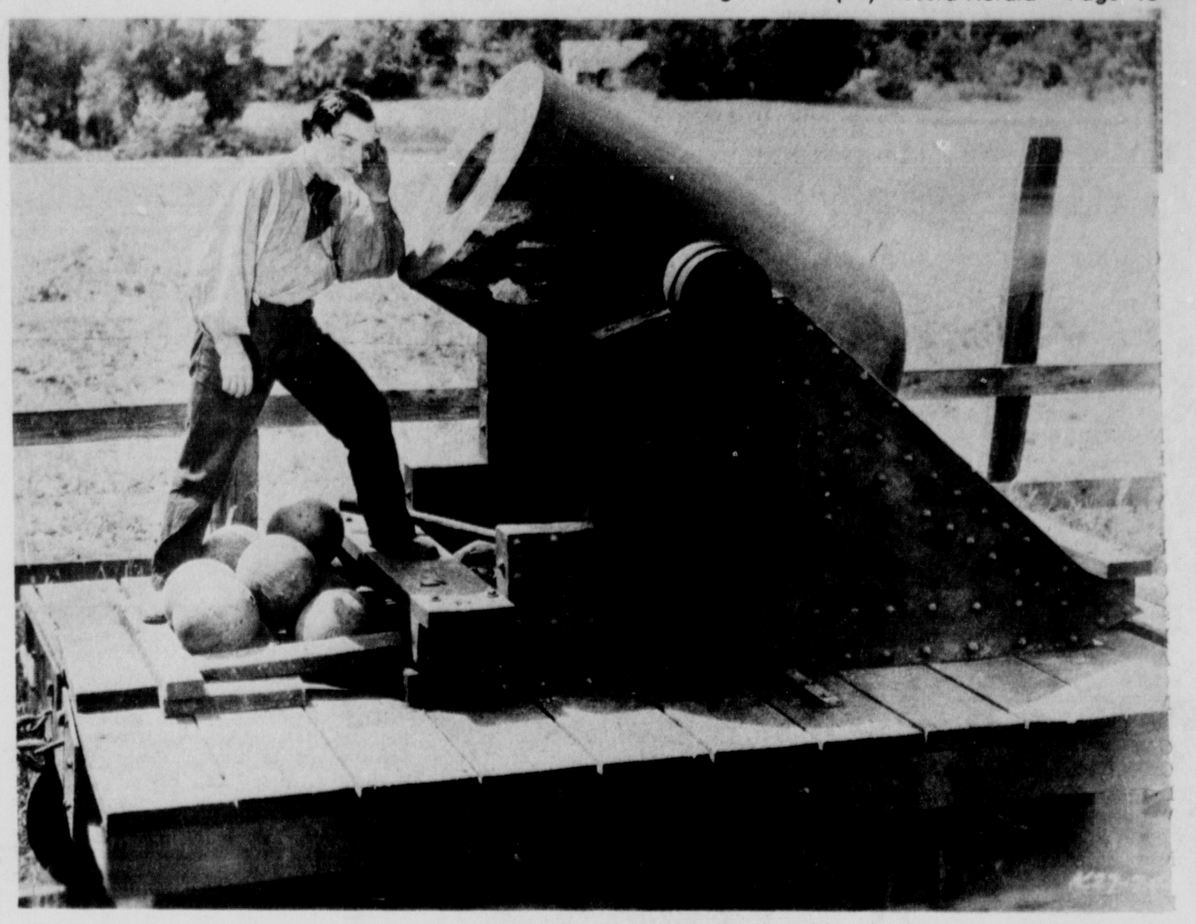
This awareness, followed by action, already has brought great changes. The spirit is different. Caveat emptor is dated; caveat vinditor, or the seller beware, is widely accepted by regulators and legislators.

Writing three years ago in "The Nation," the magazine of U.S. Chamber of Commerce, A.Q. Mowbray put the old standards into perspective:

"When General Motors buys material from U.S. Steel, it does not rely on assurances from the steel company that the shipment will be 'new and improved' with twice the active ingredients of shabby old Brand X.

"GM says in very hardheaded terms that the steel must meet certain specifications as to strength, hardness, ductility, corrosion resistance, or whatever property is of interest..."

The battle is on. The question is this: Can the consumer, armed with better information and more awareness, fight a professional battle, not only against those trying to sell him something but, in a sense, against his own habits and appetites?



Buster Keaton in The General

Lee Erwin to give concert here

Lee Erwin, is director of the Electronic Music Lab at Lehman College in New York City, will be at the console of the Washington Junior High Auditorium organ during the showing of the silent film classic, The General. This special program will be presented at 7:30 p.m. Thursday.

In addition to his work as composer and instructor in Electronic Music, Erwin is one of the foremost theater organists in the country. At theaters, museums, campuses, film festivals, he is known as a prime mover in the renaissance of silent films accompanied by the instrument designed specifically for that purpose - the Mighty Theater Organ - playing music specifically composed to complement the screen action.

An evening with the theater organ and silent movies is not a new experience for Ervin. He began his musical career at the age of 12 when he was hired as relief silent-movie pianist at the Grand Theater in his native Huntsville, Ala. He won a scholarship to the Cincinnati Conservatory of Music, and while a student there he gained invaluable experience playing silent films during the very last years of the "Golden Age of the Movie Palace." He studied organ in Paris, and was the first American pupil of the celebrated French organist, Andre Marchal. When he returned to the United States he was the organist for a short time at the Alabama Theatre in Birmingham.

When the theater organ was silenced by the advent of the "talkies" he became staff organist at radio station WLW in Cincinnati. He began the "Moon River" program, a midnight radio show featuring organ music, poetry and songs. "Moon River" launched the singing careers of Doris Day, Rosemary Clooney, Andy Williams and many others.

With the advent of television Erwin moved to New York City where he became organist for one of the most popular TV shows, "Arther Godfrey Time." During his years with the Godfrey program, he was arranger and composer as well as organist. He composed numerous songs for various members of the cast: Godfrey, Jeanette Davis, Julius LaRosa, Marion Marlowe, Frank Parker, Johnny Nash and others. Several of his tunes became hit songs and contributed much to the popularity of the program.

Recently, Lee Erwin has devoted much of his time to the theater organ and the development of new music for that instrument.

Thursday night, he will play the accompaniment to The General, a 1926 film staring Buster Keaton.

The General was the name of a locomative stolen during the Civil War by a spy from the north and returned through the fighting lines from the South. It was this incident which Keaton used as the story line for the famous comedy.

The comedy is considered not only a classic but one of the all-time great laughter films made anywhere. Numerous copies have been made and Disney and other studios tried to copy the hysterical situations and gags within the film but never to the complete degree which they reached under the direction and acting of Keaton. Keaton also invented most of the story line for the picture, for they never filmed with completed scripts, but from ideas conceived by the artists who made them.

Erwin will return to Washington Junior High on March 27. At that performance The Phantom of the Opera, starring Lon Chaney, will be shown.

Stamps In The News

By SYD KRONISH

Since postage stamps reflect the growing concerns and major priorities of individual nations, it is expected that ecology will be the subject of many designs on postal issues for years to come.

Papua & New Guinea, presently concerned with possible extinction of its famed Birds of Paradise, have issued four new stamps featuring such birds in their glorious plummage, reports the Empire Stamp Galleries.

The survival of the island's Birds of Paradise is in question and thus the government has instituted a Bird of Paradise Conservation Program in conjunction with the World Wildlife Fund, the International Union of Nature and National Resources and other similar groups.

The 7 cents shows the Queen Carol's Bird of Paradise. Already somewhat rare, it is further threatened by those clearing the forests who are destroying the nests.

The 28 cents depicts the Princess Stephanie Bird of Paradise, whose long pairs of central tail feathers are unfortunately highly prized for ceremonial adornment by the peoples of the thickly populated New Guinea Highlands.

The new stamps will be available at your local stamp dealer.

CANADA has announced the issuance of two new stamps featuring the "Algonkian Indians Artifacts and Way of Life" in blocks of four. The stamp depicting the Algonkian artifacts includes a birchbark basket, an Ojibwa wooden papoose carrier, a pair of snowshoes, knife and other items.

Algonkian Indians were comprised of six principal tribes — the Malecite and Micmac of the Maritimes, the Montagnais of northern Quebec, the Algonquin of the Ottawa Valley, the Ojibwa of the area north of Lakes Superior and Huron and the Cree of Quebec, Ontario, Manitoba and Saskatchewan.

FOR MORE than 50 years the only major errors found on U.S. postage stamps have been the omissions of one or more colors, or the omission of perforations.

Now auctioneer Jacques C. Schiff Jr. reports the discovery and authentication of the first clear, double impression in modern U.S. philately. The error is a single of the 8-cent Statue of Liberty design issued in 1954. These stamps remained in use until 1958 when a printing of similar design replaced them as the regular 8-cent stamp.

Apparently the sheet which had gone through the press prior to the error sheet was overinked. As a result the next sheet (the error sheet) was printed partially without the red. To correct the lack of the red, the printer put the sheet through a second time, but some of the 400 spamps thus obtained two red impressions.

Only five of these stamps are known to exist and are in the hand of collectors.

TWO NEW stamps from Norway hail the centenary of the discovery of the leprosy bacteria by Dr. Gerhard Henrik Armauer Hansen (1841-1922) of that country. Both designs shows Dr. Hansen at a microscopw with a slide of the bacterium. Discovery was made in 1873 after he had devoted his life to this task.

TUNISIA has issued a single stamp honoring the Dome of the Rock in Jerusalem. Built over the rock from which Mohammed is said to have ascended to heaven, the mosque is a prime reason the city of Jerusalem remains the sacred site to three faiths. The dome once appeared on a stamp of the old British Protectorate of Palestine.

Grade separation low bid submitted

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Melbourne Bros. Construction Co., Inc., of North Canton submitted the apparent low bid of $2.2 million for grade separation on Ohio 60 in Zanesville.

The bid was among those opened for 23 projects Tuesday by the Ohio Transportation Department.

Athens gets cash

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Approval of a $5,796 federal grant to Athens for purchase of communications equipment for the Ohio University Security Division was announced Tuesday by Gov. John Gilligan's office.

Maloney eyes GOP chair

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — State Sen. Michael J. Maloney, R-Cincinnati, moved Tuesday night to muster support in a bid to seek the empty Ohio Republican Party chief's chair.

It came a day after Maloney said he would serve if called, but would not actively seek the chairmanship.

Tuesday night he said "if a guy wants it, he is going to have to work for it and go out and get it."

Maloney conferred with GOP leaders U.S. Sen. William B. Saxbe, Andrews and former National Chairman Ray Bliss late Tuesday.

In the past hundred years, National Geographic says, over-all demand for energy of all kinds in the United States has increased twentyfold.

Boyle declares innocence of complicity in murders

ERIE, Pa. (AP)—Former United Mine Workers President W.A. "Tony" Boyle continues to insist that he had nothing to do with the 1969 murders of his union archrival, Joseph A. Yablonski, and Yablonski's wife and daughter.

And Boyle says he doesn't believe that anyone else in the union had any connection with the killings either, although two former UMW officials face murder charges in the case and a third has confessed.

Boyle commented at a news conference after testifying for the defense here Tuesday in the state murder trial of William J. Prater, a former UMW field organizer from LaFollette, Tenn., whom the government alleges was a conduit in an elaborate scheme to finance the killings with $20,000 in union money.

"I can't believe that anyone in the union would do that," the balding 70-year-old former union chieftain said.

Boyle testified that he personally had authorized the transfer of $20,000 to the UMW's District 19, embracing parts of eastern Kentucky and Tennessee, but said the money was for organizing nonunion mines in the area.

Later, however, in an often brisk cross-examination with special prosecutor Richard Sprague, Boyle acknowledged that he had never investigated to determine specifically whether the money actually was used for organizing work.

Sprague repeatedly asked why there had been no probe, often leaving the question for a time, then rephrasing it and thrusting it at Boyle again.

In one such exchange, Sprague referred to the state's claim that the money was disbursed in small checks to pensioned miners within District 19. The government has said the pensioners cashed the checks, then kicked the money back in small bills to be passed on later to those who actually shot the Yablonskis.

Woman, 78, held in bank robbery

PROVO, Utah (AP) — A 78-year-old woman has been arrested in the robbery of a branch bank.

Provo Police Lt. Ken Forshee said an elderly woman dressed in red walked into the Provo branch of the Walker Bank early Monday afternoon, brandished a toy pistol and demanded $1,500.

He said Geneva Ball of Provo was arrested a short time later near the bank and was arraigned a robbery charge in City Court. Preliminary hearing was set for next Monday.

Opening lead - ten of clubs.

Let's say you're in four hearts and West leads the ten of clubs, which you win with the ace. How do you proceed?

The apparent losers are three diamonds and a trump and the problem is how to play the hand so as to give yourself the best chance to expunge one of them.

The most obvious way is to try to ruff a diamond in dummy to gain a tenth trick. So let's assume you lead a low diamond at trick two, in which case East would win and return a trump. It would not matter whether you finessed or went up with the ace, because either way West would not permit you to ruff a diamond in dummy and you would finish down one.

But with the best line of play you would make the contract. At trick two you should lead the king of diamonds, not the deuce!

The effect of this play is that West, instead of East, wins the trick — and finds himself powerless. The best he can do is lead a trump, which you win with the jack. When you now play another diamond, either East wins it and has no trump to return, or West wins it and cannot afford to return a trump. So, by playing this way, you save either a trump loser or a diamond loser and make the contract.

Leading the king of diamonds at trick two does not of course guarantee the the contract against any lie of the adverse cards, but it goes a long way towards increasing your chances of bringing the hand home. It offers by far the best chance for a successful outcome, and who could ask for anything more?

Air fare rise ordered by panel

LONDON (AP) — Transatlantic air travelers not only won't get the greatly reduced fares some airlines tried to offer them this summer, they're going to have to pay more to compensate the lines for the devaluation of the dollar.

The airlines' price-fixing cartel, the International Air Transport Association, agreed Monday that, starting April 15, fares on the North Atlantic run will rise an average of six per cent in the United States and Canada, eight per cent in Britain, and 10 per cent in the rest of Europe. Subject to currency adjustments, they will be maintained until the end of the year.

This means the cheapest scheduled round-trip fare from New York to London — the 22-to 45-day excursion rate — will rise from $313 to $332 in peak summer months and from $240 to $255 in the off season.

TRAIL BLAZERS 4-H

Cheryl Hale brought the meeting of the Trail Blazers 4-H Club to order in the home of Dale Ford. Lynn Burchett led the group in the 4-H Pledge and members answered roll call by giving their horses' names.

Tammy Hale and Lynn Burchett told about the Horse Clinic held March 4 in Columbus.

It was announced that all members should bring their stationery orders in by the next meeting.

Following adjournment, Lois Hale gave a health report on Feeding a Horse. Members participated in dropping clothes pins in the jar.

MARION MARVELS 4-H

Diane Gerber and Emily Beal gave a slide presentation at the Marion Marvels 4-H Club meeting on National 4-H Club Congress. They related some of their exciting experiences they had in Chicago during November. Members were urged to work hard in 4-H and later apply for trips and other awards.

Assisting with the Heart Fund Drive was selected as a community service project. The literature for Marion Township was distributed to the members, with each member in charge of soliciting near his home.

Lynne Rapp's safety report was titled "Noise on thd Farm." She stated that hearing loss can be caused by farm tractor sounds and then mentioned available ways to reduce sounds.

Debbie Duff, president, conducted the meeting and Scott Gerber led the pledges. A speaker for Family Night, April 6, was discussed. Debbie Duff was to contact several possible ones.

Mr. David Gerber will present a swine program at the next meeting to be held March 20 at the Bloomingburg Methodist Church. Refreshments will be served by Connie, John, Larry and Gary Dean.

Junior High scholarship team listed

Five more Washington Junior High School students have been named to scholarship teams, according to Maurice A. Pfeifer, guidance counselor.

These students are in addition to the 15 students previously named to the five academic teams.

Pfeifer said that due to a change in the division in which the school participates, one additional member has been named to each team. The teams are:

English — Ann Fenton, Linda Hollingsworth, Sue Moore and Ann Crocker.

Spanish — Lisa English, Michelle Davis, Cheryl Bryan and Lisa Lynch.

The students will take written examinations May 5 at Ohio State University.

WSHS teacher at consumer education meet

Mrs. Robert Lutz, business teacher at Washington Senior High School, participated in the recent statewide Consumer Education Conference sponsored by the Ohio Department of Education in Columbus.

Consumer education, according to State Superintendent of Public Instruction Martin W. Essex, is designed to help young Ohioans develop the responsibility needed to make wise decisions regarding their present and adult responsibilities in an ever growing complex marketplace.

Two nationally-known experts in consumer education were featured at the conference: Dr. Lee Richardson, director of consumer education in the U. S. Office of Consumer Affairs, and David Schoenfeld, director of educational services for the Consumers Union.

Innovative, successful consumer education practices in school districts throughout the state highlighted the two-day session. Special displays and sample materials of these courses were presented at the conference.

Storms hit wide area

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Showers and thunderstorms soaked areas from the Pacific Coast to the Rockies today, turning to snow over the Central Plateau.

Snow accumulations were heavy in parts of Arizona, Nevada and Utah. Two to four inches of new snow hit northern Arizona; Flagstaff picked up two inches in a half-hour period before midnight.

Heavy-snow warnings were issued for Colorado and travelers advisories for parts of Arizona, Nevada and Utah.

Rhodes mum on party post choice

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Asserting the new Ohio Republican chairman's "hand should not be tied" by anyone outside the state central committee, former Gov. James Rhodes said Tuesday he would not recommend a successor to John Andrews.

The 46 members of the committee meet in Columbus April 5 to select someone from its ranks to succeed Andrews, who announced his resignation Monday.

Rhodes, who is not a member of the panel, indicated he will be out of town on that day.

"I think they have qualified men on the committee, and they will select one of them," said Rhodes, who served as governor from 1963 to 1970.

"I will abide by the state central committee's decision and cooperate with the new chairman to the fullest extent. In this hour, our need is for harmony and not division," he said.

Polygraph expert is Rotary Club speaker

If Washington C.H. Rotarians had any ideas about lie detector tests being used only to trap criminals, they were only partly right.

The lie detector does help trap criminals, of course, but it also is used to clear the innocent of suspicion and in many other ways the public generally is not aware of. This, in substance, was what Don Hatton, president of the Takkon Corp. which he founded in Dayton 12 years ago, told Rotarians at their Tuesday luncheon in the Country Club.

Hatton, a former Dayton patrolman and detective, is now a polygraph specialist. After many years of experience as a police officer with lie detector use, techniques and study, he formed the Takkon Corp. to provide polygraph tests for a wide variety of clients.

He said all police departments in the area run polygraph tests on all applicants for employment as part of the screening process and that the Dayton Police Department gives polygraph tests every six months to all officers assigned to keeping tab on organized crime. An average of 10 lie detection tests a week are given on request of the courts.

Private businesses, he said, also run tests on employes (to detect pilfering) and on applicants for jobs. It is not unusual, he said, to find an employe of a competing business among employes.

PRESIDENT Fred Domenico conducted the meeting, and Vern Haugen arranged the program.

In the annual election, all the present officers were returned to the board of directors and, under a long standing policy, will be installed July 1 in the office one step up. In the regular order of succession, Phil Grover, the 1971-72 vice president, will become the president to succeed Domenico, whose term expires. Other officers who will move up are Paul Crosby, secretary; William E. Williams, treasurer; Dr. George Pommert, Bulletin editor; Jack Alkire, assistant Bulletin editor; and Ronald Ratliff, sergeant-at-arms.

David Ogan was elected as the only new member of the board. He will succeed Ratliff as sergeant-at-arms at the start of the coming year.

Other guests were Larry Milstead and Ed Plum, of Xenia with Ron Hidy, and the Rev. Elmer E. Burrall with Crosby.

Visiting Rotarians were Fremont Fisher, of Cincinnati, and Ralph Clyburn, Robert Head, Jack McCray, Allen Johnston and Wendell Shaffer, of Greenfield; George Gerhardt and Art Dick, of Mount Sterling, and Darrell French, of Wilmington.

Personnel matters top County Board's agenda

Personnel matters topped a routine agenda for members of the Fayette County Board of Education at the regular semi-monthly meeting Tuesday night.

The board also held an informal discussion with Otis R. Hess Jr., Fayette County prosecuting attorney, who attended the meeting with his associate, Robert Simpson, to advise the board of the services the prosecutor's office can provide on legal matters.

The meeting was conducted by Vice-President Marvin DeMent, filling in for board president Kenneth Payton who was absent due to a severe hand injury suffered in a home accident.

The retirement of Parker Hitzfield, high school industrial arts teacher, approved by the board, effective June 2. In other personnel matters, the board granted Superintendent Guy M. Foster authority to make a decision on a request from Mrs. Vicki Snow, high school counselor, for a personal leave April 9-10 to accompany her husband on a trip won through new car sales. Ed McAuliffe, high school custodian, was granted a week's leave of absence, March 19-23.

The board formally authorized application to participate in the Southwest Regional Laboratory Program during the 1973-74 school year and identified Mrs. June Slaughter as the representative for the Local Educational Agency. The SWRL is a federally-sponsored program which provides materials for kindergarten programs, and Foster said the federal participation amounts to about $1,500.

IN OTHER matters:

The board reviewed a proposed calendar for 1973-74 school year which is expected to be adopted at the next regular meeting;

Granted permission to the Fayette County Board of Elections to use Eber, Wilson and Chaffin elementary schools for voting precincts May 8;

Heard a report from Superintendent Foster in which he stated that the committee studying the reading program for intermediate grades has chosen to wait another year before adopting a new program. The Open Court program will be continued in primary grades next school year, he said;

Heard a report from board member Marion Waddle who is the school board's representative on the Miami Trace High School Athletic Council; and

Approved high school and elementary monthly activity accounts, the district's financial statement and routine bills.

Johnny Carson son in trouble

CAMERA Angles

By IRVING DESFOR
AP Newsfeatures

For more than 40 years I worked with news pictures as a retoucher, layout man and photo editor at Associated Press.

I studied, cropped and crowded them into manageable spaces for later viewing by newspaper readers around the country.

They made me exult and despair, laugh and cry, feel proud and ashamed as the paper parade of life's events passed through my hands.

The great news photographs returned again and again through the years, recalled by retelling of historic incidents or nostalgic reviews. So I came to know the pictures well along with many of the photographers who had captured the memorable fragments of time.

I often hoped it would be possible to share the photos in large size with people for viewing as a collection. It would be easier then to appreciate the excitement and details that originals had but which were often "lost in the translation."

HAPPILY, the idea occurred to others at The Associated Press and it was produced as an "Inhouse" book and it may become available for the public. I looked through an advance copy of "The Instant It Happened," edited by Hal Buell who gathered the pictures and Saul Pett who headed the staff of writers. It was not a case of browsing through . . . I read every page for great writing has been added to the great photos. It's an addition that makes it mind-catching as well as eye-catching.

The text — on the left hand pages — sparkled with graphic background details as it set the stage for 10 x 14-inch pictures on the right hand pages. The text also probed or explained the photographers' thoughts and actions wherever possible.

If I had to find fault, I'd say there should be an index or list of contents for the 231-page book to make specific pictures easier to refer to. I also missed a few historic news pictures which aptly fit the title, "The Instant It Happened," such as Bob Capa's shot of a Spanish Loyalist soldier at the instant he received a bullet's fatal impact. Undoubtedly they were not available for publication.

BUT THESE are minor points for a book which covers 100 years of news picture history and illuminates so much of the atmosphere and mood of each image's era.

The title, "The Instant It Happened," and its relationship to great news pictures is explained by Saul Pett in the foreword.

"The instant a long draught ends with rain splashing on an old farmer's face becomes as irresistible as the instant a war begins," he says. "The instant a deaf boys hears his own voice for the first time must share in human experience with the instant a leader is assassinated. And the instant of magic when music lifts a little girl off her chair and sends her pirouetting against the sunlight must be included with the instant the world changed at Hiroshima."

HE NOTES the many examples of "photographer's instinct" in the making of spectacular pictures. It was at work with Bob Jackson when he stayed — against orders — in the basement of the Dallas jail and when he unconsciously pressed his camera release as Jack Ruby shot Lee Harvey Oswald. And it was built-in "radar" that synchronized Eddie Adams' camera and arm movement to match that of the Vietnamese police chief as he raised his gun hand to execute a Viet Cong suspect on a Saigon street corner. The shot triggered the camera too.

Press photographers are tough and hardened but they also have compassion and are human. Here's how Pett summed up that quality:

"The pictures of the vengeful tortures in East Pakistan do not show the revulsion felt by photographers Horst Faas and Michel Laurent. The Pulitzer Prize they won did not erase that feeling. The Pulitzer Prize he won did not mitigate the heavy dismay Max Desfor felt on shooting a picture of refugees scrambling like ants over a broken bridge in Korea.

"Like Murray Becker after the explosion of the Hindenburg, like Boris Yaro after Robert Kennedy was shot in Los Angeles, like many others with a job to do in an instant of tragedy or shock, they do it and they cry later."

Since my younger brother, Max Desfor, shared those same emotions with me at the time he was covering the Korean War, I can add, "Amen, Saul Pett, you've told it like it is."

". . . AS IF IN PRAYER." Scene: Korea, January 1951. AP photographer Max Desfor is with American troops following the enemy when he sees these hands thrust through the deep snow. They uncover an old peasant, hands tied and left to die as the snow started to fall. This picture of individual tragedy was taken with sadness and compassion. In December 1950, Max photographed refugees fleeing over the broken girders of a bombed bridge. The picture of mass tragedy won the 1951 Pulitzer Prize. They both illustrate "The Instant It Happened."

Atlanta to ship garbage away

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP) — Atlanta will begin shipping much of its garbage out of town by railroad next year.

Mayor Sam Massell said Monday the city has contracted with Southern Railway to haul 40 per cent of the city's garbage to Twiggs County in central Georgia, beginning in mid-1974.

Your Income Tax

EDITOR'S NOTE: This column of questions and answers on federal tax matters is provided by the local office of the U.S. Internal Revenue Service and is published as a public service to taxpayers. The column answers questions most frequently asked by taxpayers.

(Q) I saw a story in the paper giving the average deductions taken by U.S. taxpayers last year. If I keep my deductions below these figures, will it keep me from being audited?

(A) No. IRS computers screen all individual returns for error, not just those with higher than average deduction figures. Sophisticated mathematical formulas are used to rank returns by error potential and those having the highest probability of error are selected for audit.

If a deduction on your return is questioned, you must be able to substantiate the item.

(Q) When should I report interest earned on my Series E Savings Bonds?

(A) You should report interest when the bonds are cashed or report the annual increase each year.

For more information, see IRS Publication 576, "Tax Information on United States Savings Bonds." It's available free by writing your Internal Revenue district office.

(Q) I earned over $25,000 last year. Can I still use the short Form 1040A?

(A) Yes. You can earn any amount and still use the short Form 1040A. However, all your income must come from wages, salaries, tips and not more than $200 in interest and $200 in dividends. In addition, you may not itemize deductions on the short form.

If you did not receive Form 1040A in the mail and want to use it, a copy may be obtained at any Internal Revenue office, most banks and post offices, or you may use the order blank in the Form 1040 package to obtain a copy.

(Q) My husband and I file a joint return. He wants to designate a dollar of our tax for one political party, while I want my dollar to go to another party. Can we do this?

(A) — Yes. If you are filing a joint return, you may designate $2 of your tax toward the Presidential Election Campaign Fund. Thus, each of you may designate $1 of your tax to go to a different party or to a non-partisan general account for all eligible candidates.

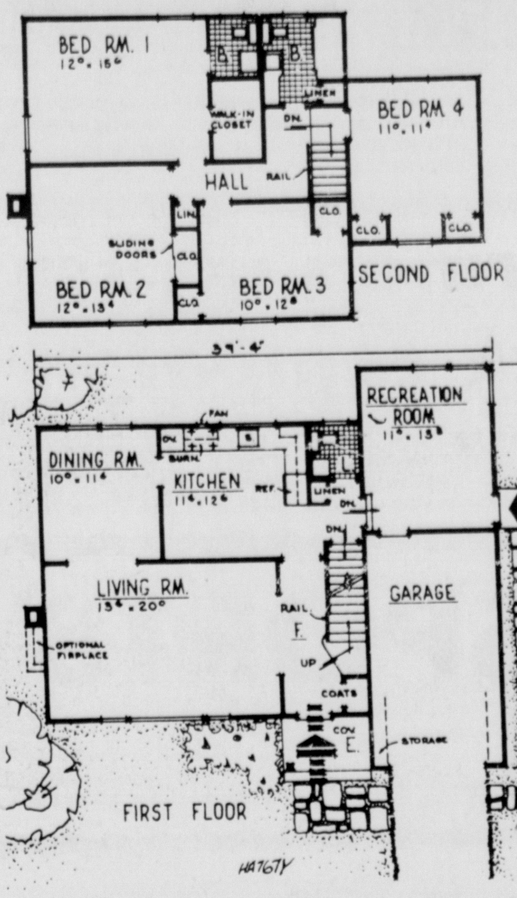
HOMES FOR AMERICANS



SMALL GLASS LIGHT WINDOWS with shutters give this two-story, four bedroom home a Colonial look. There is a covered entry, foyer with guest closet and open stair to the bedroom level. The 20-foot-long living room has optional fireplace and three large windows for maximum light. The kitchen, with its 19 feet of cabinet space, is between the dining room and the sunken recreation room. The backyard play area also can be supervised from the kitchen work space. All four bedrooms have cross ventilation. There are 720 square feet of living space on the first floor, 162 in the recreation room and 898 on the second floor. Architect for Plan HA767Y is Herman York, 90-04 161st St., Jamaica, N.Y. 11432. Anyone interested in knowing the price of the plan can write to him.

Here's the Answer

Q. — I bought a package of toggle bolts recently because I had heard how good they were for hanging things on hollow walls. But no matter how much I try, I can't seem to figure out how they work. I get the bolt into the wall all right, but when I unscrew the bolt, the winged part falls behind the wall. Obviously, I am doing something wrong. Wat is it?

A. — A toggle bolt operates differently than most other types of hollow wall fasteners. You are using it in the same way; that is, placing it into the wall, then removing the bolt so that you can run it through the hook or other fixture. With a toggle bolt, you must NOT remove the bolt once it is in place. Therefore, you must place the bolt through the fixture first, then put it into the wall. It's a little tricky at first, so here is the exact procedure:

Drill a hole into the wall so that the toggle bolt, with the wings folded, will fit snugly into it. Now unscrew the bolt from the winged part. Run the bolt through the fixture that is to be hung on the wall. With the fixture still attached to the bolt, replace the winged section on the bolt by screwing it into place. At this point, the order is the head of the bolt, the fixture and the wings.

Now, and now only, push the folded wings and bolt into the hole in the wall. When the wings pass the solid part of the wall, they will open up and grip the inside of the wall. Using a screwdriver, turn the slotted head of the bolt in a clockwise direction until the fixture is tightly against the wall. It may sound a little complicated, but after you have done it once, you will be able to repeat the operation in the future without giving it a thought.

Q. — The house we bought has wooden shingles on the side of it. The stain on the shingles has begun to peel and blister in spots. We'd like to do the outside of the house over. Will paint take over the stain after we scrape off the peeling and blistering?

A. — First of all, stain does not peel and blister, so it is likely that someone else painted the shingles. Therefore, you can go ahead with the painting after preparing the surface, which includes scraping and perhaps sanding the rough areas.

But before going ahead with the job, it might be a good idea to find out what caused the peeling and blistering. It usually comes from water that gets behind the wall and pushes up the coat of paint.

It can be from the outside — rain getting behind the wall — or from the inside, such as excessive moisture emanating from inside the house.

In using a drum sander to take the old fisnish off a floor, be sure to raise the drum slightly from the floor before coming to a halt. If left in place while still in operation, the abrasive on the drum will dig a groove in the wood.

When a wood window has swollen so that no amount of lubricating or forcing will enable to slide up and down, the stop molding will have to be removed and the edge sandpapered to provide a wider channel.

Cry over spilled milk

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn. (AP) — Clifford Nelson, who said he had driven a milk truck for 40 years without a mishap, was caught by the law of averages recently.

He tried to avoid a car in his path, skidded on a patch of ice and overturned. Nelson was not injured.

ON THE HOUSE

By ANDY LANG
AP Newsfeatures

Whatever kind of finishing or refinishing project you undertake, the sanding portion of it plays an important role in the quality of the results.

Unless the surface is completely smooth before the finishing material is applied, the appearance of the completed job will suffer. Paint will hide some minor irregularities, but even the tiniest scratch will show up — and sometime be magnified — when varnish, lacquer, shellac or any clear finish is used.

The portable electric finishing sander is the tool most widely used when an especially smooth finish is desired. It is the power equivalent of the hand sander, which often is merely a piece of sandpaper over a block of wood or other object, but it accomplishes the task quicker and easier.

The motorless vibrator sander handles very light-duty jobs; the belt sander is with without a peer for heavy-duty work on large, flat surfaces; and the disc sander is excellent for rough sanding and removing material.

The finishing sander is the big choice of the do-it-yourselfer because it does such a good job of leveling the surfaces of wood furniture as well as taking care of most household smoothing chores.

There are several varieties of finishing sanders, the most common of which are the orbital, the straight-line and the dual action.

With an orbital sander, the pad to which the abrasive paper is attached moves in tiny, almost imperceptible ovals. The straight-line sander's pad moves back and forth.

The dual action sander has both of these movements, but not at the same time. You switch from one action to the other by pushing a little lever or making some other simple adjustment.

FOR NEARLY all purposes, the orbital action of a finishing sander is nearly ideal. The straight-line movement is sometimes preferred for the final sanding when an exceptionally high wuality of smoothness is desired.

The difference between the two is usually so minor that it can be detected only by a practiced eye. With my own dual action sander, purchased some years ago, I use the orbital action for the first and second sandings, then switch to the straight-line movement for the final operation.

No matter what kind of sander you use, the selection of the proper abrasive paper is important. Most of us know that the rougher the paper, the more material that can be removed; the finer the paper, the smoother the finish.

But what a newcomer to a power sander may not know is that some types of paper — ordinary flint, for example — do not stand up too well when used with high-power machines.

Aluminum oxide is a big favorite for power sanders, but there are many other kinds.

4-H Round-Up

94 clubs planned in Fayette County

By JACK SOMMERS
County Extension Agent, 4-H

Organization of new 4-H clubs is moving along at a rapid pace. Six key organization leaders are working hard to get all the interested youngsters involved in a club. So far 56 clubs have been organized and 9 are ready to organize having 29 to go. All clubs will be formed by April 1.

These 94 clubs represent an increase of 27 over 1972. The large increase is primarily due to the efforts of two groups. Our older 4-H'ers stirred a lot of interest when they visited the schools on Feb. 20. From their efforts we received nearly 300 cards from youngsters interested in 4-H.

The second group responsible are the six Key Leaders. These gals, Jayne Lange, Nellie Hardman, Joan Jenks, Melanie Merriman, Linda Highfield and Phyliss Rea have done a tremendous job. They are working hard to locate advisers for the remaining 27 groups.

Last weekend our 4-H camp counselors were involved in a training session at Proctor Center near London. Eight Fayette Countians were involved in sessions to develop their leadership talents for the 4-H camping program. Those participating were Bill Sexten, Diane Gerber, Cindi Davis, Marlene Braun, Dawn Schlichter, Cathy Van Dyke, Julie Frost and Brenda Coe.

I want to remind all livestock clubs that the Ohio Dorset breeders are sponsoring a judging contest for 4-H and FFA members. The contest is held as part of the Ohio Invitational Dorset Sheep Show and Sale being held at the Fayette County Fairgrounds on Friday and Saturday, March 23 & 24. The contest begins at 9 a.m. Saturday. I'm looking for a large turn out of Fayette County 4-H'ers.

Last Wednesday 17 boys completed half of the testing for Tractor Operators Certificates. The 14 & 15-year-olds did quite well on the written test. The real challenge is coming up on March 31 as the 17 will be taking the driving test at Jeffersonville Farm Service, Ohio 41-N. The three advisers, Ron Swigert, Eddie Halderman and Larry Hines, did an excellent job with this group.

As a final note, the Junior Fair Board meets on Monday night, March 26, to revise and rewrite the Fair Book for 1973. Also, the Junior Leadership Club meets on Wednesday, March 28th, at Mahan Hall to learn more about working with 4-H club members.

Baja California became a peninsula millions of years ago when it was split off from the Mexican mainland and separated from it by a long tongue of the Pacific, the Gulf of California.

Lion variety show may clear $2,200

The Washington C. H. Lions Club probably will clear between $2,000 and $2,200 on the "Lion's Roar" variety show it staged March 5 and 6 for its sight-saving and community betterment fund, Richard Kimmet reported Tuesday night at a meeting in the Country Club.

President Phil Morrow commented that this was one of the most successful, both artistically and financially of the club's many productions through the years.

Donald Crabtree was welcomed into the club. The formal induction will be held later. Dick Lewis and Wiley Witherspoon were presented pins for sponsoring new members.

Plans for the state convention May 18-20 in Cincinnati and the annual election of officers were discussed. Morrow appointed a nominating committee composed of R. Burris Tharp, Tom Mark and Elmer N. Reed to report a slate of nominees at the April 3 meeting for the election to be held April 17.

FOLLOWING dinner and the business session, Gary Smith, of Lynchburg, narrated color slides he made in September while hunting moose, caribou, elk, grizzly bear and mountain sheep in Alaska.

The 18-day trip took him from the uppermost part of the state to the lower peninsula. Accompanied only by his guide and the bush pilot, he spotted game from the air. The plane could be landed on the mountain tops, but sometimes, he said, the trio had to walk as far as 10 miles to get within gunshot of the game.

Under the law, the head and four quarters of all animals killed had to be taken out and reported to conservation officials. After bagging a moose, he said, they had to carry hundreds of pounds on their backs for several miles.

Smith predicted that the Eskimos in northern Alaska will soon be gone from that area. Since Alaska achieved statehood, he said, children are required to go to school and that means they must go south for the last four grades. He said they are reluctant to return to their homes in the northern area and the old, more primitive way of life.

City issues eight building permits

Eight building permits for construction work with a total cost estimate of $43,263 have been issued by the City of Washington C. H.

Marting Manufacturing Co. received a permit to build a metal manufacturing and storage facility on Rose Ave. The cost estimate is $40,000, and Custom Grain Systems was named the contractor.

Others receiving permits and the cost estimates of the individual projects:

David Ford, 420 Worley St., new residential garage, $1,500.

Vehicle inspection scheduled Saturday

Free voluntary motor vehicle inspections will be made by the State Highway Patrol from 9 a.m. until noon and 1 until 4 p.m. Saturday at the Fairground.

Patrolman W. E. Browder suggested that owners check their cars for minor defects before taking them to the Fairground for the inspection. He said motor vehicles with valid inspection decals punched May 1972 or later need not appear.

Battelle Institute gets grant for research

WASHINGTON (AP)—The U.S. Interior Department has asked Battelle Memorial Institute of Columbus to find an economical way to turn coal into synthetic gas.

Battelle will get $4.1 million for the project. If it goes well, commercial production of synthetic gas may be possible by 1980, federal officials said.

Mrs. Boggs winner

PUCO chief gives mixed reaction to energy study

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — A Youngstown lawmaker's proposals for studies of Ohio's energy problems received mixed reaction Tuesday night from Henry W. Eckhart, chairman of the Ohio Public Utilities Commission (PUCO).

The chairman gave qualified endorsement—with recommendations for some changes—to one of two proposals by Rep. Thomas J. Carney, D-71 Youngstown. It calls for the commission to compile data on Ohio's future energy needs.

Eckhart said he does not favor a second Carney proposal that would have the Legislative Service Commission (LSC) study Ohio's energy "crisis."

The chairman said that while he feels the LSC does an outstanding research job for the legislature, "it lacks the expertise" to gain the kind of information that would require engineers and other technical people the LSC doesn't have."

Eckhart said he "applauds" Carney for seeking to bring the legislature into the "energy problem, which is among the biggest problems faced by the people of Ohio." He said the purpose of the bill to collect data fits in with efforts the PUCO currently is making.

The commission chairman pointed out, however, that the federal government has jurisdiction over most of the energy fuels consumed by Ohio, and currently is studying the same problem, and will have new regulations.

"We should wait until we see what they will do before we take action," Eckhart said.

He said the PUCO is ready to undertake the study if the legislature wants, but estimated his agency would need $400,000 to employ a staff of 10 to 15 persons to begin the project and finance it over two years beginning July 1.

Eckhart suggested other things the legislature might want to do in the area of energy problems—among them give the governor authority to declare an "energy crisis," establish an energy conservation fund, and power for the state to impose stricter regulation if needed.

Nixon likes piano, hi-fi

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon has recently begun to play the piano late at night in the family quarters of the White House. In addition, he likes to turn up the volume on his hi-fi, his wife disclosed Tuesday.

Mrs. Nixon said her husband plays the hi-fi so loud that "it blasts through the house. He thinks that's the only way to listen—when it's real loud and you can hear everything."

The President has taken to midnight piano playing because "it relaxes him," the First Lady said.

The musical discussion came at a White House reception where Mrs. Nixon accepted a collection of nearly 2,000 recordings to establish a White House record library.

Andrea Doria disaster brought long-time love

SARATOGA, Calif. (AP) — Before the cruise ship Andrea Doria plunged to the bottom nearly 17 years ago, a young Italian leaped into the Atlantic to haul a woman passenger to safety.

Now John Vali and the woman he saved are married. They operate a restaurant here called the Andrea Doria and have two daughters, one named Doria.

On July 26, 1956, Vali was dancing in the Italian ship's ballroom with pretty Melanie Ansuini when the Andrea Doria collided with the Swedish cruise ship Stockholm in heavy fog off Nantucket, R.I., in a maritime tragedy that took 51 lives.

"I was dancing with her when everything went 45 degrees to one side. It was a mess. People were screaming and running around," Vali, a native of Seze Romano near Rome, recalled Monday in an interview.

Despite the confusion, Vali said he managed to reunite Melanie with relatives aboard the Andrea Doria who were immigrating to the United States from Italy.

"Four hours later, they decided we had to leave the ship," said Vali, now 44. "I told her to jump, but she was afraid to. Finally, I jumped, then she jumped and missed the lifeboat. I dove in after her and pulled her out."

"We wrote each other, then I came to California and married her seven months later," Vali said.

The young Italian first worked as an appliance delivery truck driver then entered the restaurant business.

The Valis and their two daughters—Doria, 14, and Dina, 9—make their home in nearby San Jose.

For sentimental reasons, Vali said he "thought about naming my second daughter Andrea, but we decided we liked the other name better."

Vali says he dreams of one day building a land-bound model of the ship and converting it into an Italian restaurant.

"Almost 17 years after the romance, and we're still very happily married. That might surprise people. Nobody gets married today," Vali said.

Bill planned to ease cash crisis in Medicaid cases

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — A Cleveland lawmaker planned to introduce today a bill to permit the state to make overdue payments to welfare patient health care providers on an interim emergency basis.

Rep. Richard F. Celeste, D-5 Cleveland, said the measure being offered by him and 12 House cosponsors resulted from consultations among the welfare and finance departments and State Auditor Joseph T. Ferguson.

The state has been running several months behind in getting checks out to hospitals, pharmacists, and others who provide care and medicine to indigent Medicaid patients with a promise they will be reimbursed by the state.

A recent check showed the state more than $30 million in arrears. Delays have been attributed to federal red tape and a conversion in the Department of Welfare to a computer billing system which now is doing the job faster, officials say.

Celeste said Tuesday night that the state made a total of $203 million in Medicaid payments during 1972 and the total since July, 1972, is now $131 million. He pointed out that Ohio gets an average of 13 million claims a year from an estimated 25,000 health care providers.

The bill would remain in effect only 60 days, he said. During that time, the state could pay a provider up to 25 per cent of all his claims in calendar year 1971 or 1972 "as long as the provider was due payment for claims greater than 35 per cent" of the payments made to him in either of those years.

"The bill is designed to take the pressure off those providers who have been put in a financial bind by the delays experienced by implementing the federally-designed Model Medicaid System," Celeste said.

Audits will follow any payments made under the legislation, which provides that any overpayments will be recovered—through prosecution, if necessary—he added.

Earlier Tuesday, state Welfare Director Charles Bates told a legislative subcommittee his department has revised its projected Aid for Dependent Children (ADC) recipient count for the 1974-75 biennium downward.

Bates testified at a hearing by the welfare subcommittee of the House Finance-Appropriations Committee on the department's $825.7 million budget request for the biennium.

He said recipient estimates prepared late last year were too high in light of a downward trend in ADC increases over the last few months.

The department has re-estimated its original budget request for ADC, Bates said, and is projecting a growth of 4,200 per month over fiscal year 1974, a decrease of 700 a month.

2 Cubans face federal charges

MIAMI (AP) — The U.S. government begins legal proceedings today under the U.S.-Cuba hijack agreement against two young Cuban fishermen who allegedly commandeered a boat to Mexico but wound up instead in Florida.

Orlirio Hernandez and Heriberto Caridad Perez, both 21, face action by the Immigration and Naturalization Service and by the U.S. Attorney's office.

They apparently were not in immediate danger of deportation as far as the U.S. Attorney's office was concerned.

Social Security recipients may earn more now

Social Security recipients will be able to earn more next year and still be eligible for their checks, due to a recent change in the law.

The 1972 amendments to the Social Security Act allow a person to earn $2,100 rather than $1,680 starting in 1973, without losing any Social Security benefits. All persons receiving retirement or survivor benefits are affected by this change in what is commonly referred to as the "retirement test".

Besides increasing the amount which a beneficiary is allowed to earn, the law includes some other changes which are designed to eliminate misunderstandings as well as overpayments that had to be refunded by the beneficiary or withheld from benefit security checks.

The law formerly provided that $1 in benefits must be withheld for each $2 earned over the $1,680 amount, up to $2,880. If the person's yearly earnings exceeded $2,880, then $1 for each dollar in excess of $2,880, was also withheld.

The new law eliminates the dollar-for-dollar provision so that $1 for each $2 is withheld regardless of how much a recipient's earnings exceed $2,100. For example, if a person earned $4,100, then $1,000 would be withheld from whatever social security benefits were payable for that year.

THE MONTHLY amount that a person can earn, and be eligible for the monthly check, has been increased from $140 to $175. This provision is material only if a person's earnings exceed $2,100. For example, if a person earned $2,000, it wouldn't matter whether these wages were spread out over the entire year or whether the entire $2,000 was earned in a single month. Since the individual did not exceed $2,100 he would be eligible to receive all Social Security benefits in that year. Suppose, though, that the person earned $10,000 that year. If there were any months that his wages did not exceed $175, he could still receive his Social Security checks for those months.

The $175-per-month provision applies only to workers earning a wage. If a person is self-employed, the amount of time rather than the monthly amount of his earnings is used to determine whether he is substantially self-employed, or if he is eligible for benefits.

Another change in the law affects a person who is attaining age 72 in 1973 or thereafter. Earnings in the month he attains age 72 and for subsequent months are no longer used to figure his total earnings for that year. For example, suppose that a Social Security beneficiary who is still working full-time will reach age 72 next July. He will be able to receive his Social Security checks from July on regardless of how much he earns.

Whether he will be eligible for checks for January through June will depend on how much he earned during those months. Formerly, his earnings for the entire year would have been considered in determining his eligibility for checks for the months of the year prior to the month he attained age 72. This was one of the most misunderstood provisions of the "retirement test" and resulted in numerous overpayments.

THE NEW amendments also provide that the amount which a person can earn and still receive all Social Security checks will be increased whenever there is an increase in Social Security benefits and the earnings increase will be proportionate to the benefit increase. Thus, a 10 per cent increase would mean that the $2,100 earnings exemption would also be increased by 10 per cent.

The only earnings that count as income for "retirement test" purposes are wages and net earnings from self-employment. Other forms of income such as rent, interest, dividends, or other pensions, do not affect a person's eligibility for retirement or survivors benefits.

If a person's earnings for 1973 or later do exceed $2,100 he must file a report of these earnings with the Social Security Administration no later than April 15 of the following year. Otherwise, a penalty for late filing will be imposed in addition to any overpayment he has to refund. This report of earnings is separate from the federal income tax return and the proper form for reporting earnings in excess of $2,100 can be obtained from the local Social Security office.

Explaining Degrees in Burns

What is the difference between the different "degree" of burns?

Miss S. L., Fla.

Dear Miss L.:

"First," "second," and "third" degrees are arbitrary medical terms which indicate the severity of the burn.

The first degree involves only the outer superficial layer of the skin. Associated with this comes diffuse redness and pain, and occasionally the formation of a blister. In most instances, the skin is unbroken.

A second-degree burn affects the deeper, underlying layers of the skin. Blistering and breakage of the skin occur in these cases. Because the skin is broken, infection is easily introduced, adding another hazard.

Third-degree burns involve the deeper tissues of the skin, the muscles, and other tissues that lie beneath it.

Another important factor is that the extent of burns plays a vital role in the ultimate recovery.

In other words, a first-degree burn that involves a large part of the body may be more serious than a third-degree burn which is limited to a small body surface.

The treatment of burns has occupied the attention of physicians for many years. Today special teams using the most complex devices to replace body fluids and to control infection with antibiotics are saving the lives of many who years ago would have been lost.

Special beds, hammocks and other suspension devices, and air and water mattresses have reduced the pain of severe burns, and facilitated recovery.

As I have frequently mentioned, the best modern home treatment for painful, superficial burns is the immediate application of ice or ice water. Children should be taught to do this in case of a simple burn. The most impressive teaching, of course, should be devoted to the prevention of fires.

Are injections of gamma globulin of value for those people who have been exposed to a fellow worker who came down with hepatitis?

Mr. S. L. J., Kan.

Dear Mr. J.:

Gamma globulin is a very complex protein that is present in the blood of most people. I say "most" because sometimes there is an absence or deficiency of this protective substance.

Some doctors believe that a booster injection of G. G. is of value to those who have been exposed to some forms of hepatitis and other communicable diseases. Physicians consider each case individually and recommend its use after such evaluation.

Farm kids have edge in peoria pig contest

PEORIA, Ill. (AP) — The February issue of the magazine "American Hampshire Herdsman" carries a story about the magazine and Paramount Pictures launching a contest for children to find "the country's most humble, radiant, terrific pig."

Youngsters are to send a snapshot of their favorite pig along with a 25-word or less explanation of why they think their pig is the most humble, radiant and terrific.

Prize will be a U.S. Savings bond and an exclusive interview in the Herdsman.

Pollution detectors

NEW YORK (AP) — Fish and petunias may come to rival canaries as pollution detectors.

Nearly everyone knows that canaries have been used to give early warning signals of foul air in mines. Now various plants, including petunias, are being tested in government laboratories at Beltsville, Md., for clues to various airborne pollutants. And Science News reports that fish responses may provide instantaneous gauges of water pollutants.

So, get a move on

HAILSHAM, England (AP) — Frank Garner, 82, was banned from driving for 10 years for going too slowly.

Police told the court here that Garner was traveling along the middle of the main London-Eastbourne highway at 10 m.p.h. Garner pleaded guilty to driving without reasonable consideration for other road users.

Drivers charged after wrecks

Three drivers were cited and property damage was listed as minor in six traffic accidents reported by police and sheriff's departments in the city county area. There were no injuries in the Tuesday crashes.

Both drivers involved in a minor collision in Jeffersonville were cited by sheriff's deputies for traffic law violation.

Officers charged Deborah A. McStowe, 18, Rt. 1, Jeffersonville with improper backing and Robert W. Hall, 18, Rt. 4, with displaying false registration plates following the 4:20 p.m. mishap.

The accident occurred at Walnut and Main Streets when the McStowe car backed to pull into a service station and collided with the front of the Hall car stopped behind, sheriff's deputies said.

Daniel L. Krupla, 19, Rt. 1, Bloomingburg, was charged with improper passing in a two-car crash on Bloomingburg-New Holland Road at Culpepper Trace Tuesday evening.

Sheriff's deputies said a car driven by Kenneth Jr. Penwell, 24, Bloomingburg, was making a left turn onto Culpepper Trace when the Krupla car attempted to pass and collided with the left side of the Penwell car. Damage was moderate.

Other mishaps were:

POLICE

TUESDAY, 11:16 a.m. — A car driven by Harry N. Jacks, 57, Rt. 1, was backing into a parking place on S. Fayette Street and collided with a parked car owned by Adam Everace, Rt. 2; damage minor.

TUESDAY, 12:12 p.m. — Trucks driven by Robin E. Fogle, 20, Delaware, and Lawrence L. Mongold, 21, Rt. 1, Greenfield, were involved in a minor crash on Court Street at the entrance to the Moore's Store lot; damage minor.

TUESDAY, 2:30 p.m. — Pearl L. Bennett, 47, of 422 Lewis St., was pulling from the Union 76 lot onto Market Street, and collided with a parked car owned by Carroll Halliday Inc., 906 Columbus Ave., damage minor.

SHERIFF

TUESDAY, 4:55 p.m. — A car driven by John W. Marcum, 26, Rt. 1, Greenfield, collided with the rear of a simi-rig driven by Dennis A. Highlander, 36, Fairlea, W. Va., at the intersection of U.S. 35 and Ohio 753; damage moderate.

Man sues city schools

CINCINNATI, Ohio (AP) — The father of a 14-year-old Cincinnati girl is suing Princeton City school officials for allegedly exposing his daughter to "promiscuous group sex practices."

Dewey Troy Carroll of suburban Sharonville is seeking $6,500 from school personnel. Carroll claims that a book assigned his daughter contained "offensive material" which resulted in a serious emotional conflict which damaged the girl and to her relationship of her parents.

Carroll is asking $2,500 for himself and $4,000 for the girl.

Carroll contends the book dealt with social atmosphere rather than any technical or "artistic" aspect of rock music.

Arrests

SHERIFF

TUESDAY — Deborah A. McStowe,18, Rt. 1, Jefersonville, improper backing.

Lawrence W. Coates, 27, Xenia, speeding.

WEDNESDAY — Donald R. Fletcher, 26, Frankfort, speeding.

GREETINGS — This cute little fellow is a harbor seal in Shedd Aquarium, Chicago. He was captured near Sable Islands off Halifax, Nova Scotia. He's fed four pounds of herring daily.

Fayette woman held in Clinton burglary

A 23-year-old Fayette County woman was arrested Tuesday afternoon by sheriff's deputies on warrants from Clinton County charging her with grand larceny and burglary of an inhabited dwelling.

Shirley Ann Sims, 23, Rt. 3, was taken into custody at her home and later released to the Wilmington Police Department, who had filed the felony complaints.

Miss Sims and a male accomplice allegedly broke into the Chester Little residence in Wilmington and removed a television set, stereo and numerous other household goods. The burglary occurred March 18.

Wilmington police said Miss Sims is being held in the city jail under $5,000 bond and is scheduled for arraignment Friday.

Betty Myers, of 320 Cherry St., reported to police that someone shot out the front door window of her 1966 model station wagon sometime Monday night. The car was parked at her residence at the time. Damage was set at $140.

Police are also looking for two 17-year-old Washington C.H. juveniles missing from their home since Monday afternoon.

Officers said Kenneth Smith, 227 E. Elm St., and Monty McConkey, 531 E. Elm St., were last seen together about 4 p.m. Monday. Their parents said the pair are believed headed for Springfield, Ill. to see girlfriends.

FBI warrant filed against Ernie Holmes

PITTSBURGH (AP) — The FBI says a federal warrant for the arrest of defensive tackle Ernest Holmes of the Pittsburgh Steelers, stemming from an alleged shooting spree near Salem, Ohio, will not be served for the time being.

An FBI complaint, filed in addition to Ohio charges already pending against Holmes, alleged the destruction of property moving in interstate commerce.

However, Ian D. MacLennan, special agent in charge of the FBI here, said Tuesday night the warrant would not be served now, although he did not eliminate later action.

The 6-foot-3, 250-pound tackle, who shared playing time last year with Ben McGee and who was expected to become a starter this season, is free on $45,000 bond.

He pleaded innocent Monday in Youngstown, Ohio, to one count of shooting a police officer with intent to kill and two counts of shooting at police with intent to kill.

Holmes was arrested Friday night after a four-hour police manhunt in the Salem area for a man believed to have fired several shots at trucks earlier in the day.

RECORD HERALD

Vol. 115 — No. 84 | 22 Pages | Washington Court House, Ohio | 15 Cents | Wednesday, March 21, 1973

Landmark ruling reversed

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Supreme Court today in a 5 to 4 decision upheld the local property tax for financing public schools.

The majority reversed a three-judge federal court which ruled that the Texas system of school finance violates the 14th Amendment's guarantee of equal protection of the laws.

The lower court had ruled that the system discriminates against the poor by making the school quality dependent on local, rather than state wealth.

All states except Hawaii depend in large part on the property tax to finance schools.

Justice Lewis F. Powell Jr., writing for the majority, noted that the court was not endorsing the status quo.

"The need is apparent for reform in tax systems which may well have relied too long and too heavily on the local property tax," Powell wrote. "But the ultimate solution must come from the lawmakers and from the democratic pressures of those who elect them."

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The Ohio Education Association reacted with discouragement today to the U.S. Supreme Court ruling upholding the property tax as the principal means of school financing.

The OEA filed a federal court suit in Columbus last year similar to the Texas case on which the high court acted today.

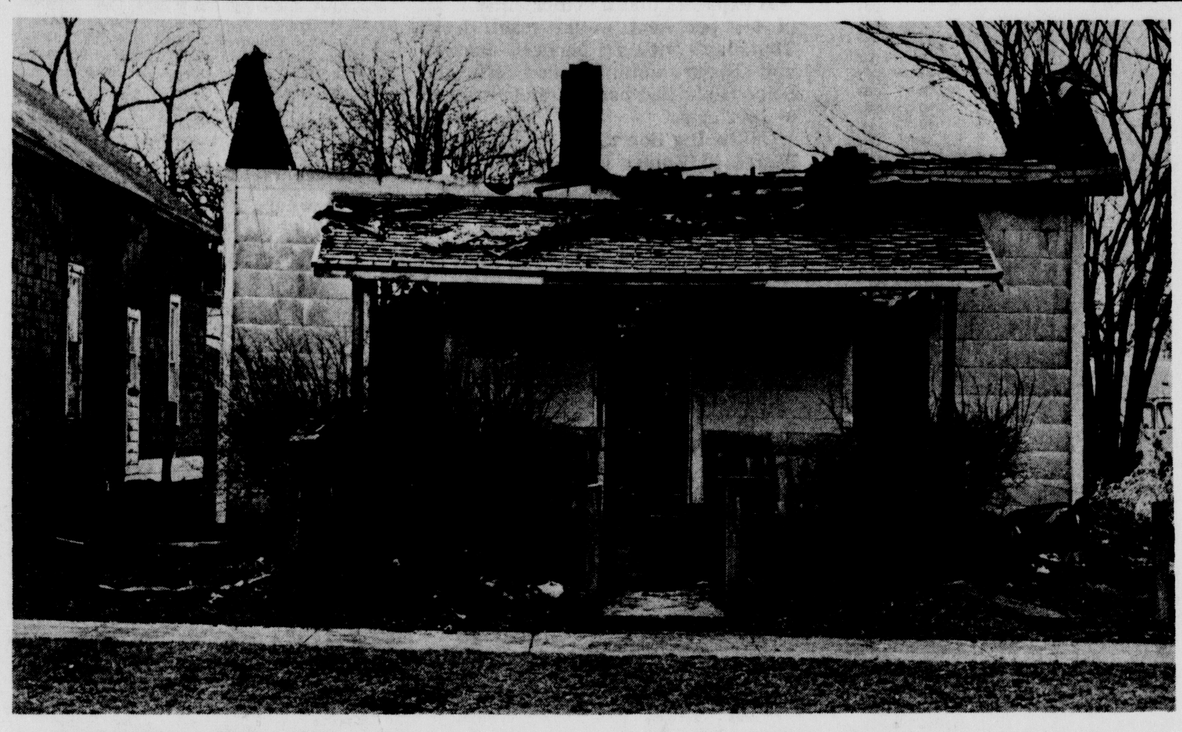
"My immediate reaction," said OEA spokesman John Hall, "is that on a 5-4 ruling, apparently the court is not very decided on what it ought to do."

Hall said the OEA had been operating on the assumption that U.S. District Court Judge Carl Rubin would decide their case "along the same lines" as the U.S. Supreme Court handled the Texas case.

The OEA and the plaintiffs in the Texas suit contended that the property tax violates the constitutional rights of children in poor school districts, where taxes don't generate enough money to adequately fund the public schools.

"I think we will still maintain there is great inequality in educational opportunity and whether you say that it is not a violation of constitutional rights really begs the issue," Hall said.

The U.S. Supreme Court decision said the high court was not endorsing the property tax as the primary method of education financing but any changes would have to come from state legislatures or from Congress.



VACANT HOUSE DESTROYED — This vacant house at 923 E. Temple St., owned by Rodger Chapel AME Church, was consumed by flames early Wednesday morning. Washington C.H. firemen said the blaze is believed to have started around a floor furnace. They said the house was completely engulfed in flames when they arrived on the scene shortly after 4 a.m. The fire also caused an estimated $2,000 damage to the roof and siding of the James Wackman home, left. The vacant house, valued at $10,000, was insured.

Federal fund freeze could hurt Buckeye State's budget plans

By ROBERT E. MILLER
Associated Press Writer

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)— Nixon administration cutbacks in funds that help pay for state programs have raised questions about Ohio's proposed $9.7 billion budget for the two-year state bookkeeping period beginning July 1.

House Finance Chairman Myrl Shoemaker, D-88 Bourneville, mentioned the dilemma Tuesday and said it could be another stumbling block to completion of work by his committee.

"We may have to go ahead and just guess at them for now," he said, noting that any needed adjustments could be made later in the Senate.

Shoemaker's committee is under pressure of House Speaker A. G. Lancione, D-Bellaire, who wants the big spending document out of the House and into the Senate by April 19. A 10-day legislative recess is due to begin that day, but there will be none unless the House finishes the budget, the speaker said.

The Democratic leaders discussed budget problems on a busy legislative day that included developments on several fronts.

—Sen. Donald E. "Buz" Lukens, R-Middletown, introduced a resolution asking the legislature to stand opposed to any federal legislation that would grant amnesty to those who refused military service in the Vietnam War.

—The House passed measures extending the terms of city council presidents, and adding a municipal judge each in the Lorain and Elyria municipal courts. Both bills now go to the Senate.

—Senators approved unanimously a measure that would allow jury service in county courts more than once in a period of 30 days, now limited to once in the statutes.

—Sen. Ronald M. Mottl, D-24 Parma, asked a constitutional amendment that would give Ohio a unicameral legislature of 85 members, claiming a two-chamber body duplicates time, effort, and money.

Shoemaker, whose committee has had the Democratic administration's budget bill since mid-January, said questions are being raised as a result of announcements from Washington that Nixon wants cutbacks in some poverty war and other programs that are built into Ohio's 1973-75 spending plans. Many state programs are paid for in part with federal matching funds.

Shoemaker said he is seeking to determine which federal funds might be cut, and that he has asked the state Department of Finance "for the figures, but I haven't heard from them yet."

Three subsections of the Finance Committee are "moving along pretty well" with interviews of administration officials on spending requests, Shoemaker said.

However, Rep. Fred Young, R-38 Dayton, ranking minority member of the committee, disagreed. He said "we've been having a lot of problems in our section (the general section). There's been something wrong with the request of almost every board or commission that has come before us." Many changes will have to be made, he predicted.

Young predicted the House committee will not finish work on the budget bill "at least until late April."

Lukens, a GOP conservative and former congressman who wants to run for governor next year, offered his anti-amnesty proposal to the Senate, then sought immediate discussion on it.

The Senator was ruled out of order, however, on a Senate rule that requires resolutions "of substance" to be assigned to a Senate committee—unless a majority agrees to immediate discussion. The resolution went to the Senate Judiciary Committee.

Lukens said in his resolution generally that millions of Americans served in Vietnam, many thousands died, and some paid the price of refusal by going to jail.

Senate approves extension of wage-price authority

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate has added federal rent controls for some metropolitan areas but otherwise agreed essentially with President Nixon's inflation-fighting program.

It passed late Tuesday, 85 to 2, a bill extending Nixon's authority to freeze and regulate wages and prices for another year—to April 30, 1974. The bill now goes to the House.

Senators approved rent control, 50 to 38. Sen. Clifford Case, R-N.J., who offered the amendment, said rent increases in urban areas have soared since Jan. 11 when Nixon dropped his mandatory Phase 2 controls in favor of the largely voluntary Phase 3 program.

Basically, rents would be limited to a 2.5-per-cent rise annually where a vacancy rate of 5.5 per cent or less is found.

Landlords could add to the increase their higher costs for utilities, maintenance and improvements.

The president could lift controls in any area after a hearing in the area to reassess the situation.

The controls apply to low and moderate housing. Luxury units—that is, a monthly rental of $500 or higher—and new buildings are exempted.

Each city would have to be studied before controls were imposed. Based on old statistics, Case aides said, some likely areas would be Los Angeles; San Francisco; Denver; Honolulu; Boise, Idaho, and most urban areas of New York; Pennsylvania, and New Jersey.

The last key test before final passage of the bill came on an amendment by Sen. William Proxmire, D-Wis., to freeze wages, prices, rents and interest for six months. It lost 51 to 36.

A supporter of the freeze, Sen. Henry M. Jackson, D-Wash., said that as things look now the future holds "tight money, high interest, a recession."

"The only sensible thing to do is to take this rather drastic step and provide the shock the economy needs so badly," Jackson said.

Broad oil industry rules under study by Congress

WASHINGTON (AP) — Fearful that fuel shortages may cut competition in the oil industry, Congress is considering giving President Nixon power to allocate oil products among distributors and to ration them to consumers.

The Nixon administration has stated no intention to take either step but has contingency plans ready should rationing— not seen in the United States since World War II—become necessary. There are unconfirmed reports that gasoline-rationing tickets are being printed.

The Senate voted 50 to 30 Monday to retain fuel-allocation and rationing authority in a bill, passed Tuesday, extending the president's wage-price-restraint power for one year.

The provision is now on its way to hearings before the House Banking Committee where, congressional sources say, the nation's major oil companies are expected to wage a major fight against it.

The allocation proposal was authored by Sen. Thomas F. Eagleton, D-Mo., and is being pushed by lobbyists for the nation's small, independent marketing of oil and gas.

The Eagleton proposal would give the president authority to set up an emergency board to allocate petroleum products among all companies and to all sections of the country on a more-or-less equal basis.

Fighting to strip the allocation proposal from the bill was Sen. John Tower, R-Tex., who said the market-price system "has proven to be the best allocation device in history." Trying to intervene in that system with rationing or controls has always caused worse shortages, Tower said.

Eagleton and oil-industry critics contend threatened shortages will give the industry's major firms life-and-death power over the independents, many of whom have sold oil and gasoline at cut rates.

The market-price system works fine during normal times, Eagleton said. "But in a period of shortages, I submit, it is a policy which would make rich men of a few and beggars of the rest of us."

A spokesman for Eagleton says the senator sees no need at present "for consumer rationing at the pump level." But Eagleton says the shortage already is serious enough—and threatens to become far more serious this summer—that a system for allocating oil products at the distribution level should be set up.

Prisoners end pen outbreak

MOUNDSVILLE, W.Va. (AP) — Inmates who had taken five guards hostage ended their rebellion at West Virginia Penitentiary today, Gov. Arch A. Moore Jr. reported. One inmate was fatally stabbed and two others wounded during the 24-hour uprising.

Moore emerged from the century-old prison with the five guards, who were pale but did not appear to be roughed up, after their day in captivity.

Moore said that to his knowledge only one inmate was dead, and identified him as Willy Hale of Charleston. Asked how Hale died, he said "I can't respond to that. It was very brutal."

Moore said the inmates' list of demands presented at this morning's negotiations totaled 10, but there were two which "under no circumstances could I agree to."

He said those two demands were for freedom from prosecution in connection with the disturbance, and for the right to carry as much money or cash with them in the prison as they wanted to.

The governor described the remaining demands posed by the inmates as "only humane and fair, in some respects."

Some 40 National Guardsmen and an unknown number of state troopers had surrounded the prison after it was taken over by the inmates Tuesday morning.

He said the inmates had agreed to return "to their former circumstances," which he said he interpreted as meaning they would return to their security cells.

One of the five hostage guards, Lloyd Miller, said they "never were touched" by the inmates. He said five or six of the inmates stood by them at all times.

The other four guards were identified as Larry O'Neill, Billy Richard Thomas, Basil Raley and Alfred Fernandez. Moore said he had telephoned their wives late Tuesday to assure them every effort was being made to free their husbands.

Prices rise at Korean War rate

WASHINGTON (AP) — Led by a record one-month increase in grocery prices, consumer prices went up in February at the steepest rate since the Korean War, the government said today.

The Bureau of Labor Statistics said the Consumer Price Index surged by eight-tenths of one per cent on a seasonally adjusted basis last month, marking the biggest monthly increase in the cost of living since February 1951.

Food prices over-all went up by 2.2 per cent seasonally adjusted, the biggest rise since February 1951. But food purchased in grocery stores jumped by 2.4 per cent, the steepest on record.

The bureau added that the increase in meats, poultry and fish bought at grocery stores accelerated, rising by 5 per cent in one month.

The price report was a stunning blow to President Nixon's inflation fighters, and reflected the sharp increases in food at the wholesale level in recent months.

But even without the big increase in food prices, the consumer price report was bad. There were sizable increases also in non-food commodities and services.

On an unadjusted basis, consumer prices surged by seven-tenths of one per cent, the highest monthly increase since March 1969. Food prices, on the same basis, increased by a sharp 1.9 per cent, the biggest since January's 2.1 per cent.

The BLS said that with the exception of eggs, prices of most kinds of food rose substantially in February. Meat, poultry, cereal and bakery products rose more than usual. There were also sharp increases in dairy products and fresh vegetables.

The prices of non-food commodities increased by three-tenths of one per cent after a decline in January. On an adjusted basis, the bureau said, the increase was even sharper—five-tenths of one per cent.

Prices of services also accelerated, increasing at a four-tenths of one per cent rate, double the previous month.

2 airmen die

CLOVIS, N.M. (AP) — Two F111 swing-wing fighter planes collided over Arizona, killing at least two Air Force officers.

Soviets may try to upstage U.S. orbit of skylab in May

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Russians may try to overshadow the launching of the first U.S. Skylab by orbiting a space station of their own a month or so earlier, some Pentagon specialists say.

They make their assessment on the basis of two Soviet instrument ships deploying into the Atlantic recently.

The Gagarin and the Komarov, described by U.S. experts as Russian space-support ships, were sighted sailing from the Black Sea and were tracked by U.S. patrol planes as they steamed through the Mediterranean. Dish-type antennae and other special electronic gear topside made them easy to identify.

Reports said the ships traveled at high speed, suggesting they were on an urgent mission.

This could indicate that the Soviets are planning a space voyage soon, perhaps in April, to claim the world's interest before the first Skylab is fired into earth orbit in mid-May.

That Skylab is planned to stay in orbit for 28 days while American astronauts perform various scientific projects in a shirt-sleeve environment. Two Skylab voyages of 56 days each are to be flown later, if all goes well.

An atmosphere of U.S.-Soviet competition prevailed in the early years of space exploration, but in recent years the trend seems to have moved toward U.S.-Soviet cooperation in civilian space research. The two countries have scheduled a joint U.S.-Soviet space mission for 1975.

Probe hexachlorophene deaths

By STEVEN A. COHEN
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — The deaths of 15 persons in the United States have been associated with the external use of medical cleansing agents containing the germ killer hexachlorophene, according to federal records.

In most instances, the cleansing agent was pHisoHex which contains 3 per cent hexachlorophene, the records show. The manufacturer said the deaths were "not pHisoHex deaths."

The Food and Drug Administration in September banned hexachlorophene (HCP) from all but prescription products, but did not tell newsmen of HCP's association with the 15 U.S. deaths although it was aware of them.

The FDA did cite the deaths of 39 French infants and a university study correlating frequent bathings with HCP solutions and brain lesions. The ban covered over-the-counter sale of popular deodorant products containing HCP.

Asked why the FDA did not cite the 15 US. deaths, an agency spokesman said the French and university reports formed "the important data."

"Our action was fully responsive on the basis of the data as it was being developed," the spokesman said.

At no point do FDA records list the germ killer as cause of the 15 deaths which occurred between 1954-71. They are reported in a September 1972 FDA summary under a category entitled, "Fatal Reactions Associated With Topical Use" of HCP.

The summary also lists several nonfatal reactions and other deaths associated with accidental swallowing of products containing HCP.

Many of the 15 deaths occurred during a period when Winthrop Laboratories, manufacturer of pHisoHex, was not reporting to the FDA any adverse reactions to the product.

Asked about the deaths, an official of Sterling Drug, Inc., which owns Winthrop Laboratories, said in a telephone interview that the deaths noted in the FDA report "are not pHisoHex deaths."

"Just because someone happens to be bathing with hexacholorophene at the time he dies doesn't mean he dies from hexachlorophene," said Dr. Monroe Trout, Sterling's medical director.

The FDA records on fatal reactions associated with HCP cite instances in hospitals of the use of pHisoHex on

Deaths, Funerals

Miss Oma Bryant

Miss Oma Bryant, 85, of Washington C. H., died at 8:30 a.m. Wednesday in the Margaret Clark Oakfield Convalescent Center where she had been a patient the last three years.

She was born in Fayette County and had spent most of her life here and in Dayton. She was a member of the United Methodist Church.

Her closest surviving relatives are a brother, Bennett Bryant, of New Holland; a sister, Mrs. Audree Girton, 517 Mayfair Dr.; a nephew; two nieces, a great niece and two great nephews.

Services will be held at 1:30 p.m. Friday in the Kirkpatrick Funeral Home, Washington C. H., and burial will be in New Holland Cemetery. Friends may call at the funeral home from 4 to 9 p.m. Thursday.

Vannie N. McMurry

GREENFIELD — Vannie N. McMurr y, 86, Rt. 2, died at 9:20 p.m. Tuesday in Greenfield Manor Convalescent Center following a year of failing health.

Born in Pike County, he was a retired farmer.

He is survived by his wife, Minnie Mae Williams McMurry; a son, Charles E. McMurry, Rt. 2; two daughters, Mrs. Elva (Margaret) Mercer and Mrs. Phil (Donna) Smith, both of Rt. 2; 10 grandchildren; 21 great-grandchildren; a great-great grandson, and three sisters, Mrs. Florence Brigner, of Beaver, Mrs. Arch (Mae) Smith and Mrs. Flossie Smith, both of Greenfield.

Services will be held at 2 p.m. Friday in the Murray Funeral Home with the Rev. Robert K. Blaine, pastor of the Evangelical United Brethern Church, officiating. Burial will be in Greenfield Cemetery. Friends may call at the funeral home after 4 p.m. Thursday.

Mrs. Thomas Randolph

She was the daughter of Dewey and Louise Webb Smith, Rt. 1, Mount Sterling, and was an employe of the Montgomery Ward Store in Washington C.H.

Surviving besides her husband, Thomas, and her parents, are two sisters, Mrs. Darrell (Jean) Furniss, Orient, and Mrs. Donald (Ann) Woods, of Jeffersonville, and two brothers, Wilbur, of Mount Sterling and Jay E., of Washington C.H.

Friends may call at the Porter Funeral Home after 7 p.m. Wednesday. Services will be held there at 1:30 p.m. Friday. The Rev. Charles Hill, of the Jeffersonville United Methodist Church, will officiate. Burial will be in Madison Mills Cemetery.

The family suggests contributions be made to the Kidney Foundation Memorial Fund.

Mrs. David L. Ford

Mrs. Kathryn (Kaye) Ford, 53, of Columbus, died Tuesday in Riverside Hospital, Columbus, shortly after being admitted.

Survivors include her husband, David L.; a daughter, Marcia Ford, of Columbus; two sons, James, of Lancaster, and Richard, at home; a granddaughter, and her mother-in-law, Mrs. W.B. Ford of Stuckey Rd.

Services will be held at 1:30 p.m. Friday in the North Chapel of the Shaw-Davis Funeral Home on N. High Street, Columbus. Burial will be in Mifflin Township Cemetery. Friends may call at the funeral home Thursday and until the time of services on Friday.

S. Blaine Ater

WILLIAMSPORT — S. Blaine Ater, 88, died at 12:30 p.m. Tuesday in the Valley View Nursing Home, Frankfort, where he had been a patient three months. He had been ill a year.

Born in Ross County, he had spent most of his life in Williamsport. He was a retired railroader.

His wife, Blanche Bateman Ater, died in 1960. He is survived by a sister, Mrs. John (Ethel) Burns, of Chillicothe, nine nieces and two nephews.

Services will be held at 10 a.m. Friday in the Kirkpatrick Funeral Home, New Holland, with the Rev. Richard Crosby, pastor of the Williamsport United Methodist Church, officiating. Burial will be in Springlawn Cemetery here. Friends may call at the funeral home from 4 until 8 p.m. Thursday.

Lakes season

BUFFALO (AP) — The Great Lakes shipping season was opened Tuesday when the 424-foot freighter E. M. Ford steamed out of Buffalo harbor onto ice-free Lake Erie.

The first freighter to leave Buffalo last year waited until April 9 and even then the lake was choked with ice.

About a dozen other freighters still were tied up here and were not expected to sail before early April.

Capital gains tax change urged to spur investment

WASHINGTON (AP) — The New York Stock Exchange today proposed easing capital gains taxes on property held a long time before its sale.

James J. Needham, exchange board chairman, said such a provision would produce more revenue for the Treasury by encouraging persons locked into investments that have increased in value to sell and reinvest, meanwhile realizing their gains and paying taxes on them.

Needham's proposal was contained in testimony prepared for the House Ways and Means Committee's tax reform hearings.

Chairman Wilbur D. Mills, D-Ark., has invited proposals for capital gains tax changes, one of the main subjects of the hearings, and has indicated interest in a sliding scale of gains taxation.

In general, capital gains now are taxed, in effect, at half the rates on ordinary income. An individual taxpayer is allowed to include in taxable income only half the gain he realizes by selling securities, real estate or other property, provided he has owned it at least six months.

Needham suggested a scale under which gain from assets held six months to five years would continue to be included at 50 per cent.

Thereafter, the amount included in taxable income would drop 5 per cent for each five years the asset had been held until after 30 years only 20 per cent would be included.

Alternatively, the inclusion rate might be reduced one percentage point for each year of holding, he said.

"Since no one could possibly dissect all the investors' motives ... precise estimates of the impact on federal revenues are impossible. But all evidence points to an increase," Needham said.

He said the exchange has commissioned a study of revenue effects, which it hopes to have completed in time for the committee's deliberations on a tax reform bill.

burns and in enemas and vaginal packs.

In taking action against HCP in September, the FDA noted reports that said the French infants died as a result of baby powder accidentally containing 6 per cent HCP, double the intended dose.

The FDA also cited a University of Washington report which showed "a positive correlation between three or more exposures to hexachlorophene bathing with 3 per cent hexachlorophene emulsion and lesions found in the brain stem in premature infants who died of unrelated causes."

Widely used in hospitals for more than 20 years, HCP increasingly in recent years came into use in a variety of deodorant cosmetics and soaps.

In December 1971 the FDA sent a drug bulletin to 600,000 doctors and other health professionals, warning them to discontinue use of products such as pHisoHex in routine bathing of infants and adults.

The bulletin cited studies by Winthrop which showed that monkeys bathed in a 3 per cent HCP solution for 90 days had developed brain lesions.

In January 1972, the FDA announced in a press release that all skin cleansing products containing more than .75 per cent HCP would be restricted to prescription use only.

That news release, dated Jan. 6, 1972, said:

"In announcing today's decisions, Charles C. Edwards, M.D., the commissioner of Food and Drugs, emphasized: 'The FDA is not aware of any harm to humans from the use of HCP under recommended or normal conditions of use'."

municipal council presidents in Ohio's non-charter cities from two to four years.

Rep. Leonard J. Camera, D-53 Lorain, won floor approval after explaining that 90 affected cities have mayors elected to four-year terms, and that the head of a city's legislative authority succeeds the mayor upon the latter's death or removal from office.

Over Camera's objections, Rep. Robert E. Levitt, R-70 Canton, won approval of a floor amendment that would require that a city's electorate would have to approve the change. Levitt said Canton "doesn't want" to extend the term and is among the non-charter cities that would be affected. His amendment carried 47-43.

The House voted 99-1, with Rep. Alan E. Norris, R-27 Westerville, dissenting, to add one municipal judge each to the Lorain and Elyria municipal courts. Rep. Donald J. Pease, D-54 Oberlin, the bill's sponsor, said those cities are near or have surpassed the 100,000 population requirement for a second municipal judge.

Pease cited unofficial figures of their current populations that showed Elyria with 104,892 and Lorain with 99,238. In any case, he said municipal court caseloads "among the heaviest in the state" justified the addition of a judge in each city.

Plane sought

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP)— The U. S. Coast Guard said it was conducting a search of western Lake Erie today for a twin-engine plane reported missing on a flight from Cleveland to Detroit.

The plane, owned by Buckeye Air Service, Inc., of Cleveland, left here at 10 p.m. Tuesday and was reported missing when it failed to arrive at Detroit Metropolitan Airport.

Weekend POW releases slated

SAIGON (AP) — The Viet Cong delegation announced tonight that the last group of American prisoners held by the Communist side will be released Saturday and Sunday at Hanoi's Gia Lam airport.

The U.S. Command said that according to its records, the Communists still hold 147 American prisoners, including 140 military men and seven civilians.

But it was unclear whether the actual number released might be a few higher. The Pentagon had disclosed earlier that two U.S. Navy fliers formerly listed as missing in action are now carried as POWs. They were shot down over the northern quarter of South Vietnam a few days before the cease-fire went into effect Jan. 27.

The Viet Cong spokesman said that at least one of the POWs being released by the Viet Cong was captured on Jan. 26, the day before the signing of the peace agreement in Paris. But he gave no other details.

The Viet Cong spokesman said a list of 31 American prisoners captured in South Vietnam to be released at Gia Lam airport in Hanoi on Saturday would be turned over to the United States on Thursday.

North Vietnam will release the last group of Americans it holds, also at Gia Lam, on Sunday, thus completing the American repatriation three days ahead of the March 28 deadline set by the Paris peace agreement.

The Communist side previously had released 439 American prisoners, both military and civilian.

One reason the United States is seeking the last official lists from both North Vietnam and the Viet Cong is to ascertain if there have been any additions or deletions from the original list of 585 presented to the United States on the day the agreement was signed.

In South Vietnam, several thousand South Vietnamese troops with tanks and bomber support were advancing to lift the siege of a government outpost 30 miles north of Saigon, the South Vietnamese command announced today.

It was only the second time in the 53 days of the cease-fire that Saigon has admitted to major operations, although the Communist side has accused South Vietnamese forces of scores of land-grabbing maneuvers in violation of the peace agreement.

A South Vietnamese spokesman said the operation to relieve the post at Rach Bap was launched late Monday, and advance units were within half a mile of the outpost. He said he had no reports of major contact yet but the situation there was "much improved."

The Saigon command also has threatened to launch operations to lift the artillery siege of another outpost 30 miles farther north, at the Tong Le Chan camp.

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Flood warnings are in effect for the western Lake Erie shore, the National Weather Service reported today. The service said cool and cloudy weather will prevail today, with better conditions just ahead.

The service's Ohio weather outlook:

Cool again over the state under variable cloudiness north and cloudy skies and some light snow near the Chesapeake area. During the night some light rain fell near the Ohio River, changing to light snow during the early morning. This precipitation and cloudiness in the south is the receding edge from a low pressure area which moved across Tennessee yesterday and is near to Western Carolinas today.

The precipitation is expected to end in the Chesapeake area this morning with generally cloudy and cool weather to rule the day. Temperatures have been in the upper teens to lower 20s in the north and near 30 in the south again over the state during the night.

The large high pressures area from central Canada through the Great Lakes will continue the northeasterly floor of cool air over Ohio. This northeast flow has again caused the water levels of western Lake Erie to rise during the night and lake shore flood warnings are in effect for the western Lake Erie shore from Maumee Bay to Vermilion.

Lake levels are at the critical level for flooding of low lying areas upstream from mouths of rivers and streams along the lake shore. Persons in those low lying areas should take appropriate precautions.

The northeast winds will become more northerly and lake levels will subside during the afternoon.

Otherwise cloudiness will tend to decrease over the state and somewhat warmer temperature are in prospect for Thursday under generally sunny skies. Temperatures reaching the mid 40s north to low 50s in the south.

Stock list holds gain

The Dow Jones average of 30 industrials at noon was up 3.76 at 953.19, while advances led declines on the New York Stock Exchange by about 3 and 2.

"The market is rebounding after four down days" in which the Dow fell some 30 points, said Robert Stovall, analyst with Reynolds Securities Inc. He said investors also were getting used to the idea of a higher prime rate, though it was expected that a compromise level of 6½ per cent would result from Thursday's meeting between bankers and Nixon administration officials. Some banks had boosted their rates to 6¾ per cent.

On The American Stock Exchange, the price-change index was up .01 to 24.54, while the Big Board index was up .10 to 59.93.

Michel wins fight for GOP post

WASHINGTON (AP) — Rep. Robert H. Michel, R-Ill., was elected chairman of the House Republican Campaign Committee today, giving him control over the purse strings for GOP candidates in the next congressional election.

Michel's only opponent, Rep. Clarence J. Brown, R-Ohio, immediately offered to resign as recruitment chairman of the committee.

Michel's election came during a closed meeting of the committee. The vote totals were not made public.

Brown, 45, who replaced his late father in the House seven years ago, earlier was considered in line for the committee chairmanship.

Defused, but still dangerous

Those who pooh-poohed talk of a United States population explosion when so many warnings about it were issued a few years ago are now enjoying an orgy of I-told-you-sos. The nation's birth rate has descended to a record low point. In consequence the conventional wisdom now is that we can stop worrying about the excessive-population scare.

The matter is not quite that simple. Short-range demographic changes tend to be inaccurate as a basis for prediction. It is true that the rate at which our population is growing has sharply declined in recent years: whereas the three-child family was about the average of 1965, women generally are now bearing only two children. A switch back to three-child families might well occur in the next eight or 10 years, however; there is no guarantee that the present state of affairs will continue over the long haul.

Some comparative figures are instructive. A population analyst for the Rand Corporation, Peter A. Morrison, recently elaborated on this aspect on the matter in the Los Angeles Times. Should the two-child average persist, he noted, our population would rise by a mere 61 million to around 271 million by the end of the century. But should the three-child family become predominant again, the U. S. population would rise to some 322 million by century's end.

Morrison makes one particularly interesting point. Noting that we really don't know quite why the dramatic shift since 1965 has occurred, he writes: "The explanation is more than birth control pills and abortions — those are just the tools for limiting births. The real reasons for the current low birth rate lie in attitudes, and the way they are formed are much harder to understand." Morrison concludes that "however defused the 'population bomb' may seem right now, even a slight relaxation of attitudes toward family planning could still result in its detonation." That is something we should not forget.

A WORD EDGEWISE . . . by John P. Roche

A tale of two cities

NEW YORK — Although both my wife and I grew up in greater New York, we have spent very little time here since our marriage in 1947. Until my parents died, we made ritual visits to Brooklyn, but basically we have been here for only one or two-day trips in which our time was thoroughly booked: we would hardly set foot out of a section of Manhattan 40 blocks long and 5 blocks wide.

This is set down as background for what may seem to many readers as the rediscovery of the wheel — that New York which we recalled nostalgically as a great center of urbanity now resembles an Indian reservation. Posh fortress areas are surrounded by not just slums — the world slum has a connotation of habitation — but by whole areas of abandoned buildings. As one drives in on the Bruckner Expressway (which I never expected to see completed in my lifetime), he gets a first vivid contrast. On one side is Co-Op City, a huge brand-new apartment complex, glistening in the spring sunshine. On the other is the Hunt's Point section of the Bronx, one of the most crime-ridden, desolate, and God-forsaken slums in the city.

YOU ARE SUDDENLY reminded of the medieval city with its moat, walls, and drawbridges. And indeed a friend tells me that the inhabitants of Co-Op City have what is in effect a private army to protect them from organized assaults. Not merely wandering burglars, but armed bands of guerrillas from Hunt's Point. Visiting another friend's home is like getting into CIA Headquarters; you turn a key, a light goes on and you have 60 seconds to get inside andsned a coded message — a certain sequence of pushes on a button — to a private protection agency.

The condition of the city had never registered before because we got around so little. What triggered off this discouraging essay was that this time we decided to take a trip. Tucked away in Fort Tryon Park on a bluff overlooking the Hudson, just north of the George Washington Bridge, is one of the most spectacular museums in the world: the Cloisters. It is literally composed of transplanted medieval architecture: one gorgeous apse is on loan from Spain and I suppose that some day it will be dismantled stone by stone and returned. In the building are gems from the Metropolitan Museum's superb collection of medieval art and artifacts.

Oddly enough my wife had never been there, and the last time I made the trip was during World War II when I had a girl friend who thrived on medievalism. So I promised Connie to take some time off and head up to the Cloisters. One thing I remembered: getting there (without a car) is no mean accomplishment. The best option on paper — the 8th Avenue subway Express—drops you off at the foot of the hill where the Cloisters sit. You can rope up and start the endless climb, or pray for a miracle: a cab to take you the last vertical half mile.

Then there is the Fifth Ave. bus which, I recalled, will take you all the way from Penn Station and drop you at the front door of the Cloisters. In my memory this was a double-decker and with luck you could get the upstairs from seat and enjoy the world. To make a long story short, we picked up the bus on Madison (Fifth is now one-way the wrong way) and off we went. It was a dreadful, one-hour ride, but in sociological terms we each got our 35 cents worth.

That bus wandered through an urban world we did not know existed. Initially, it is a pretty ritzy area, then — as you work your way north — you get a sense of Hobbes' "state of nature." Stores will steel grates over the windows where customers ring a bell and the proprietor — holding a police dog — carefully opens the door.

But at least this was populated: there were children playing and some feeling of vitality. Then came the other side of the moon: whole desolate blocks composed of buildings that seemed to be holding each other up. Every window broken, grafitti everywhere, and no people. (An expert on the subject tells me most of these buildings belong to the city — their owners let them go for the taxes.) By the time we got to Riverside Drive, we were both in a state of depression: "Good Lord, what has happened to OUR city?"

The Cloisters were worth the trip and the angst. But I suggest to any reader who wants to see them that he grab the A train, get off at 200th St., and do a little mountain climbing.

WASHINGTON CALLING . . . by Marquis Childs

America divided on amnesty

WASHINGTON — On the highly emotional issue of amnesty for draft evaders President Nixon has overwhelming support for his adament refusal to compromise. No poll is required to show how deep the feeling runs.

In response to a column suggesting that in accord with past precedent a way might be found to allow the evaders who fled abroad to be rehabilitated, letters have come from around the country. By as much as three to one they take a stern stand against any compromise. Those who fled must pay the penalty under the law.

Thank goodness, we have a strong President and not a weak one, a woman writes from Pennsylvania. She goes on:

"My youngest son went when his country called, as his father and I taught him, 'God and country first.' He lay in hospitals overseas for four months and then came home for two more operations. Yes, he is fine now, but will always carry the wounds of war with him. Nevertheless, we are very proud of him, but had he chosen to turn his back on country and family he would be dead as far as we, his parents, would be concerned."

From Kentucky a reader writes, challenging any precedent between the amnesty granted by Lincoln for the Confederate forces at the end of the Civil War and amnesty for Vietnam evaders:

"My people were Kentucky Unionists but would have resented, even as I do, your comparison of amnesty for the South with amnesty for the yellow so-and-sos who cut and run for Canada and elsewhere when faced with duty to their country. The Southerners did not take off for parts unknown but stayed to fight for what they thought was right."

OTHERS REACTED different. A woman reader in San Diego, who lost a son in Vietnam, phoned to ask how she could help persuade the President to modify his stand against any compromises. And she said she spoke for a friend who had also lost a son.

A letter from a reader in Buffalo endorsed the statement in my column that a way must be found to insure that the thousands of young who fled shall not forever be barred from the United States or returned to face the certainty of long prison terms. He writes:

"What I can't understand is the utter vindictiveness of President Nixon who occasionally speaks of himself as a birthright Quaker. Although I'm not a Quaker and had only the slightest contacts with any, I was born in Philadelphia, the most historic city in the country. From early grades in school we learned to respect William Penn. Further, President Hoover always seemed to me to be honest and forthright, but I've seen a few news accounts in which Philadelphia Quakers questioned the standing of Mr. Nixon."

As happens after every war the deep hatreds, the passions, boiling beneath the surface do not subside with the stroke of the pen that ends the war. They are, as we see today, a powerful force and, unhappily as history has shown, they nourish the seeds of yet another war.

THE RETURN of the American prisoners from North Vietnam is the occasion for an emotional outpouring which is hardly surprising. Whether the homecoming is carefully stage-managed by the military, as has been reported, or not, no one can begrudge these courageous men who endured so much the rewards of freedom after in some instances six and seven years of imprisonment.

But inasmuch as the fervent outpouring shown on the nation's television screens contributes to unthinking patriotism, and conversely to hatred of the enemy, it can be self-defeating for the basic postwar policy of the Administration. When he returned from his mission to Hanoi Henry A. Kissinger, the President's adviser on national security, made an eloquent plea for rehabilitation of North Vietnam with American help. As he pointed out, the North Vietnamese leaders have known nothing but war. To encourage them to participate in a peaceful world should be a major objective of American policy.

If reports out of Saigon of the continuing large-scale movement of weapons down the Ho Chi Minh trail are true, these leaders seem unwilling to learn the lesson of peace. But if Administration policy fails, and Congress now seems unlikely to vote any funds for the Communist North, we shall have no test of the peaceful experiment and the threat of a renewed war will hang heavy over Southeast Asia.

"TIGHTWAD!"

Hal Boyle . . . A gunfighter named Willy

By JEFFREY D. ALDERMAN
Associated Press Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — Little Willy Undermeyer may not have been much good at sandlot baseball. He may not have been able to balance his bike without training wheels. But he played one hell of a game of cowboys.

Not that his style was particularly flashy. No, Willy was not the white stallion kind of cowboy. Nor was he especially good at outdrawing the other preschool gunslingers in the neighborhood. Willy's specialty was "circling around" and there wasn't a 6-year-old in town who was better.

Maybe Willy was the best because he had the most patience. It took awhile for circling around to pay off. A kid of less durability might make a mad rush up the hill at the enemy. Maybe the kid would end up getting everybody with a flurry of verbalized gunshots. Maybe not. Jackie Sheehy was such a rash player.

"Dah! Dah! I got you!" Jackie, playing a fierce Geronimo, would shout as he bounded for a fortress of empty milk crates held by Terry Maher and four fellow members of the U.S. Cavalry, Toddler Division.

"Yah did not!," came Terry's inevitable retort. "You weren't pointing your gun at me."

"Was so."

"Was not."

Then Pee Wee Ruggles, a 5-year-old who sucked his trigger finger, would whiningly interject: "You're wrong, Jackie Sheehy, you're wrong. You're supposed to say 'bang, bang,' not 'dah, dah.' Who ever heard a gun go 'dah, dah' anyhow?"

While the others argued the pros and cons of "dah, dah" and "bang, bang," Willy would begin circling around. He would take them so completely by surprise that he would be able to say both "bang, bang" and "dah, dah" before anybody could get his genuine Roy Rodgers six-shooter out of its plastic holster.

There had been disasters. Once he emerged triumphantly from the underbrush, reached for his trusty repeater and found he had lost it while circling. Another time, just as he was about to capture some ferocious, three-foot dangerous desparadoes near Harry Billips' sandbox, his mother called him for dinner. Willy obediently answered "Coming, mother," blew his cover and took three slugs from Terry Maher.

But on this particular day, everything was working perfectly.

Willy's forearms were scraped raw by the brambles he had crawled through. His face was covered with dirt and his nose was running. He had torn his new corduroys at one knee.

"Dah! Dah! Bang! Bang!" he screamed. "Got you, got you all!"

It was a masterful job of circling around. Four outlaws had bit the dust.

At Inuvik, N. W. T., Canada, homes are built on wooden piles or pads of gravel so they will not melt the permafrost.

DAILY CRYPTOQUOTE – Here's how to work it:

is L O N G F E L L O W

One letter simply stands for another. In this sample A is used for the three L's, X for the two O's, etc. Single letters, apostrophes, the length and formation of the words are all hints. Each day the code letters are different.

Dear Abby:

ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

Someone should crack down on chiropractor

DEAR ABBY: I have always had a great deal of faith in chiropractic treatment, so naturally when my 15-year-old daughter suffered a bad whiplash in an auto accident I took her to a local chiropractic clinic where I paid in advance for a series of treatments. (She still has six to go.)

She was an hour late getting home from her last treatment and I was worried sick. When she got home I asked her some questions and she started to cry. Then she told me everything (I hope.)

She said the chiropractor insisted on showing her his new apartment near the clinic. She said all the walls were covered with pictures of nudes from Playboy magazine. She told me he showed her his bedroom in which he had a huge waterbed, and he asked her to bounce on it a few times just to get the feel of it. She said he kept touching her and she could tell he was getting aroused, so she ran out, saying she had to get home.

If my husband were alive he'd know what to do about this nut. I can't let her go back there. What should I do? I trust you.

HEARTSICK IN FLORIDA

DEAR HEARTSICK: This "nut" is accountable to the state Chiropractic Association. Report him. And for good measure, report him to the American Chiropractic Association, 2200 Grand Ave., Des Moines, Ia. 50312. There are a few kooks in every profession and the ethical ones will appreciate your reporting the clinckers.

DEAR ABBY: Last year I was a volunteer for the American Cancer Society Crusade. While working on the campaign I learned more about the "danger signals" and made an appointment for my husband to see a doctor. Immediately following the examination he was operated on for cancer. Thank God they caught it in the early stages. And thank God I volunteered. Believe me, when they called me again this year I said yes!

GOT MORE THAN I GAVE

DEAR ABBY: If you had friends who used your expensive cocktail table for a footstool, what would you say or do?

BUGGED

DEAR BUGGED: I would say, "Please don't."

DEAR ABBY: I am a graduate student. I'm bald-headed but I've been wearing a hairpiece for nearly a year. It is so natural-looking that when people who knew me before see me for the first time with the hairpiece on, they think I have new eyeglasses or something-they don't realize it's my hair.

The problem is how (and when) to let a girl know that I wear a hairpiece.

I don't think it's necessary to tell every girl I date about it, but when I start going seriously with a girl, she has to be told. But how? And when?

ANONYMOUS

DEAR ANONYMOUS: At the point of getting serious.

Problems? You'll feel better if you get it off your chest. For a personal reply, write to ABBY, Box No. 69700, L.A., Calif. 90069. Enclose stamped, self-addressed envelope please.

Today In History

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Today is Wednesday, March 21, the 80th day of 1973. There are 285 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history:

On this date in 1829, an earthquake in Spain killed some 6,000 persons.

On this date —

In 1685, the composer Johann Sebastian Bach was born in Germany.

In 1803, the French civil code, the Code Napoleon, was completed.

Ten years ago: President John F. Kennedy sent telegrams to 23 governors urging them to try to get their legislatures to do away with the poll tax.

One year ago: The U.S. Supreme Court ruled that states could not set one-year residence as a requirement for voting.

Thought for today: It is easier to do a job right than to explain why you didn't — President Martin van Buren, 1782-1862.

The egg came before the chicken. Birds evolved from reptile stock that was laying eggs millions of years before the first prehistoric bird flew, the National Geographic Society says.

MRS. SHARON CURL

Former resident is engaged

Eddie Pendergraft, 508 Carolyn Rd., and Mrs. Edna Pendergraft, Tucson, Ariz., announce the engagement and approaching marriage of their daughter, Mrs. Sharon Curl, to Dr. Colin R. Bamford, also of Tucson, formerly of Africa.

Mrs. Curl is employed by the Southwest Cardio-Thoracic Surgery Ltd., Tucson, and Dr. Bamford is a neurologist at the University of Arizona.

A May wedding is being planned.

Challengers meet attracts 47

The Christian Challengers Class and the High School Youth group of South Side Church of Christ met in Fellowship Hall for a covered dish dinner and fellowship hour. There were 47 members and guests for dinner and recreation which followed.

Jeff Smithson provided jokes for a "Laugh In," and a comedy skit entitled "An Evening with Grandma" was presented by Jana Bolender, Gloria Bolender, Linda Hollingsworth, Marilyn Creamer, Christy Davis, Robyn Leslie, Kevin Blair, Joy Burns and Keri Clay. The group all participated in games after which Jerry Sears accompanied himself on the guitar for some "fun" folk songs with audience participation.

Randy Creamer led the group singing and also sang a solo, "Sheltered in the Love of Jesus" with his own guitar accompaniment.

Kevin Blair gave the devotions. Dr. John T. F. Jordan, president of the class, conducted a brief business meeting at which the members voted to purchase a school bus for youth work and to meet as a group to paint Fellowship Hall.

Mr. and Mrs. Phil Johnson will be hosts at the next meeting.

WSG holds surprise shower

"Spring Training for Christians" was the devotions topic presented by Mrs. Helen Van Zant at the meeting of Wesleyan Service Guild in Church.

Mrs. C. P. Wagner conducted the brief business meeting at which plans for the annual bazaar in November were made. The poem "Start Something" was read for the closing.

Members then went to the church dining room for a surprise bridal shower for Mrs. Donald Long.

Cattle to get tapioca with grain so expensive

LONDON (AP) — Cereal feeds for beef and dairy cattle are becoming so expensive that British farmers are looking around for cheaper substitutes. Tapioca, or cassava, the raw material from which it is made, is high on the list.

Dutch and Belgian farmers have been using the product for some time. Mike Stranks, an animal nutrition expert with the Agricultural Development and Advisory Services, says: "In Holland and Belgium relatively small quantities of cereals are used for livestock feeding because they import a lot of cassava and citrus pulp which are used in preference to cereals as a cheaper source of energy.

Ann Judson Circle meets

The meeting of the Ann Judson Circle of First Baptist Church was held in the home of Miss Mabel Briggs Tuesday evening, with 11 members present.

A dessert course was served preceding the meeting by Miss Briggs and Jean McCoy.

Mrs. Kenneth Chaney opened the meeting with prayer and a reading. The group voted to make a donation to "Dollars for Christ's Children," at the Dayton Christian Center.

Mrs. Briggs reported two boxes of clothing had been sent to the Center and two to Merle Orphanage.

It was announced that 26 calls to shut-ins and members had been made. Mrs. Eugene Alkire gave devotions on "Thoughts about the Bible" Mrs. Charles Hurtt presented the program entitled "The Bible Speaks about Women."

A discussion of women's lib followed and Mrs. Ted Yoakum closed with prayer.

Burnett-Ducey Auxiliary has meeting

Fifteen members were present for the Burnett-Ducey VFW Auxiliary 4964 meeting in the VFW Hall conducted by Mrs. John Hizer. The opening prayer was offered by Mrs. James Puckett and Mrs. Ed Hidy was the acting senior vice president in the absence of Mrs. Eldon Kirk. Mrs. Lelia Campbell was patriotic instructor.

The Meals on Wheels program was discussed, but action was tabled until more information is obtained.

The charter was draped for a deceased member. The next meeting on April 2 will be a hamburger fry by the men at 6:30 p.m. preceding the meeting.

Mrs. Esther Hyer won the door prize.

'Factory' produces winners

By PHILIP DOPOULOS
Associated Press Writer

ATHENS (AP) — A former Athens fashion model runs a unique factory. She manufactures Miss Greeces.

Since Antoinette Rontopoulou opened her "factory," as she terms it, the "Antoinette Rontopoulou Modeling School" has produced 21 Miss Greeces, one Miss Universe, several top fashion models and scores of actresses. All beautiful girls with beautiful careers.

A former Miss Greece and top Athens fashion model herself, Miss Rontopoulou and her ex-journalist husband Chris Economou, have made a study of the world's leading modeling schools to give their graduates the best possible training.

Gone are the days of walking around with a book balanced on one's head, according to the Rontopoulou method. With a yearly average graduation class of 70, courses are given by teachers drawn from specific fields.

Veteran actors of the Greek National Theater present movement and makeup, professional photographers, some from abroad, explain the tricks involved when facing television cameras and in photographic work. Professional dancers present dancing and rhythm. Yoga, diet, elocution, poise and good manners are also covered by experts.

"Initially, the girls take a six-month course of elementary studies before sitting for an examination set by us," explains Economou. If the girls pass the test, they then go on to a three-month finishing course, where they take special coaching if they wish to specialize in a particular form of modeling.

Economou said that Greek women are a bit on the heavy side. "Thus, we work on elementary poise for about four months. Deportment, often the basis of a modeling course, comes later with us. We feel the girls should lose a little weight before attempting deportment." And adds:

"To be a success in the modeling world, a Greek girl has to really work hard. The physical features of the Greek woman do not readily lend themselves to modeling."

TOPS installs new officers

Garrell Leasure, leader of the men's TOPS chapter in Sabina, installed the new officers of OH TOPS chapter 669 here Monday evening. Mrs. Beryl Smith is the new leader; Miss Betty McNeill, co-leader; Mrs. Emmett Campbell, secretary; and Mrs. Homer Chaney, treasurer.

The meeting in Eastside School was conducted by Mrs. Smith. Reports were made by Mrs. Allen McClung and the roll was called by Mrs. William Fletcher. It was announced that Mrs. Robert Alkire is the new weight recorder.

Ava Hancel was crowned teen age princess.

The "forbidden food" this week is pie. Gainers are to bring a low-calorie item at next week's meeting.

Plans were completed for the anniversary party at Lafayette Inn April 17, and for the skating party April 19.

"Happy birthday" was sung to Mrs. Leo Merritt and Mrs. Chaney read an appropriate article pertaining to TOPS.

MISS DEBBIE OLINGER

August wedding planned

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Olinger, of Wilmington, former residents of Fayette County, announce the engagement of their daughter Debbie, to David Glenn, son of Mr. and Mrs. Louis Glenn, of Erie, Pa. She is the granddaughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles V. Sexton, 905 N. North St.

Miss Olinger, a 1972 graduate of Ohio State University, is currently teaching fifth grade in the Columbus public schools.

Mr. Glenn, a student at OSU, will be graduated with a bachelor of science degree in business this summer.

An August wedding is planned.

Father of conservation is honored by federation

WASHINGTON (AP) — George Bird Grinnell has been placed in the National Wildlife Federation's Hall of Fame for conservation.

Known as the founder of the Audubon Society, he was influenced as a youth in New York by the widow of John James Audubon. A trained scientist, he took over the weekly Forest and Stream magazine and made it a national force for conservation.

He campaigned for enforcement of game laws, for proper forest management and for protecting park land. When he died in 1938 he was eulogized as the father of American conservation.

DISCOVERY CLUB — These girls, members of the Discovery Club, under the leadership of Mrs. Richard Maddux, presented a skit for the Camp Fire Potlatch held in Mahan Hall Tuesday night. The theme was Wonderful World of Disney. There were over 500 present for the event.

'Wonderful World of Disney' Camp Fire Potlatch theme

"The Wonderful World of Disney" was the theme of the annual Camp Fire Potlatch in Mahan Hall Tuesday evening. Over 500 Camp Fire Girls, their families, leaders, assistants, and members of the Board of the Paint Valley Council of Camp Fire Girls were present.

Decorations of placemats, placecards and centerpieces were made by the girls and their leaders. The walls were colorfully decorated with posters depicting various Disney movies.

The Pledge of Allegiance was led by Joye Gardner and the invocation given by Marilyn Seifried preceding the dinner.

Mrs. Charles Zinn, potlatch chairman, introduced Frank Sanderson, board president, who presented the board members and committee chairman. Mrs. Ralph Tate, leader chairman, then presented the leaders and their assistants.

Mrs. Rollo Marchant's Horizon Club led a sing-a-long after the dinner, and Mrs. Richard Maddux's Discovery Club presented a most unusual skit.

Board members and committee chairmen present were Mrs. Donald Wood, first vice-president; Richard Maddux, second vice-president; Mrs. Gene Sagar, treasurer; Mrs. Donald Moore, recording secretary; Mrs. Gerald Burkett, cooresponding secretary; and Mrs. A. O. McClung, executive secretary.

Mrs. Rollo Marchant camp site chairman; Mrs. Frank Sanderson, camp chairman; Mrs. Fred James, awards chairman; Mrs. R. J. Lee and Mrs. William Boylan, group organization; Richard Immel, finance chairman; Floyd Cotner and John Phillips, Do-Dads; Mrs. Ralph Tate, leader chairman; Mrs. Gerald Wheat, leader training; and Miss Sandy Fackler, public relations.

Bicycle comuting beats going by car

CAMBRIDGE, Mass. (AP) — Although sale of bicycles in the United States in 1971 exceeded factory sales of cars by more than 2¼ million (8.9 million bikes versus 6.5 million cars, the bicycle has had negligible impact on commuter traffic, Arthur D. Little Inc., reports. The automobile still accounts for 82 per cent of trips to and from work, while public transport and walking accounts for most of the remainder.

But, adds the research firm, for trips in city traffic, the bicycle may be the fastest mode of travel. In one recent study with 25 bike-car commuter time trials over different routes averaging five miles, bicycles won 21, cars 3 and there was one tie.

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Tired of waiting forever for government officials to answer your letters?

Don't give up hope. Gov. John J. Gilligan has hired a computer to make sure that if you write him a letter, somebody will send a reply.

You don't have to write a nasty letter to get an answer. Nice ones get the same treatment. All you have to do is put your name and address on the envelop.

About 9,000 Ohioans every month write the governor to express anger, praise, concern or opinion on a wide variety of public and personal topics.

One of Gilligan's avowed goals is to make government more responsive. His chief of staff, John Hansan, decided that a governor who talks about responsiveness ought to answer his mail, or at least get someone else to.

Accordingly, his staff set up a computerized system that refers each letter to an appropriate official, and then hounds him until he answers it.

"I think the system is effective," said Gilligan press secretary Bob Tenenbaum, just after the computer had reminded him of the dozen or so letters that had been waiting 20 days or more for his reply.

"I see those letters sitting there and I have great incentive to get rid of them," he said.

First, clerks sort through the bags and remove personal letters to the governor from friends or VIPs, printed circulars and other junk mail, and letters with no names or addresses.

The rest goes to an office known as the Inquiry and Response Unit. "I call it the mail room," Tenebaum said.

In the mail room, clerks fill out a form for each letter with information about the source of the letter, its subject, whether it is pro or anti-Gilligan and the agency to which it is to be sent for a reply.

The letter then moves on to the appropriate agency and the information on the form goes into the computer. Every week or two the computer prints out a list of unanswered letters for each agency to remind them to keep up with their correspondence.

Tenenbaum said the effort to get mail answered appears to have had some effect. He said the amount of mail coming to the governor's office has tripled.

"I think it means there's a conscious effort that's working to get people to say what's on their minds," he said.

Wet wish comes true

ST. ETIENNE DE LAUZON, Que. (AP) — After more than 100 years residents in this community have unexpectedly been granted their wish — water. Almost since the founding of the village in 1861, drinking water has been a constant problem. The recent discovery of a pure and almost inexhaustible spring has solved it.

PUBLIC NOTICE

Notice is hereby given that United Telephone Company of Ohio has filed with the Public Utilities Commission of Ohio an application stating that the Company is entitled, because of the reasons set forth in said application, to reasonable and equitable increases and adjustments in its rates and charges for local exchange telephone service, and to cancel and withdraw its existing tariffs and to substitute therefor its proposed General Exchange Tariff P.U.C.O. No. 3, and its proposed Local Exchange Tariff P.U.C.O., No. 4, to effect such increases and adjustments in its rates and charges, all as more fully set forth in the application on file with the Commission and in the exhibits thereto attached and made a part thereof.

The proposed schedule of rates and charges and the changes and revisions applied for in the application will, if approved by the Commission, provide the Company approximately $17,000,000 in additional annual revenue or a 7.20% rate of return on the Company's rate base. The proposed schedule of rates and charges, if approved, will result in a 41% increase in basic exchange rates for residential services, and a 51.5% increase in local exchange rates for business services. In addition, the Company proposes increases and adjustments in many other of its communication services. Listed below are the Company's present rates, and proposed rates by rate schedule and class of service, and a classification of exchanges by rate schedule.

The proposed tariff revisions will effect increases and adjustments in rates and charges throughout the territory in which the Company operates. A copy of the Application, including a copy of the proposed tariffs may be inspected by any interested party at the offices of the Commission, 111 North High Street, Columbus, and all public business offices of the Company. The form of this notice has been approved by the Public Utilities Commission of Ohio.

New proposal for Ireland filled with compromises

By COLIN FROST
Associated Press Writer

LONDON (AP) — Britain's blueprint for Northern Ireland offers something for everyone— and demands something from everyone.

Most of all, it makes a heavy demand on the Irish republic in a bid to take the heat out of Northern Ireland's communal strife.

To Ulster's Protestants, the British plan offers a return of their prized provincial Parliament, though in emasculated form. Power over police and security will stay with Britain.

To Roman Catholics, the plan offers guarantees of equal status and a recognition of their nationalist tradition. A man seeking a job as a roadsweeper will no longer have to swallow his republicanism and take an oath of allegiance to Queen Elizabeth II.

Protestants are assured that they will remain inside the United Kingdom so long as a majority in Northern Ireland wants to.

In return they are asked to accept an electoral and administrative system designed to weaken the power monopoly which was theirs under the straight vote system.

Northern Catholics and their fellow nationalists in the Irish republic are asked to accept that Northern Ireland for the time being remains in the United Kingdom and to cooperate with it on that basis.

Northern Protestants are asked to accept that one day the situation may change and to cooperate with the republic with that possibility in mind.

This double demand is underlined by the British terms for an All-Ireland Council of the type first envisaged when Ireland was partitioned half a century ago.

1. "The acceptance of the present status of Northern Ireland, and of the possibility— which would have to be compatible with the principle of consent—of subsequent change in that status.

2. "Effective consultation and cooperation Ireland for the benefit of North and South alike.

3. "The provision of a firm basis for concerted governmental and community action against terrorist organizations."

The first point will be a tricky one for any Dublin government to accept. The reason is that the Irish republic's constitution lays claim to jurisdiction over "the whole of Ireland, its islands and territorial seas." Any Dublin administration that went into a conference on the British terms would be open to charges of betraying the constitution.

Another big question mark hangs over the intricate system of proportional representation the British suggest for the new provincial parliament. Protestant hard-liners say they will have no truck with the system, which they criticize as too complicated.

Saxbe and Taft cast opposite votes

WASHINGTON (AP) — Ohio Republican Sens. William Saxbe and Robert Taft Jr. case opposite votes Tuesday as the Senate approved an amendment to the Economic Stabilization Act which called for restoration of Phase 2 rent controls in some 50 metropolitan areas.

HAPPY HOMEMAKERS 4-H

The Happy Homemakers 4-H Club held a meeting in the Buena Vista Town Hall, when pledges were led by Gina Graham.

Donna Smith conducted the meeting and reports were made by Debbie Patton and Jo-retta Brown. Mrs. Hardman and Mrs. Smith gave the project books out to members, and reminded all to take care of them.

Wendy Shoemaker gave a report on "Deafness." Julie Winters reported on "Boat and Water Safety" and the group voted to give $2.00 to the Heart Fund and $2.00 to the March of Dimes.

Dates for the camp were given and a discussion about the candy sale took place. Members will bring the money to the meeting.

Officers will attend an officers clinic in the near future.

Kristi Wolfe, reporter

CHARMING CHARCOALETTES

The second meeting of the Charming Charcoalettes 4-H Club was called to order by Gale Horney, followed by the Pledges led by Kim Smallwood.

Roll call was made and minutes of the previous meeting were heard.

Programs for the year were discussed and money-making projects. A bake sale is planned for April, and adviser Mrs. Virginia Dunn will find the place for the sale.

Five cookouts are planned and the officers of the club will decide concerning other ideas on the agenda. Meetings will be every other Monday.

Program book covers are to be designed and the Constitution and By-laws adopted and signed at the next meeting, March 26.

The meeting was adjourned and refreshments were served by Joyce and Anna Eggleton and Pam Smith.

TV Viewing

By JAY SHARBUTT
AP Television Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — The television program listing says: "Movie Orgy (Part II). More memories of a thousand hours of TV idiocy and a hundred Saturday matinees."

You'll never see the show on your commercial or public television station. But it's probably playing four and five times a day on scores of college and university closed-circuit systems.

The company, in business three years now, currently has 234 schools as "affiliates," according to John S. Lollos, a VTN vice president and one of the company's 16 full-time staff members.

Lollos, who was director of program promotion for the NBC Television network until he quit four years ago, got the idea for his closed-circuit corporation from darkened television sets, oddly enough.

He was touring colleges campuses with "Groove Tube," a privately produced videotape satire of commercial television that he was leasing for use on closed-circuit campus television systems.

"As I looked around the campuses, I saw nothing but dark sets," he said. "They weren't being played."

He said he knew from his network experience there was a sizeable college audience — among others — that commercial television didn't reach because it was geared to mass viewing tastes.

"From our 'Groove Tube' experience, we found that a lot of people were very turned on by specialized television," he said. "And they kept saying, 'How do we get more shows?'"

From that blossomed VTN, which leases to schools packages of shows ranging from a five-week supply to one lasting 30 weeks.

"When we go onto a campus, we try to get the monitors located in high-traffic, easily seen locations such as TV lounges of student union buildings, dorm lounges and fraternity lounges," he said.

The fare is a mixture of programs produced by VTN; old movies like "Reefer Madness," a 1936 epic about marijuana's dangers; free-lance documentaries like "Lenny Bruce Without Tears"; and, heaven help us, a Bullwinkle cartoon set at Wassamotta U.

Exclusionary rule studied

WASHINGTON (AP) — When the claim is made that criminals go free on "technicalities," chances are the target of the criticism is what is known as the exclusionary rule.

Chief Justice Warren E. Burger has held the rule responsible for "the release of countless guilty criminals," yet Supreme Court majorities dating back nearly 50 years have pronounced it essential to constitutional guarantees against unreasonable search and seizure.

The court Monday agreed to hear two cases concerning constitutional limits on searches— and the exclusionary rule.

The rule, which has been in force in federal courts since 1914 and in state courts since 1961, prevents unlawful searches by excluding from evidence what those searches produce.

Both cases accepted today concern drugs found by police searches of two men arrested on traffic violations.

Public employes get money back

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The Ohio Civil Service Employes Association said today it has won a suit forcing the state Public Employes Retirement System to pay back "more than a half a million dollars" the association contended was improperly collected from saate employes.

An OCSEA spokesman said the PERS began withholding from employes' paychecks starting Jan. 1 at a higher rate which the state will not be matching until July.

The spokesman said a Franklin County Common Pleas Court ruling Monday will force PERS to stop withholding at the higher rate until July and to pay back the extra money withheld since January.

60-YEAR MASON — Ogan A. Riley, 90, Brush Creek Rd., is shown receiving his pin for 60-year membership in Freemasonry. Riley has been a member of Bloomingburg Lodge No. 449, F&AM, for more than 60 years and is a past patron of the Order of the Eastern Star. Making the presentation is Gary McConnaughey, Dayton, worshipful master of the lodge. With them are Harold McConnaughey (left), secretary and past master, and Edgar McFadden, trustee, and past master. McFadden is a son-in-law of Riley.

Letters to Gilligan vary from bouquets to brickbats

Some of the letters are printed on elegant stationary. Others are scrawled on yellow note paper. Gilligan's staff tries to see that all of them get answered.

—A note from the Free Polish Krakusy Society berating Gilligan for not attending a memorial dinner for Polish astronomer Nicholaus Copernicus last month, and offering him a chance to make up by accepting an invitation to another Copernicus dinner in June.

—Two letters expressing outrage at the legalization of abortion and two more calling for state standards to protect mothers who have abortions.

—Two letters against ratification of the Equal Rights Amendment and another one in favor of it.

—Two letters opposing the phasing out of Ohio State University's Speech and Hearing Science Program.

—A request from the Kansas Wheathearts asking Gilligan to support their "Kansas Bake and Take Day" March 24 on which women are supposed to bake something and take it to somebody.

—A note from a therapist at a Grove City nursing home about a patient who will be 105 on March 25.

—A complaint from a Dayton man that his property taxes have gone up 30 per cent, despite Gilligan's 10 per cent rollback.

—A complaint from an Athens woman about a stretch of Ohio 33 south of Athens badly in need of repair which area partisans have labeled "Gilligan's Gulch."

Your Horoscope

By FRANCES DRAKE

Look in the section in which your birthday comes and find what your outlook is, according to the stars.

THURSDAY, MARCH 22

ARIES
(March 21 to April 20)

Stimulating Mars influences! You should be bristling with bright ideas now and, happily, they will work out well.

TAURUS
(April 21 to May 21)

Give top priority to career matters. No matter how desirable, by-pass other interests temporarily. It will pay later.

GEMINI
(May 22 to June 21)

Beneficent Mercury influences heighten your senses. Your perceptiveness in a tricky job situation will win laurels from superiors.

CANCER
(June 22 to July 23)

Caution and conservatism stressed. Above all, avoid persons who are impulsively taking risks.

LEO
(July 24 to Aug. 23)

Get an early start now. The forenoon hours will be best for realizing aims through acquaintances and group contacts.

VIRGO
(Aug. 24 to Sept. 23)

Mixed influences. You may encounter some frustrating conditions, but the tide will turn in your favor later in the day.

LIBRA
(Sept. 24 to Oct. 23)

Do not be misled by surface appearances. Look deep for true values. A good day in which to capitalize on your innate artistic ability.

SCORPIO
(Oct. 24 to Nov. 22)

SAGITTARIUS
(Nov. 23 to Dec. 21)

Planetary influences stimulate your hearty, spirited efforts. A day in which to do your best! If your path is blocked, seek another route.

CAPRICORN
(Dec. 22 to Jan. 20)

Comparison in performances should spur you on — not lessen zeal. Do not take criticism "to heart." Viewed calmly and objectively, it can prove helpful.

AQUARIUS
(Jan. 21 to Feb. 19)

PISCES
(Feb. 20 to March 20)

Even though your day may be crowded and you are eager for accomplishment, don't overlook "little" details. Seemingly minor factors could be extremely important.

YOU BORN TODAY are endowed with a dynamic personality, tremendous ambition and an inner drive which propels you toward your goals with the blinding intensity of a comet. Few failures have been born on this date, though some of you may not realize all of your potentials. It is important that you find your niche early in life because you are so versatile that you may change roads frequently, thus-scattering valuable energies before getting on the right track. Once there, however, your talents and determination can lead you to seemingly unattainable plateaus of success. Fields in which you should excel: Science, the law, music, art and the theater. Traits to curb: Overaggressiveness and excessive volubility.

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP)— The Erie Lackawanna Railway Co. says higher labor costs and damages from Hurricane Agnes last June contributed to a $23.5 million net loss for 1972.

The 1972 loss reported in a financial statement filed Monday in U.S. District Court compares to a loss of $2.2 million in 1971.

CLEAN-UP TIME — Ronald Overstake, on ladder, a Washington C. H. City employe, and Danny Self, a Community Action Commission worker, paint street sign posts as part of the city's clean-up campaign. City Manager Dan Wolford kicked off the campaign Monday and asked all residents and businesses to clean up voluntarily. Violators of city refuse ordinances who haven't cleaned up their property after March 31 will be subject to prosecution, Wolford said. (Staff photo)

Consumer showdown is nearing

By JOHN CUNNIFF
AP Business Analyst

NEW YORK (AP) — One of the more interesting revelations about American consumer behavior will be provided during the next few months of conflict between food shoppers and the rising cost of supplying the body with energy.

This is more than a passing test. It is a watershed in the affairs of consumers, who for more than 10 years have been feeling their muscles grow and who have been exerting their powers in a variety of ways.

Can they stop food price increases? Their President believes they can, and has declared such faith in them that he has declined to appear in person on the field of battle as he has in so many other economic conflicts.

But faith alone won't win the battle. Aligned against the consumer are all the pressures of professional promotion, advertising, new product development and the like that have one message: Spend.

There is, moreover, the persistence of habit: Americans have been upgrading their diets since the Great Depression, adding more meat and using less starch. And they have been willing to pay dearly for conveniences, too.

Add to this the ideal of most Americans that life tomorrow will be better in regard to the basics of food, clothing, health and shelter. To lower standards is considered un-American, a violation of fundamental rights.

The consumer, therefore, is unlikely to respond affirmatively to Mrs. Virginia Knauer's suggestion that cheap cuts of meat can be turned into gourmet meals.

But there is a change of rather recent vintage that does put the consumer in a more advantageous position than before. He is better educated, better informed, more aware than in the past.

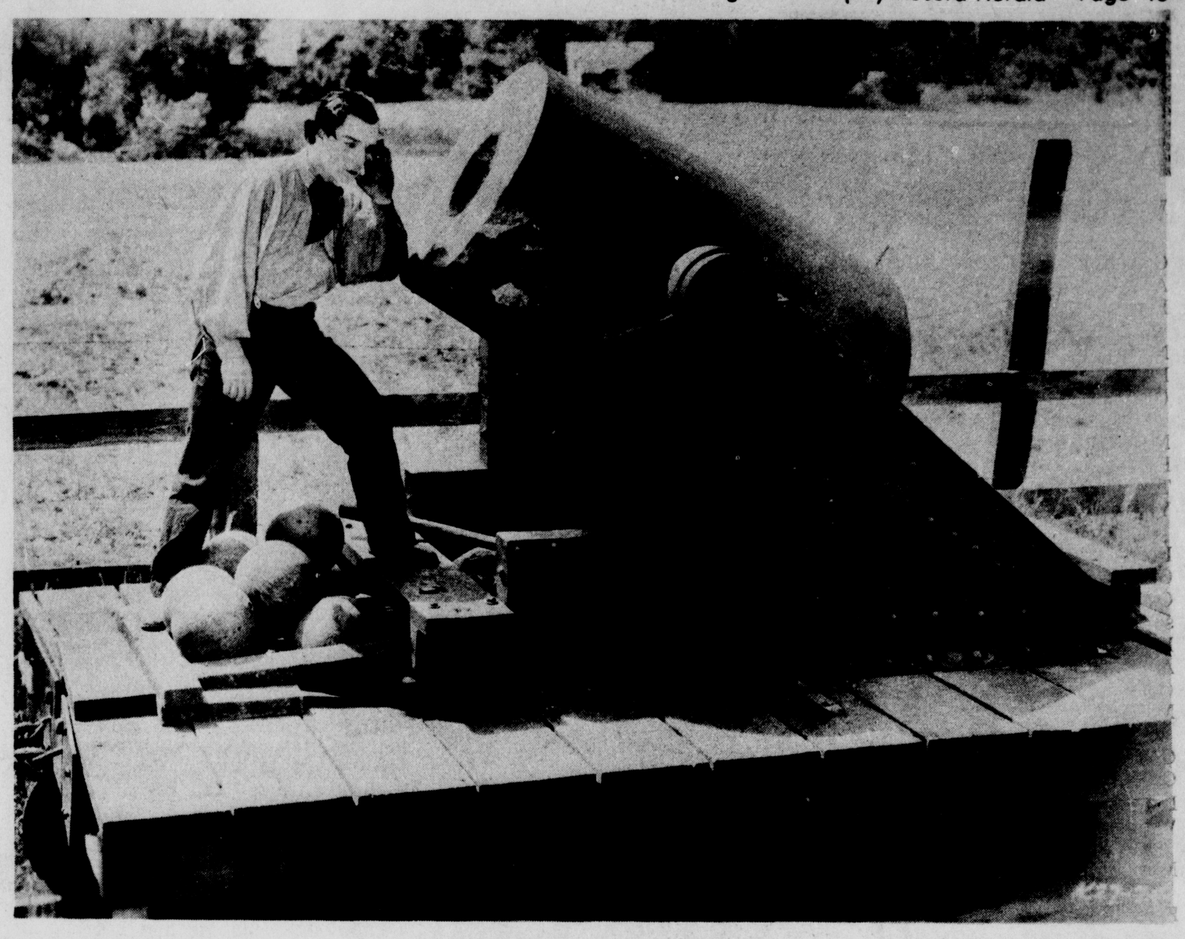
This awareness, followed by action, already has brought great changes. The spirit is different. Caveat emptor is dated; caveat vinditor, or the seller beware, is widely accepted by regulators and legislators.

Writing three years ago in "The Nation," the magazine of U.S. Chamber of Commerce, A.Q. Mowbray put the old standards into perspective:

"When General Motors buys material from U.S. Steel, it does not rely on assurances from the steel company that the shipment will be 'new and improved' with twice the active ingredients of shabby old Brand X.

"GM says in very hardheaded terms that the steel must meet certain specifications as to strength, hardness, ductility, corrosion resistance, or whatever property is of interest..."

The battle is on. The question is this: Can the consumer, armed with better information and more awareness, fight a professional battle, not only against those trying to sell him something but, in a sense, against his own habits and appetites?



Buster Keaton in The General

Lee Erwin, is director of the Electronic Music Lab at Lehman College in New York City, will be at the console of the Washington Junior High Auditorium organ during the showing of the silent film classic, The General. This special program will be presented at 7:30 p.m. Thursday.

In addition to his work as composer and instructor in Electronic Music, Erwin is one of the foremost theater organists in the country. At theaters, museums, campuses, film festivals, he is known as a prime mover in the renaissance of silent films accompanied by the instrument designed specifically for that purpose - the Mighty Theater Organ - playing music specifically composed to complement the screen action.

An evening with the theater organ and silent movies is not a new experience for Ervin. He began his musical career at the age of 12 when he was hired as relief silent-movie pianist at the Grand Theater in his native Huntsville, Ala. He won a scholarship to the Cincinnati Conservatory of Music, and while a student there he gained invaluable experience playing silent films during the very last years of the "Golden Age of the Movie Palace." He studied organ in Paris, and was the first American pupil of the celebrated French organist, Andre Marchal. When he returned to the United States he was the organist for a short time at the Alabama Theatre in Birmingham.

When the theater organ was silenced by the advent of the "talkies" he became staff organist at radio station WLW in Cincinnati. He began the "Moon River" program, a midnight radio show featuring organ music, poetry and songs. "Moon River" launched the singing careers of Doris Day, Rosemary Clooney, Andy Williams and many others.

With the advent of television Erwin moved to New York City where he became organist for one of the most popular TV shows, "Arther Godfrey Time." During his years with the Godfrey program, he was arranger and composer as well as organist. He composed numerous songs for various members of the cast: Godfrey, Jeanette Davis, Julius LaRosa, Marion Marlowe, Frank Parker, Johnny Nash and others. Several of his tunes became hit songs and contributed much to the popularity of the program.

Recently, Lee Erwin has devoted much of his time to the theater organ and the development of new music for that instrument.

Thursday night, he will play the accompaniment to The General, a 1926 film staring Buster Keaton.

The General was the name of a locomative stolen during the Civil War by a spy from the north and returned through the fighting lines from the South. It was this incident which Keaton used as the story line for the famous comedy.

The comedy is considered not only a classic but one of the all-time great laughter films made anywhere. Numerous copies have been made and Disney and other studios tried to copy the hysterical situations and gags within the film but never to the complete degree which they reached under the direction and acting of Keaton. Keaton also invented most of the story line for the picture, for they never filmed with completed scripts, but from ideas conceived by the artists who made them.

Erwin will return to Washington Junior High on March 27. At that performance The Phantom of the Opera, starring Lon Chaney, will be shown.

Stamps In The News

AP Newsfeatures

By SYD KRONISH

Since postage stamps reflect the growing concerns and major priorities of individual nations, it is expected that ecology will be the subject of many designs on postal issues for years to come.

Papua & New Guinea, presently concerned with possible extinction of its famed Birds of Paradise, have issued four new stamps featuring such birds in their glorious plummage, reports the Empire Stamp Galleries.

The survival of the island's Birds of Paradise is in question and thus the government has instituted a Bird of Paradise Conservation Program in conjunction with the World Wildlife Fund, the International Union of Nature and National Resources and other similar groups.

The 7 cents shows the Queen Carol's Bird of Paradise. Already somewhat rare, it is further threatened by those clearing the forests who are destroying the nests.

The 28 cents depicts the Princess Stephanie Bird of Paradise, whose long pairs of central tail feathers are unfortunately highly prized for ceremonial adornment by the peoples of the thickly populated New Guinea Highlands.

The new stamps will be available at your local stamp dealer.

CANADA has announced the issuance of two new stamps featuring the "Algonkian Indians Artifacts and Way of Life" in blocks of four. The stamp depicting the Algonkian artifacts includes a birchbark basket, an Ojibwa wooden papoose carrier, a pair of snowshoes, knife and other items.

Algonkian Indians were comprised of six principal tribes — the Malecite and Micmac of the Maritimes, the Montagnais of northern Quebec, the Algonquin of the Ottawa Valley, the Ojibwa of the area north of Lakes Superior and Huron and the Cree of Quebec, Ontario, Manitoba and Saskatchewan.

FOR MORE than 50 years the only major errors found on U.S. postage stamps have been the omissions of one or more colors, or the omission of perforations.

Now auctioneer Jacques C. Schiff Jr. reports the discovery and authentication of the first clear, double impression in modern U.S. philately. The error is a single of the 8-cent Statue of Liberty design issued in 1954. These stamps remained in use until 1958 when a printing of similar design replaced them as the regular 8-cent stamp.

Apparently the sheet which had gone through the press prior to the error sheet was overinked. As a result the next sheet (the error sheet) was printed partially without the red. To correct the lack of the red, the printer put the sheet through a second time, but some of the 400 spamps thus obtained two red impressions.

Only five of these stamps are known to exist and are in the hand of collectors.

TWO NEW stamps from Norway hail the centenary of the discovery of the leprosy bacteria by Dr. Gerhard Henrik Armauer Hansen (1841-1922) of that country. Both designs shows Dr. Hansen at a microscopw with a slide of the bacterium. Discovery was made in 1873 after he had devoted his life to this task.

TUNISIA has issued a single stamp honoring the Dome of the Rock in Jerusalem. Built over the rock from which Mohammed is said to have ascended to heaven, the mosque is a prime reason the city of Jerusalem remains the sacred site to three faiths. The dome once appeared on a stamp of the old British Protectorate of Palestine.

Maloney eyes GOP chair

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — State Sen. Michael J. Maloney, R-Cincinnati, moved Tuesday night to muster support in a bid to seek the empty Ohio Republican Party chief's chair.

It came a day after Maloney said he would serve if called, but would not actively seek the chairmanship.

Tuesday night he said "if a guy wants it, he is going to have to work for it and go out and get it."

The post became vacant with the resignation of John S. Andrews, who is returning to private business.

Grade separation low bid submitted

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Melbourne Bros. Construction Co., Inc., of North Canton submitted the apparent low bid of $2.2 million for grade separation on Ohio 60 in Zanesville.

The bid was among those opened for 23 projects Tuesday by the Ohio Transportation Department.

Athens gets cash

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Approval of a $5,796 federal grant to Athens for purchase of communications equipment for the Ohio University Security Division was announced Tuesday by Gov. John Gilligan's office.

In the past hundred years, National Geographic says, over-all demand for energy of all kinds in the United States has increased twentyfold.

Boyle declares innocence of complicity in murders

ERIE, Pa. (AP)—Former United Mine Workers President W.A. "Tony" Boyle continues to insist that he had nothing to do with the 1969 murders of his union archrival, Joseph A. Yablonski, and Yablonski's wife and daughter.

And Boyle says he doesn't believe that anyone else in the union had any connection with the killings either, although two former UMW officials face murder charges in the case and a third has confessed.

Boyle commented at a news conference after testifying for the defense here Tuesday in the state murder trial of William J. Prater, a former UMW field organizer from LaFollette, Tenn., whom the government alleges was a conduit in an elaborate scheme to finance the killings with $20,000 in union money.

"I can't believe that anyone in the union would do that," the balding 70-year-old former union chieftain said.

Boyle testified that he personally had authorized the transfer of $20,000 to the UMW's District 19, embracing parts of eastern Kentucky and Tennessee, but said the money was for organizing nonunion mines in the area.

Later, however, in an often brisk cross-examination with special prosecutor Richard Sprague, Boyle acknowledged that he had never investigated to determine specifically whether the money actually was used for organizing work.

Sprague repeatedly asked why there had been no probe, often leaving the question for a time, then rephrasing it and thrusting it at Boyle again.

In one such exchange, Sprague referred to the state's claim that the money was disbursed in small checks to pensioned miners within District 19. The government has said the pensioners cashed the checks, then kicked the money back in small bills to be passed on later to those who actually shot the Yablonskis.

Woman, 78, held in bank robbery

PROVO, Utah (AP) — A 78-year-old woman has been arrested in the robbery of a branch bank.

Provo Police Lt. Ken Forshee said an elderly woman dressed in red walked into the Provo branch of the Walker Bank early Monday afternoon, brandished a toy pistol and demanded $1,500.

He said Geneva Ball of Provo was arrested a short time later near the bank and was arraigned a robbery charge in City Court. Preliminary hearing was set for next Monday.

Opening lead - ten of clubs.

Let's say you're in four hearts and West leads the ten of clubs, which you win with the ace. How do you proceed?

The apparent losers are three diamonds and a trump and the problem is how to play the hand so as to give yourself the best chance to expunge one of them.

The most obvious way is to try to ruff a diamond in dummy to gain a tenth trick. So let's assume you lead a low diamond at trick two, in which case East would win and return a trump. It would not matter whether you finessed or went up with the ace, because either way West would not permit you to ruff a diamond in dummy and you would finish down one.

But with the best line of play you would make the contract. At trick two you should lead the king of diamonds, not the deuce!

The effect of this play is that West, instead of East, wins the trick — and finds himself powerless. The best he can do is lead a trump, which you win with the jack. When you now play another diamond, either East wins it and has no trump to return, or West wins it and cannot afford to return a trump. So, by playing this way, you save either a trump loser or a diamond loser and make the contract.

Leading the king of diamonds at trick two does not of course guarantee the the contract against any lie of the adverse cards, but it goes a long way towards increasing your chances of bringing the hand home. It offers by far the best chance for a successful outcome, and who could ask for anything more?

Air fare rise ordered by panel

LONDON (AP) — Transatlantic air travelers not only won't get the greatly reduced fares some airlines tried to offer them this summer, they're going to have to pay more to compensate the lines for the devaluation of the dollar.

The airlines' price-fixing cartel, the International Air Transport Association, agreed Monday that, starting April 15, fares on the North Atlantic run will rise an average of six per cent in the United States and Canada, eight per cent in Britain, and 10 per cent in the rest of Europe. Subject to currency adjustments, they will be maintained until the end of the year.

This means the cheapest scheduled round-trip fare from New York to London — the 22-to 45-day excursion rate — will rise from $313 to $332 in peak summer months and from $240 to $255 in the off season.

Youth Activities

TRAIL BLAZERS 4-H

Cheryl Hale brought the meeting of the Trail Blazers 4-H Club to order in the home of Dale Ford. Lynn Burchett led the group in the 4-H Pledge and members answered roll call by giving their horses' names.

Tammy Hale and Lynn Burchett told about the Horse Clinic held March 4 in Columbus.

It was announced that all members should bring their stationery orders in by the next meeting.

Following adjournment, Lois Hale gave a health report on Feeding a Horse. Members participated in dropping clothes pins in the jar.

BEST FRIENDS 4-H

The third meeting of the Best Friends 4-H Club was held in the home of Chris Black. The meeting was called to order by Jeff Harper. Lu Brown and Chris Black gave the secretary and treasurer's reports.

Mrs. Sarah Brown gave an idea demonstrations at the fair. Another leader, Mrs. Harper, discussed plans to go to a dog obedience orientation which was planned for Tuesday at the Ohio State Fairgrounds.

The next meeting will be held in the home of Laurie Lisk March 29 at 7:30 p.m. Following adjournment, refreshments were served.

Jim Runnels, reporter

MARION MARVELS 4-H

Diane Gerber and Emily Beal gave a slide presentation at the Marion Marvels 4-H Club meeting on National 4-H Club Congress. They related some of their exciting experiences they had in Chicago during November. Members were urged to work hard in 4-H and later apply for trips and other awards.

Assisting with the Heart Fund Drive was selected as a community service project. The literature for Marion Township was distributed to the members, with each member in charge of soliciting near his home.

Lynne Rapp's safety report was titled "Noise on thd Farm." She stated that hearing loss can be caused by farm tractor sounds and then mentioned available ways to reduce sounds.

Debbie Duff, president, conducted the meeting and Scott Gerber led the pledges. A speaker for Family Night, April 6, was discussed. Debbie Duff was to contact several possible ones.

Mr. David Gerber will present a swine program at the next meeting to be held March 20 at the Bloomingburg Methodist Church. Refreshments will be served by Connie, John, Larry and Gary Dean.

Junior High scholarship team listed

These students are in addition to the 15 students previously named to the five academic teams.

Pfeifer said that due to a change in the division in which the school participates, one additional member has been named to each team. The teams are:

English — Ann Fenton, Linda Hollingsworth, Sue Moore and Ann Crocker.

The students will take written examinations May 5 at Ohio State University.

WSHS teacher at consumer education meet

Mrs. Robert Lutz, business teacher at Washington Senior High School, participated in the recent statewide Consumer Education Conference sponsored by the Ohio Department of Education in Columbus.

Consumer education, according to State Superintendent of Public Instruction Martin W. Essex, is designed to help young Ohioans develop the responsibility needed to make wise decisions regarding their present and adult responsibilities in an ever growing complex marketplace.

Two nationally-known experts in consumer education were featured at the conference: Dr. Lee Richardson, director of consumer education in the U. S. Office of Consumer Affairs, and David Schoenfeld, director of educational services for the Consumers Union.

Innovative, successful consumer education practices in school districts throughout the state highlighted the two-day session. Special displays and sample materials of these courses were presented at the conference.

Storms hit wide area

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Showers and thunderstorms soaked areas from the Pacific Coast to the Rockies today, turning to snow over the Central Plateau.

Snow accumulations were heavy in parts of Arizona, Nevada and Utah. Two to four inches of new snow hit northern Arizona; Flagstaff picked up two inches in a half-hour period before midnight.

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Asserting the new Ohio Republican chairman's "hand should not be tied" by anyone outside the state central committee, former Gov. James Rhodes said Tuesday he would not recommend a successor to John Andrews.

The 46 members of the committee meet in Columbus April 5 to select someone from its ranks to succeed Andrews, who announced his resignation Monday.

Rhodes, who is not a member of the panel, indicated he will be out of town on that day.

"I think they have qualified men on the committee, and they will select one of them," said Rhodes, who served as governor from 1963 to 1970.

"I will abide by the state central committee's decision and cooperate with the new chairman to the fullest extent. In this hour, our need is for harmony and not division," he said.

MARCH OF DIMES — Tracy Anders, son of Mr. and Mrs. Donald Anders of 308 Mace St., and grandson of Mr. and Mrs. Thurmond Coulter of 4757 Washington Ave., is the poster child of the National Foundation March of Dimes, Central Ohio Chapter. Pictured above, Columbus Mayor Tom Moody prepares a statement proclaiming April 29 as the March of Dimes Walk-A-Thon Day. Standing, from left, are Frank Ray, campaign director; Thomas E. Polygraph expert is Rotary Club speaker

If Washington C.H. Rotarians had any ideas about lie detector tests being used only to trap criminals, they were only partly right.

The lie detector does help trap criminals, of course, but it also is used to clear the innocent of suspicion and in many other ways the public generally is not aware of. This, in substance, was what Don Hatton, president of the Takkon Corp. which he founded in Dayton 12 years ago, told Rotarians at their Tuesday luncheon in the Country Club.

Hatton, a former Dayton patrolman and detective, is now a polygraph specialist. After many years of experience as a police officer with lie detector use, techniques and study, he formed the Takkon Corp. to provide polygraph tests for a wide variety of clients.

He said all police departments in the area run polygraph tests on all applicants for employment as part of the screening process and that the Dayton Police Department gives polygraph tests every six months to all officers assigned to keeping tab on organized crime. An average of 10 lie detection tests a week are given on request of the courts.

Private businesses, he said, also run tests on employes (to detect pilfering) and on applicants for jobs. It is not unusual, he said, to find an employe of a competing business among employes.

PRESIDENT Fred Domenico conducted the meeting, and Vern Haugen arranged the program.

In the annual election, all the present officers were returned to the board of directors and, under a long standing policy, will be installed July 1 in the office one step up. In the regular order of succession, Phil Grover, the 1971-72 vice president, will become the president to succeed Domenico, whose term expires. Other officers who will move up are Paul Crosby, secretary; William E. Williams, treasurer; Dr. George Pommert, Bulletin editor; Jack Alkire, assistant Bulletin editor; and Ronald Ratliff, sergeant-at-arms.

David Ogan was elected as the only new member of the board. He will succeed Ratliff as sergeant-at-arms at the start of the coming year.

Visiting Rotarians were Fremont Fisher, of Cincinnati, and Ralph Clyburn, Robert Head, Jack McCray, Allen Johnston and Wendell Shaffer, of Greenfield; George Gerhardt and Art Dick, of Mount Sterling, and Darrell French, of Wilmington.

Personnel matters top County Board's agenda

Personnel matters topped a routine agenda for members of the Fayette County Board of Education at the regular semi-monthly meeting Tuesday night.

The board also held an informal discussion with Otis R. Hess Jr., Fayette County prosecuting attorney, who attended the meeting with his associate, Robert Simpson, to advise the board of the services the prosecutor's office can provide on legal matters.

The meeting was conducted by Vice-President Marvin DeMent, filling in for board president Kenneth Payton who was absent due to a severe hand injury suffered in a home accident.

The retirement of Parker Hitzfield, high school industrial arts teacher, approved by the board, effective June 2. In other personnel matters, the board granted Superintendent Guy M. Foster authority to make a decision on a request from Mrs. Vicki Snow, high school counselor, for a personal leave April 9-10 to accompany her husband on a trip won through new car sales. Ed McAuliffe, high school custodian, was granted a week's leave of absence, March 19-23.

The board formally authorized application to participate in the Southwest Regional Laboratory Program during the 1973-74 school year and identified Mrs. June Slaughter as the representative for the Local Educational Agency. The SWRL is a federally-sponsored program which provides materials for kindergarten programs, and Foster said the federal participation amounts to about $1,500.

IN OTHER matters:

The board reviewed a proposed calendar for 1973-74 school year which is expected to be adopted at the next regular meeting;

Granted permission to the Fayette County Board of Elections to use Eber, Wilson and Chaffin elementary schools for voting precincts May 8;

Heard a report from Superintendent Foster in which he stated that the committee studying the reading program for intermediate grades has chosen to wait another year before adopting a new program. The Open Court program will be continued in primary grades next school year, he said;

Heard a report from board member Marion Waddle who is the school board's representative on the Miami Trace High School Athletic Council; and

Approved high school and elementary monthly activity accounts, the district's financial statement and routine bills.

CAMERA Angles

By IRVING DESFOR
AP Newsfeatures

I studied, cropped and crowded them into manageable spaces for later viewing by newspaper readers around the country.

They made me exult and despair, laugh and cry, feel proud and ashamed as the paper parade of life's events passed through my hands.

The great news photographs returned again and again through the years, recalled by retelling of historic incidents or nostalgic reviews. So I came to know the pictures well along with many of the photographers who had captured the memorable fragments of time.

I often hoped it would be possible to share the photos in large size with people for viewing as a collection. It would be easier then to appreciate the excitement and details that originals had but which were often "lost in the translation."

HAPPILY, the idea occurred to others at The Associated Press and it was produced as an "Inhouse" book and it may become available for the public. I looked through an advance copy of "The Instant It Happened," edited by Hal Buell who gathered the pictures and Saul Pett who headed the staff of writers. It was not a case of browsing through . . . I read every page for great writing has been added to the great photos. It's an addition that makes it mind-catching as well as eye-catching.

The text — on the left hand pages — sparkled with graphic background details as it set the stage for 10 x 14-inch pictures on the right hand pages. The text also probed or explained the photographers' thoughts and actions wherever possible.

If I had to find fault, I'd say there should be an index or list of contents for the 231-page book to make specific pictures easier to refer to. I also missed a few historic news pictures which aptly fit the title, "The Instant It Happened," such as Bob Capa's shot of a Spanish Loyalist soldier at the instant he received a bullet's fatal impact. Undoubtedly they were not available for publication.

BUT THESE are minor points for a book which covers 100 years of news picture history and illuminates so much of the atmosphere and mood of each image's era.

The title, "The Instant It Happened," and its relationship to great news pictures is explained by Saul Pett in the foreword.

"The instant a long draught ends with rain splashing on an old farmer's face becomes as irresistible as the instant a war begins," he says. "The instant a deaf boys hears his own voice for the first time must share in human experience with the instant a leader is assassinated. And the instant of magic when music lifts a little girl off her chair and sends her pirouetting against the sunlight must be included with the instant the world changed at Hiroshima."

HE NOTES the many examples of "photographer's instinct" in the making of spectacular pictures. It was at work with Bob Jackson when he stayed — against orders — in the basement of the Dallas jail and when he unconsciously pressed his camera release as Jack Ruby shot Lee Harvey Oswald. And it was built-in "radar" that synchronized Eddie Adams' camera and arm movement to match that of the Vietnamese police chief as he raised his gun hand to execute a Viet Cong suspect on a Saigon street corner. The shot triggered the camera too.

Press photographers are tough and hardened but they also have compassion and are human. Here's how Pett summed up that quality:

"The pictures of the vengeful tortures in East Pakistan do not show the revulsion felt by photographers Horst Faas and Michel Laurent. The Pulitzer Prize they won did not erase that feeling. The Pulitzer Prize he won did not mitigate the heavy dismay Max Desfor felt on shooting a picture of refugees scrambling like ants over a broken bridge in Korea.

"Like Murray Becker after the explosion of the Hindenburg, like Boris Yaro after Robert Kennedy was shot in Los Angeles, like many others with a job to do in an instant of tragedy or shock, they do it and they cry later."

Since my younger brother, Max Desfor, shared those same emotions with me at the time he was covering the Korean War, I can add, "Amen, Saul Pett, you've told it like it is."

". . . AS IF IN PRAYER." Scene: Korea, January 1951. AP photographer Max Desfor is with American troops following the enemy when he sees these hands thrust through the deep snow. They uncover an old peasant, hands tied and left to die as the snow started to fall. This picture of individual tragedy was taken with sadness and compassion. In December 1950, Max photographed refugees fleeing over the broken girders of a bombed bridge. The picture of mass tragedy won the 1951 Pulitzer Prize. They both illustrate "The Instant It Happened."

Your Income Tax

EDITOR'S NOTE: This column of questions and answers on federal tax matters is provided by the local office of the U.S. Internal Revenue Service and is published as a public service to taxpayers. The column answers questions most frequently asked by taxpayers.

(Q) I saw a story in the paper giving the average deductions taken by U.S. taxpayers last year. If I keep my deductions below these figures, will it keep me from being audited?

(A) No. IRS computers screen all individual returns for error, not just those with higher than average deduction figures. Sophisticated mathematical formulas are used to rank returns by error potential and those having the highest probability of error are selected for audit.

If a deduction on your return is questioned, you must be able to substantiate the item.

(Q) When should I report interest earned on my Series E Savings Bonds?

(A) You should report interest when the bonds are cashed or report the annual increase each year.

For more information, see IRS Publication 576, "Tax Information on United States Savings Bonds." It's available free by writing your Internal Revenue district office.

(Q) I earned over $25,000 last year. Can I still use the short Form 1040A?

(A) Yes. You can earn any amount and still use the short Form 1040A. However, all your income must come from wages, salaries, tips and not more than $200 in interest and $200 in dividends. In addition, you may not itemize deductions on the short form.

If you did not receive Form 1040A in the mail and want to use it, a copy may be obtained at any Internal Revenue office, most banks and post offices, or you may use the order blank in the Form 1040 package to obtain a copy.

(Q) My husband and I file a joint return. He wants to designate a dollar of our tax for one political party, while I want my dollar to go to another party. Can we do this?

(A) — Yes. If you are filing a joint return, you may designate $2 of your tax toward the Presidential Election Campaign Fund. Thus, each of you may designate $1 of your tax to go to a different party or to a non-partisan general account for all eligible candidates.

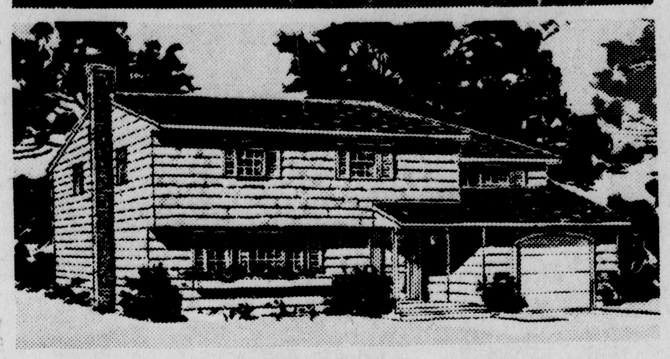
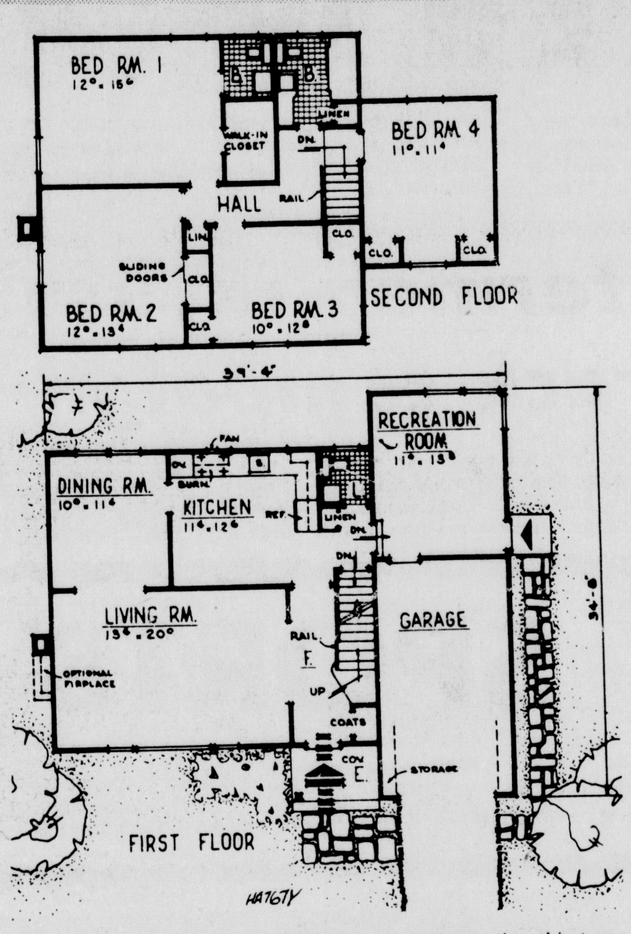
Atlanta to ship garbage away

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP) — Atlanta will begin shipping much of its garbage out of town by railroad next year.

Mayor Sam Massell said Monday the city has contracted with Southern Railway to haul 40 per cent of the city's garbage to Twiggs County in central Georgia, beginning in mid-1974.

HOMES FOR AMERICANS





SMALL GLASS LIGHT WINDOWS with shutters give this two-story, four bedroom home a Colonial look. There is a covered entry, foyer with guest closet and open stair to the bedroom level. The 20-foot-long living room has optional fireplace and three large windows for maximum light. The kitchen, with its 19 feet of cabinet space, is between the dining room and the sunken recreation room. The backyard play area also can be supervised from the kitchen work space. All four bedrooms have cross ventilation. There are 720 square feet of living space on the first floor, 162 in the recreation room and 898 on the second floor. Architect for Plan HA767Y is Herman York, 90-04 161st St., Jamaica, N.Y. 11432. Anyone interested in knowing the price of the plan can write to him.

ON THE HOUSE

By ANDY LANG
AP Newsfeatures

Whatever kind of finishing or refinishing project you undertake, the sanding portion of it plays an important role in the quality of the results.

Unless the surface is completely smooth before the finishing material is applied, the appearance of the completed job will suffer. Paint will hide some minor irregularities, but even the tiniest scratch will show up — and sometime be magnified — when varnish, lacquer, shellac or any clear finish is used.

The portable electric finishing sander is the tool most widely used when an especially smooth finish is desired. It is the power equivalent of the hand sander, which often is merely a piece of sandpaper over a block of wood or other object, but it accomplishes the task quicker and easier.

The motorless vibrator sander handles very light-duty jobs; the belt sander is with without a peer for heavy-duty work on large, flat surfaces; and the disc sander is excellent for rough sanding and removing material.

The finishing sander is the big choice of the do-it-yourselfer because it does such a good job of leveling the surfaces of wood furniture as well as taking care of most household smoothing chores.

There are several varieties of finishing sanders, the most common of which are the orbital, the straight-line and the dual action.

With an orbital sander, the pad to which the abrasive paper is attached moves in tiny, almost imperceptible ovals. The straight-line sander's pad moves back and forth.

The dual action sander has both of these movements, but not at the same time. You switch from one action to the other by pushing a little lever or making some other simple adjustment.

FOR NEARLY all purposes, the orbital action of a finishing sander is nearly ideal. The straight-line movement is sometimes preferred for the final sanding when an exceptionally high wuality of smoothness is desired.

The difference between the two is usually so minor that it can be detected only by a practiced eye. With my own dual action sander, purchased some years ago, I use the orbital action for the first and second sandings, then switch to the straight-line movement for the final operation.

No matter what kind of sander you use, the selection of the proper abrasive paper is important. Most of us know that the rougher the paper, the more material that can be removed; the finer the paper, the smoother the finish.

But what a newcomer to a power sander may not know is that some types of paper — ordinary flint, for example — do not stand up too well when used with high-power machines.

4-H Round-Up

94 clubs planned in Fayette County

By JACK SOMMERS
County Extension Agent, 4-H

Organization of new 4-H clubs is moving along at a rapid pace. Six key organization leaders are working hard to get all the interested youngsters involved in a club. So far 56 clubs have been organized and 9 are ready to organize having 29 to go. All clubs will be formed by April 1.

These 94 clubs represent an increase of 27 over 1972. The large increase is primarily due to the efforts of two groups. Our older 4-H'ers stirred a lot of interest when they visited the schools on Feb. 20. From their efforts we received nearly 300 cards from youngsters interested in 4-H.

The second group responsible are the six Key Leaders. These gals, Jayne Lange, Nellie Hardman, Joan Jenks, Melanie Merriman, Linda Highfield and Phyliss Rea have done a tremendous job. They are working hard to locate advisers for the remaining 27 groups.

Last weekend our 4-H camp counselors were involved in a training session at Proctor Center near London. Eight Fayette Countians were involved in sessions to develop their leadership talents for the 4-H camping program. Those participating were Bill Sexten, Diane Gerber, Cindi Davis, Marlene Braun, Dawn Schlichter, Cathy Van Dyke, Julie Frost and Brenda Coe.

I want to remind all livestock clubs that the Ohio Dorset breeders are sponsoring a judging contest for 4-H and FFA members. The contest is held as part of the Ohio Invitational Dorset Sheep Show and Sale being held at the Fayette County Fairgrounds on Friday and Saturday, March 23 & 24. The contest begins at 9 a.m. Saturday. I'm looking for a large turn out of Fayette County 4-H'ers.

Last Wednesday 17 boys completed half of the testing for Tractor Operators Certificates. The 14 & 15-year-olds did quite well on the written test. The real challenge is coming up on March 31 as the 17 will be taking the driving test at Jeffersonville Farm Service, Ohio 41-N. The three advisers, Ron Swigert, Eddie Halderman and Larry Hines, did an excellent job with this group.

As a final note, the Junior Fair Board meets on Monday night, March 26, to revise and rewrite the Fair Book for 1973. Also, the Junior Leadership Club meets on Wednesday, March 28th, at Mahan Hall to learn more about working with 4-H club members.

Baja California became a peninsula millions of years ago when it was split off from the Mexican mainland and separated from it by a long tongue of the Pacific, the Gulf of California.

Here's the Answer

Q. — I bought a package of toggle bolts recently because I had heard how good they were for hanging things on hollow walls. But no matter how much I try, I can't seem to figure out how they work. I get the bolt into the wall all right, but when I unscrew the bolt, the winged part falls behind the wall. Obviously, I am doing something wrong. Wat is it?

A. — A toggle bolt operates differently than most other types of hollow wall fasteners. You are using it in the same way; that is, placing it into the wall, then removing the bolt so that you can run it through the hook or other fixture. With a toggle bolt, you must NOT remove the bolt once it is in place. Therefore, you must place the bolt through the fixture first, then put it into the wall. It's a little tricky at first, so here is the exact procedure:

Drill a hole into the wall so that the toggle bolt, with the wings folded, will fit snugly into it. Now unscrew the bolt from the winged part. Run the bolt through the fixture that is to be hung on the wall. With the fixture still attached to the bolt, replace the winged section on the bolt by screwing it into place. At this point, the order is the head of the bolt, the fixture and the wings.

Now, and now only, push the folded wings and bolt into the hole in the wall. When the wings pass the solid part of the wall, they will open up and grip the inside of the wall. Using a screwdriver, turn the slotted head of the bolt in a clockwise direction until the fixture is tightly against the wall. It may sound a little complicated, but after you have done it once, you will be able to repeat the operation in the future without giving it a thought.

Q. — The house we bought has wooden shingles on the side of it. The stain on the shingles has begun to peel and blister in spots. We'd like to do the outside of the house over. Will paint take over the stain after we scrape off the peeling and blistering?

A. — First of all, stain does not peel and blister, so it is likely that someone else painted the shingles. Therefore, you can go ahead with the painting after preparing the surface, which includes scraping and perhaps sanding the rough areas.

But before going ahead with the job, it might be a good idea to find out what caused the peeling and blistering. It usually comes from water that gets behind the wall and pushes up the coat of paint.

It can be from the outside — rain getting behind the wall — or from the inside, such as excessive moisture emanating from inside the house.

In using a drum sander to take the old fisnish off a floor, be sure to raise the drum slightly from the floor before coming to a halt. If left in place while still in operation, the abrasive on the drum will dig a groove in the wood.

When a wood window has swollen so that no amount of lubricating or forcing will enable to slide up and down, the stop molding will have to be removed and the edge sandpapered to provide a wider channel.

Cry over spilled milk

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn. (AP) — Clifford Nelson, who said he had driven a milk truck for 40 years without a mishap, was caught by the law of averages recently.

He tried to avoid a car in his path, skidded on a patch of ice and overturned. Nelson was not injured.

All-Ohio Class AA cage squad selected

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Most college recruiters regard Mike Phillips of Akron Manchester, The Associated Press Ohio Class AA high school basketball player of the year, as the best big man in the state and he's only a junior.

The 6-foot-10 center has scored more than 1,700 points as a three-year regular for the Summit County school. He averaged 31 points and 24 rebounds in leading Manchester to an undefeated regular season.

Carroll Hawhee, the veteran Waverly coach, was named the Ohio Class AA coach of the year after leading the Tigers to The AP's regular season poll championship.

Joining Phillips on the allstate first team were 6-foot Dave Smith of Uhrichsville Claymont, 6-6 Dan Hipsher of Fostoria, 6-3 Jeff Currie of Dayton Jefferson, 6-2 Ken Hurst of South Point, 6-foot Jimmy Jones of Columbus Ready, 6-3 Bob Mitchell of Dayton Stivers and 6-6 Andy Krakowiak of Cleveland Holy Name.

Mitchell completed a rare double. He was also first team all-state in football as an end last fall.

Second team selections included 6-5 Lou Wargo of Huron, 6-10 Mike Buurma of Willard, 6-2 Stan McCoy of Cincinnati Loveland, 6-5 Mike Cobb of Youngstown North, 6-7 Jim Wood of Steubenville Catholic, 6-4 Gil Price of Gallipolis, 6-7 Ken Millisor of Lancaster Fairfield Union and 6-4 Boyd Breece of Rittman.

On the third team were 6-4 Dale Creager of Hamler Patrick Henry, 6-1 Jim Hough of Springboro, 6-4 Fred Marchese of Poland, 6-3 Art Daniels of Oberlin Firelands, 5-10 Chris Wright of Byesville Meadowbrook, 6-3 Mike Oyer of Waverly, 6-1 Pat Mack of Elida and 6-4 Rich White of Albany Alexander.

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The 1973 Associated Press Class AA All-Ohio high school basketball team, selected with the recommendations of a statewide panel of sports writers and broadcasters:

FIRST TEAM—Mike Phillips, Akron Manchester, 6-foot-10 junior, 31.0 points per game; Dave Smith, Uhrichsville Claymont, 6-foot senior, 28.0; Dan Hipsher, Fostoria, 6-6 senior, 19.8; Jeff Currie, Dayton Jefferson, 6-3 senior, 24.0; Ken Hurst, South Point, 6-2 senior, 23.0; Jimmy Jones, Columbus Ready, 6-foot junior, 20.3; Bob Mitchell, Dayton Stivers, 6-3 senior, 22.3, and Andy Krakowiak, Cleveland Holy Name, 6-6 senior, 26.0.

SECOND TEAM—Lou Wargo, Huron, 6-5 senior; Mike Buurma, Willard, 6-10 senior; Stan McCoy, Cincinnati Loveland, 6-2 senior; Mike Cobb, Youngstown North, 6-5 senior; Jim Wood, Steubenville Catholic, 6-7 senior; Gil Price, Gallipolis, 6-4 junior, Ken Millisor, Lancaster Fairfield Union, 6-7 senior, and Boyd Breece, Rittman, 6-4 senior.

THIRD TEAM—Dale Creager, Hamler Patrick Henry, 6-4 senior; Jim Hough, Springboro, 6-1 senior; Fred Marchese, Poland, 6-4 senior; Art Daniels, Oberlin Fireland, 6-3 senior; Chris Wright, Byesville Meadowbrook, 5-10 senior; Mike Oyer, Waverly, 6-3 senior; Pat Mack, Elida, 6-1 senior, and Rick White, Albany Alexander, 6-4 senior.

PLAYER OF YEAR—Mike Phillips, Akron Manchester.

COACH OF YEAR—Carroll Hawhee, Waverly.

HONORABLE MENTION— James Ellis, Dayton Kiser; George Borojevich, Navarre Fairless; Bill Cottinger, Massillon Tuslaw; Harley Major, Leavittsburg LaBrae; Rick Bates, Kinsman Badger; Steve Stanford, Akron St. Vincent-St. Mary; Don Boop, Orrville; Don Imobersteg, West Branch; Mark Malesick, Mingo Junction; Howard Wheeler, Cadiz; Kelly Shy, Portsmouth West; Tom Sykes, Circleville Logan Elm; Craig Pontius, Ashville Teays Valley; Tom Bramlage, Exley, and Larry Downing, Delaware Buckeye Valley.

Fourth Jaycee cage tourney April 2-7

The fourth annual Washington C. H. Jaycee Convention Club's independent basketball tournament, which has mushroomed into one of the finest winter sporting attractions in the area, will be held April 2-7 at the Washington Junior High School gym.

Dick Anthony, president of the Washington C. H. Jaycees, said at present only a few entries have been received for the single elimination tournament, and the small number of teams may force a double elimination event.

The entry deadline is March 26, at which time the drawing will be held at the Jaycee clubhouse, according to Anthony. There is a $35 entry fee.

TROPHIES WILL be awarded to the first and second place teams, plus individual trophies for members of the championship team. Each team may be comprised of no more than 15 players who are neither professional at present nor high school students. College players will be permitted to play with a limit of four per team. All team rosters will be submitted at the March 26 drawing.

Anthony said the tournament will be played under Ohio High School Athletic Association rules, with the exception of the dunking rule. Anthony also noted that any player assessed with a technical foul will be fined $5 and not permitted to play further until the fine has been paid.

Wilson Lumber is the defending champion in the tournament which has always been noted as a drawing card for exceptional basketball talent. Other champs are Washington Lumber Co. and Flynn's Real Estate, Greenfield.

Entries should be sent to Dick Anthony, 215 Florence St., Washington C. H. He can be reached by calling 335-3402. Bill Marting will serve as the tournament chairman.

Legless youth given grand tour by Cincy's Pete Rose

TAMPA, Fla. (AP) — Pete Rose and 14-year-old Mike Zeigler have something in common. Both believe in running out everything they hit.

But that's where similarities end. Mike is legless.

He got more than he bargained for.

"It's an American League ball," he said, hesitantly.

But it was a special one, he added. He retrieved it after Bobby Tolan of the Reds hit it for a home run in Winter Haven, Fla., a few days before.

"I got a lot of good outfield hits, but they made me run everything myself. I just can't run fast and they'd get me out at first sometimes," he said.

"Well," asked Rose, "you wouldn't wany anyone to run for you, would you?

"Oh no, I wanted to run for myself," said Mike, who also plays football and basketball.

Notre Dame shows stuff

NEW YORK (AP) — Yes, Virginia Tech, Notre Dame does belong in this year's National Invitation Tournament.

The Fighting Irish, scorned by some for their 11 losses during the regular season, continued to make believers of the cynics with their second straight victory in the 36th annual basketball classic Tuesday night.

"We're as good as any team in the field," said Notre Dame center John Shumate after scoring 19 points in a 79-71 triumph over Louisville in the quarterfinals Tuesday night.

"I think that Notre Dame can handle North Carolina in the semifinals," offered Louisville forward Ken Bradley, adding a voice in Notre Dame's behalf.

If there was a voice boosting the Fighting Irish when they were first invited to the nation's oldest postseason tournament, it wasn't very loud.

The NIT selection committee was rapped in some quarters for picking a school with a 15-11 record. Now the record is 17-11 with a distinct possibility of getting healthier.

Notre Dame's triumph before an unusually apathetic crowd at Madison Square Garden moved the Fighting Irish into Saturday's semis against North Carolina, an earlier 73-63 victor over Massachusetts.

Big Ten basketball attendance marks set

CHICAGO (AP) — The Big Ten set six basketball attendance records for the recently completed season, including an all-game total of 1,312,048.

YOU WIN SOME, AND LOSE SOME — Indiana head basketball coach Bobby Knight takes a difference of opinion to an unidentified official of the NCAA's Mid-East championship game with Kentucky at Nashville, Tenn., and leaves the discussion apparently unconvinced. Although he lost the argument he won the game 72-65 and Indiana will meet UCLA t St. Louis in the NCAA semifinals Saturday.

Eight lettermen return for MT track campaign

By MIKE FLYNN
Record-Herald Sports Editor

It's been five years since Chuck Wallace was head track coach at Miami Trace, but the crafty veteran returns this season with a set of goals which he hopes will bring success.

"We're going to try to improve our running speeds through interval training, develop the younger talent to increase team depth, shoot for a winning season as well as improving our place in the league and district competition," says Wallace, who was head track coach in 1967 and an assistant under Roy Lucas a year ago.

Eight returning lettermen, headed by two participants who hold school records, will form the nucleus for the 1973 Miami Trace edition which will be hoping to better a 9-8 record and a fourth place standing in the South Central Ohio League meet. Another Miami Trace target, according to Wallace, will be scoring in the Southeastern Ohio District Class AAA meet, where the Panthers were blanked a year ago.

Senior Jeff Moore, a three-year letter-winner, heads Miami Trace's list of returning talent. Moore has been slated for duty in the 880 and 440-yard runs.

OTHER VETERAN distance performers include co-captain Ron Bays, a two-year letterman, and junior Ernie Perry, who placed second in the SCOL meet and holds the school record of 10:28.6 in the two-mile run. Danny Ryan, another junior, completes the list of returning experience in the distance events.

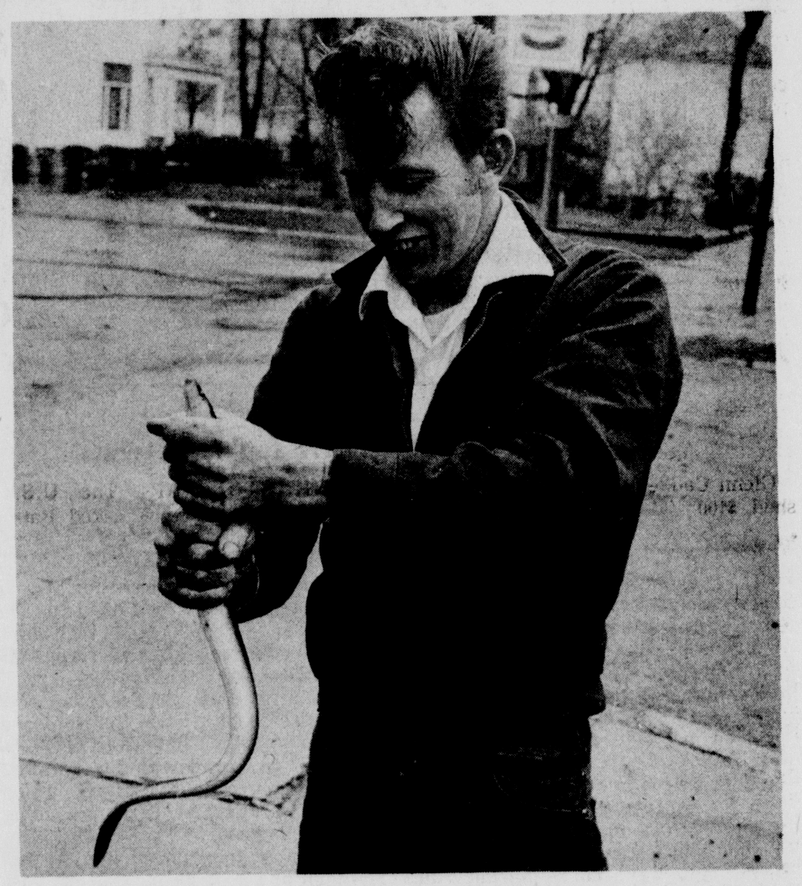
Wallace expects the Panthers to be strong in field events this year and has senior Dan Coe back to bolster his hopes. Coe established a school record a year ago and he vaulted 12 feet. He is also scheduled for duty in the high jump and hurdles.

Also returning for the field events are senior co-captain Gardner Cobb and sophomore Ron Warnock, both expected to hit 150 feet in the discus throw this year. Warnock will also handle the shotput.

Dennis Dalton, a junior sprinter and long jumper, rounds out the list of returning veterans for Miami Trace, which has no returning experience for the hurdle events.

Wallace has a 30-member team comprised of seven seniors, 10 juniors, six sophomores and the same number of freshmen and expects depth to be a problem early in the season.

The Panthers will open their season Tuesday by hosting Springfield Northeastern and SCOL rival Hillsboro. Other rugged meets on the Miami Trace schedule include the Circleville Relays, Unioto Relays, the SCOL meet, the Franklin Heights Invitational and the Chillicothe Track Festival.



SURPRISED ANGLER — Although its not unheard of to land an eel while fishing in this part of Ohio, this Washington C. H. angler was sure surprised when he hooked this one while fishing in Rocky Fork Lake in Highland County recently. Carl Everetts, 1028½ Willard St., holds the eel which measured over 20 inches in length.

Ed Brophy dies; dean of golf pros

Brophy, who was a pro at Western Hills Country Club for 38 years until his retirement, died Sunday at a Sarasota, Fla., rest home.

Nannon victorious in Latonia feature

Weather cut the crowd and handle, but the winner found it to its liking and paid $4.20, $3.00 and $2.40.

All Involved was second and paid $3.80 and $2.60. Happy Go On was third for $2.80.

Wooden Coach of the Year for 6th time in AP poll

NEW YORK (AP) — Taciturn John Wooden, who keeps winning at UCLA despite the odds and the pressure, was named today the Associated Press' college basketball Coach of the Year for 1972-73.

Previously, the UCLA coach took the honor in 1964, 1967, 1969, 1970 and 1972.

"He's unique," said Coach Jerry Tarkanian of Long Beach State, one of UCLA's closest rivals, "His theories wouldn't work for everyone, but he does a tremendous job of organizing and getting teams ready to play."

"Sure, he's had the players," said Coach Bob Boyd of crosstown rival Southern California, "but coaches often cite players as a crutch for something they haven't done themselves."

"It's a helluva lot easier sometimes to surprise and do what is NOT expected. Even with the players UCLA has had, a lesser coach could have fouled it up. John hasn't overreacted to changing attitudes, lifestyles and times."

Wooden's Bruins, who have won the NCAA championship six straight seaons, are in the playoffs for the seventh year in a row. Enroute to his seventh straight Pacific-8 Conference title, Wooden's Bruins eclipsed San Francisco's all-time winning streak.

At the end of the regular season, the Bruins had won 71 in a row—11 more than the Dons did in the fabled years of Bill Russell during the 1950s. And with two NCAA tourney victories their streak has reached 73.

Am g the other coaches receiving suppo t from the nation's press were Bob Knight of Indiana; Dick Phelps of Notre Dame; Dean Smith of North Carolina; Al McGuire of Marquette; Minnesota's Bill Musselman, and Dave Gavitt of Providence.

Angels turn back Tribe in exhibition

TUCSON, Ariz. (AP) — Bob Oliver, playing as the designated hitter, led a ten-hit assault as the California Angels beat the Cleveland Indians 6-2 in a Tuesday night exhibition.

Cleveland Indians trim 6 players

TUCSON, ARIZ. (AP) — Three pitchers, two catchers and an outfielder were sent Tuesday to the Cleveland Indians minor league complex for reassignment.

McDowell considers retirement

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

From Philadelphia's Cy Young Award winner Steve Carlton and New York Mets ace Tom Seaver there were expressions of satisfaction. But from Sam McDowell of San Francisco there was...silence.

The 28-year-old Carlton, who had been suffering from bronchitis that almost put him in the hospital, went four innings against Los Angeles Tuesday, allowing one run, two hits, striking out two and walking none. Still, the Phillies lost 4-3.

"I was real pleased," said Carlton, the best pitcher in the National League last year with 27 victories, 310 strikeouts and a 1.98 earned run average. Bronchitis had kept him off the mound this spring.

Tom Seaver, who had been bothered by a persistent sore throat, fired four innings of one-hit ball as the Mets beat St. Louis 7-5 in a "B" squad game. "I'm kind of happy about the way things turned out," Seaver said. "I threw some good pitches and that's encouraging to me." McDowell, meanwhile, apparently experiencing back problems, was given two days off by Giants Manager Charlie Fox amid reports he might be considering retirement.

Horace Stoneham, Giants president, said, "We have taken the position that he has left the team, perhaps temporarily. He told Fox his back was hurting." Last year he missed six weeks in midseason with arm problems.

The game's biggest event Tuesday, however, took place in the ballroom of the Hilton Hotel in St. Petersburg, Fla., where the late Roberto Clemente was overwhelmingly voted into the Hall of Fame in the first waiving of the five-year waiting period by the Baseball Writers Association of America.

"I threw as hard as I could and threw for strikes," Carlton said after facing the Dodgers. "I think I'm ahead of last year's spring training."

Andy Messersmith stole Carlton's thunder by limiting the Phillies to two hits in six innings. The veteran right-hander acquired from California struck out four and walked only one batter.

McDowell apparently wasn't talking to anyone. His wife, Carol, reached by telephone at their home in Pittsburgh, said Sudden Sam had said nothing to her about retiring. "I'm expecting a call from him tonight," she said. "And, oh, I know, he is getting his back checked by a doctor. It was my understanding that the Giants were giving him a couple days off."

Mike Kekich and Lindy McDaniel limited Cincinnati to four singles and Roy White slapped a run-scoring single in the eighth inning as the New York Yankees shaded the Reds 1-0.

Mark Belanger and Boog Powell drilled home runs to back Dave McNally's five innings of four-hit ball as the Baltimore Orioles blanked Pittsburgh 6-0.

Frank Howard drove in three runs with a homer and a sacrifice fly and John Hiller pitched five strong innings as Detroit beat the New York Mets 6-2.

Rick Miller singled and scored on a couple of bunts and Lee May's throwing error in the 10th inning, lifting the Boston Red Sox to a 4-3 victory over Houston. Pepe Mangual collected three of Montreal's 20 hits—one of them a homer— drove in four runs and scored four to lead the Expos past Texas 16-10. Elliot Maddox had a grand slam for the Rangers.

Carmen Fanzone drove in three runs with a double and single as the Chicago Cubs romped to a 7-1 victory over San Diego. San Francisco took advantage of two errors by outfielder Reggie Jackson, one of them in a six-run third inning, to beat Oakland 7-2.

Lion variety show may clear $2,200

The Washington C. H. Lions Club probably will clear between $2,000 and $2,200 on the "Lion's Roar" variety show it staged March 5 and 6 for its sight-saving and community betterment fund, Richard Kimmet reported Tuesday night at a meeting in the Country Club.

President Phil Morrow commented that this was one of the most successful, both artistically and financially of the club's many productions through the years.

Donald Crabtree was welcomed into the club. The formal induction will be held later. Dick Lewis and Wiley Witherspoon were presented pins for sponsoring new members.

Plans for the state convention May 18-20 in Cincinnati and the annual election of officers were discussed. Morrow appointed a nominating committee composed of R. Burris Tharp, Tom Mark and Elmer N. Reed to report a slate of nominees at the April 3 meeting for the election to be held April 17.

GRADUATED — Pvt. Martin C. Smith, husband of the former Dianna Beedy, 1510 N. North St., has been graduated from basic training at the Marine Corps recruit depot in San Diego, Calif.

FOLLOWING dinner and the business session, Gary Smith, of Lynchburg, narrated color slides he made in September while hunting moose, caribou, elk, grizzly bear and mountain sheep in Alaska.

The 18-day trip took him from the uppermost part of the state to the lower peninsula. Accompanied only by his guide and the bush pilot, he spotted game from the air. The plane could be landed on the mountain tops, but sometimes, he said, the trio had to walk as far as 10 miles to get within gunshot of the game.

Under the law, the head and four quarters of all animals killed had to be taken out and reported to conservation officials. After bagging a moose, he said, they had to carry hundreds of pounds on their backs for several miles.

Smith predicted that the Eskimos in northern Alaska will soon be gone from that area. Since Alaska achieved statehood, he said, children are required to go to school and that means they must go south for the last four grades. He said they are reluctant to return to their homes in the northern area and the old, more primitive way of life.

Social Security recipients may earn more now

Social Security recipients will be able to earn more next year and still be eligible for their checks, due to a recent change in the law.

The 1972 amendments to the Social Security Act allow a person to earn $2,100 rather than $1,680 starting in 1973, without losing any Social Security benefits. All persons receiving retirement or survivor benefits are affected by this change in what is commonly referred to as the "retirement test".

Besides increasing the amount which a beneficiary is allowed to earn, the law includes some other changes which are designed to eliminate misunderstandings as well as overpayments that had to be refunded by the beneficiary or withheld from benefit security checks.

The law formerly provided that $1 in benefits must be withheld for each $2 earned over the $1,680 amount, up to $2,880. If the person's yearly earnings exceeded $2,880, then $1 for each dollar in excess of $2,880, was also withheld.

The new law eliminates the dollar-for-dollar provision so that $1 for each $2 is withheld regardless of how much a recipient's earnings exceed $2,100. For example, if a person earned $4,100, then $1,000 would be withheld from whatever social security benefits were payable for that year.

THE MONTHLY amount that a person can earn, and be eligible for the monthly check, has been increased from $140 to $175. This provision is material only if a person's earnings exceed $2,100. For example, if a person earned $2,000, it wouldn't matter whether these wages were spread out over the entire year or whether the entire $2,000 was earned in a single month. Since the individual did not exceed $2,100 he would be eligible to receive all Social Security benefits in that year. Suppose, though, that the person earned $10,000 that year. If there were any months that his wages did not exceed $175, he could still receive his Social Security checks for those months.

The $175-per-month provision applies only to workers earning a wage. If a person is self-employed, the amount of time rather than the monthly amount of his earnings is used to determine whether he is substantially self-employed, or if he is eligible for benefits.

Another change in the law affects a person who is attaining age 72 in 1973 or thereafter. Earnings in the month he attains age 72 and for subsequent months are no longer used to figure his total earnings for that year. For example, suppose that a Social Security beneficiary who is still working full-time will reach age 72 next July. He will be able to receive his Social Security checks from July on regardless of how much he earns.

Whether he will be eligible for checks for January through June will depend on how much he earned during those months. Formerly, his earnings for the entire year would have been considered in determining his eligibility for checks for the months of the year prior to the month he attained age 72. This was one of the most misunderstood provisions of the "retirement test" and resulted in numerous overpayments.

THE NEW amendments also provide that the amount which a person can earn and still receive all Social Security checks will be increased whenever there is an increase in Social Security benefits and the earnings increase will be proportionate to the benefit increase. Thus, a 10 per cent increase would mean that the $2,100 earnings exemption would also be increased by 10 per cent.

The only earnings that count as income for "retirement test" purposes are wages and net earnings from self-employment. Other forms of income such as rent, interest, dividends, or other pensions, do not affect a person's eligibility for retirement or survivors benefits.

If a person's earnings for 1973 or later do exceed $2,100 he must file a report of these earnings with the Social Security Administration no later than April 15 of the following year. Otherwise, a penalty for late filing will be imposed in addition to any overpayment he has to refund. This report of earnings is separate from the federal income tax return and the proper form for reporting earnings in excess of $2,100 can be obtained from the local Social Security office.

City issues eight building permits

Eight building permits for construction work with a total cost estimate of $43,263 have been issued by the City of Washington C. H.

Marting Manufacturing Co. received a permit to build a metal manufacturing and storage facility on Rose Ave. The cost estimate is $40,000, and Custom Grain Systems was named the contractor.

Others receiving permits and the cost estimates of the individual projects:

David Ford, 420 Worley St., new residential garage, $1,500.

Glenn Caulley, 522 Fifth St., frame shed, $100.

Vehicle inspection scheduled Saturday

Free voluntary motor vehicle inspections will be made by the State Highway Patrol from 9 a.m. until noon and 1 until 4 p.m. Saturday at the Fairground.

Patrolman W. E. Browder suggested that owners check their cars for minor defects before taking them to the Fairground for the inspection. He said motor vehicles with valid inspection decals punched May 1972 or later need not appear.

PUCO chief gives mixed reaction to energy study

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — A Youngstown lawmaker's proposals for studies of Ohio's energy problems received mixed reaction Tuesday night from Henry W. Eckhart, chairman of the Ohio Public Utilities Commission (PUCO).

The chairman gave qualified endorsement—with recommendations for some changes—to one of two proposals by Rep. Thomas J. Carney, D-71 Youngstown. It calls for the commission to compile data on Ohio's future energy needs.

Eckhart said he does not favor a second Carney proposal that would have the Legislative Service Commission (LSC) study Ohio's energy "crisis."

The chairman said that while he feels the LSC does an outstanding research job for the legislature, "it lacks the expertise" to gain the kind of information that would require engineers and other technical people the LSC doesn't have."

Eckhart said he "applauds" Carney for seeking to bring the legislature into the "energy problem, which is among the biggest problems faced by the people of Ohio." He said the purpose of the bill to collect data fits in with efforts the PUCO currently is making.

The commission chairman pointed out, however, that the federal government has jurisdiction over most of the energy fuels consumed by Ohio, and currently is studying the same problem, and will have new regulations.

"We should wait until we see what they will do before we take action," Eckhart said.

He said the PUCO is ready to undertake the study if the legislature wants, but estimated his agency would need $400,000 to employ a staff of 10 to 15 persons to begin the project and finance it over two years beginning July 1.

Eckhart suggested other things the legislature might want to do in the area of energy problems—among them give the governor authority to declare an "energy crisis," establish an energy conservation fund, and power for the state to impose stricter regulation if needed.

Nixon likes piano, hi-fi

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon has recently begun to play the piano late at night in the family quarters of the White House. In addition, he likes to turn up the volume on his hi-fi, his wife disclosed Tuesday.

Mrs. Nixon said her husband plays the hi-fi so loud that "it blasts through the house. He thinks that's the only way to listen—when it's real loud and you can hear everything."

The President has taken to midnight piano playing because "it relaxes him," the First Lady said.

The musical discussion came at a White House reception where Mrs. Nixon accepted a collection of nearly 2,000 recordings to establish a White House record library.

Andrea Doria disaster brought long-time love

SARATOGA, Calif. (AP) — Before the cruise ship Andrea Doria plunged to the bottom nearly 17 years ago, a young Italian leaped into the Atlantic to haul a woman passenger to safety.

Now John Vali and the woman he saved are married. They operate a restaurant here called the Andrea Doria and have two daughters, one named Doria.

On July 26, 1956, Vali was dancing in the Italian ship's ballroom with pretty Melanie Ansuini when the Andrea Doria collided with the Swedish cruise ship Stockholm in heavy fog off Nantucket, R.I., in a maritime tragedy that took 51 lives.

"I was dancing with her when everything went 45 degrees to one side. It was a mess. People were screaming and running around," Vali, a native of Seze Romano near Rome, recalled Monday in an interview.

Despite the confusion, Vali said he managed to reunite Melanie with relatives aboard the Andrea Doria who were immigrating to the United States from Italy.

"Four hours later, they decided we had to leave the ship," said Vali, now 44. "I told her to jump, but she was afraid to. Finally, I jumped, then she jumped and missed the lifeboat. I dove in after her and pulled her out."

"We wrote each other, then I came to California and married her seven months later," Vali said.

The young Italian first worked as an appliance delivery truck driver then entered the restaurant business.

The Valis and their two daughters—Doria, 14, and Dina, 9—make their home in nearby San Jose.

For sentimental reasons, Vali said he "thought about naming my second daughter Andrea, but we decided we liked the other name better."

Vali says he dreams of one day building a land-bound model of the ship and converting it into an Italian restaurant.

"Almost 17 years after the romance, and we're still very happily married. That might surprise people. Nobody gets married today," Vali said.

Bill planned to ease cash crisis in Medicaid cases

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — A Cleveland lawmaker planned to introduce today a bill to permit the state to make overdue payments to welfare patient health care providers on an interim emergency basis.

Rep. Richard F. Celeste, D-5 Cleveland, said the measure being offered by him and 12 House cosponsors resulted from consultations among the welfare and finance departments and State Auditor Joseph T. Ferguson.

The state has been running several months behind in getting checks out to hospitals, pharmacists, and others who provide care and medicine to indigent Medicaid patients with a promise they will be reimbursed by the state.

A recent check showed the state more than $30 million in arrears. Delays have been attributed to federal red tape and a conversion in the Department of Welfare to a computer billing system which now is doing the job faster, officials say.

Celeste said Tuesday night that the state made a total of $203 million in Medicaid payments during 1972 and the total since July, 1972, is now $131 million. He pointed out that Ohio gets an average of 13 million claims a year from an estimated 25,000 health care providers.

The bill would remain in effect only 60 days, he said. During that time, the state could pay a provider up to 25 per cent of all his claims in calendar year 1971 or 1972 "as long as the provider was due payment for claims greater than 35 per cent" of the payments made to him in either of those years.

"The bill is designed to take the pressure off those providers who have been put in a financial bind by the delays experienced by implementing the federally-designed Model Medicaid System," Celeste said.

Audits will follow any payments made under the legislation, which provides that any overpayments will be recovered—through prosecution, if necessary—he added.

Earlier Tuesday, state Welfare Director Charles Bates told a legislative subcommittee his department has revised its projected Aid for Dependent Children (ADC) recipient count for the 1974-75 biennium downward.

Bates testified at a hearing by the welfare subcommittee of the House Finance-Appropriations Committee on the department's $825.7 million budget request for the biennium.

He said recipient estimates prepared late last year were too high in light of a downward trend in ADC increases over the last few months.

The department has re-estimated its original budget request for ADC, Bates said, and is projecting a growth of 4,200 per month over fiscal year 1974, a decrease of 700 a month.

2 Cubans face federal charges

MIAMI (AP) — The U.S. government begins legal proceedings today under the U.S.-Cuba hijack agreement against two young Cuban fishermen who allegedly commandeered a boat to Mexico but wound up instead in Florida.

Orlirio Hernandez and Heriberto Caridad Perez, both 21, face action by the Immigration and Naturalization Service and by the U.S. Attorney's office.

They apparently were not in immediate danger of deportation as far as the U.S. Attorney's office was concerned.

Explaining Degrees in Burns

What is the difference between the different "degree" of burns?

Miss S. L., Fla.

Dear Miss L.:

"First," "second," and "third" degrees are arbitrary medical terms which indicate the severity of the burn.

The first degree involves only the outer superficial layer of the skin. Associated with this comes diffuse redness and pain, and occasionally the formation of a blister. In most instances, the skin is unbroken.

A second-degree burn affects the deeper, underlying layers of the skin. Blistering and breakage of the skin occur in these cases. Because the skin is broken, infection is easily introduced, adding another hazard.

Third-degree burns involve the deeper tissues of the skin, the muscles, and other tissues that lie beneath it.

Another important factor is that the extent of burns plays a vital role in the ultimate recovery.

In other words, a first-degree burn that involves a large part of the body may be more serious than a third-degree burn which is limited to a small body surface.

The treatment of burns has occupied the attention of physicians for many years. Today special teams using the most complex devices to replace body fluids and to control infection with antibiotics are saving the lives of many who years ago would have been lost.

Special beds, hammocks and other suspension devices, and air and water mattresses have reduced the pain of severe burns, and facilitated recovery.

As I have frequently mentioned, the best modern home treatment for painful, superficial burns is the immediate application of ice or ice water. Children should be taught to do this in case of a simple burn. The most impressive teaching, of course, should be devoted to the prevention of fires.

Are injections of gamma globulin of value for those people who have been exposed to a fellow worker who came down with hepatitis?

Mr. S. L. J., Kan.

Dear Mr. J.:

Gamma globulin is a very complex protein that is present in the blood of most people. I say "most" because sometimes there is an absence or deficiency of this protective substance.

Some doctors believe that a booster injection of G. G. is of value to those who have been exposed to some forms of hepatitis and other communicable diseases. Physicians consider each case individually and recommend its use after such evaluation.

SPEAKING OF YOUR HEALTH.....Emotional stress can affect almost every organ in the body.

Farm kids have edge in peoria pig contest

PEORIA, Ill. (AP) — The February issue of the magazine "American Hampshire Herdsman" carries a story about the magazine and Paramount Pictures launching a contest for children to find "the country's most humble, radiant, terrific pig."

Youngsters are to send a snapshot of their favorite pig along with a 25-word or less explanation of why they think their pig is the most humble, radiant and terrific.

Prize will be a U.S. Savings bond and an exclusive interview in the Herdsman.

The movie company's interest is its new animated movie "Charlotte's Web," whose star is a pig.

Pollution detectors

NEW YORK (AP) — Fish and petunias may come to rival canaries as pollution detectors.

Nearly everyone knows that canaries have been used to give early warning signals of foul air in mines. Now various plants, including petunias, are being tested in government laboratories at Beltsville, Md., for clues to various airborne pollutants. And Science News reports that fish responses may provide instantaneous gauges of water pollutants.

So, get a move on

HAILSHAM, England (AP) — Frank Garner, 82, was banned from driving for 10 years for going too slowly.

Police told the court here that Garner was traveling along the middle of the main London-Eastbourne highway at 10 m.p.h. Garner pleaded guilty to driving without reasonable consideration for other road users.

Drivers charged after wrecks

Three drivers were cited and property damage was listed as minor in six traffic accidents reported by police and sheriff's departments in the city county area. There were no injuries in the Tuesday crashes.

Both drivers involved in a minor collision in Jeffersonville were cited by sheriff's deputies for traffic law violation.

Officers charged Deborah A. McStowe, 18, Rt. 1, Jeffersonville with improper backing and Robert W. Hall, 18, Rt. 4, with displaying false registration plates following the 4:20 p.m. mishap.

The accident occurred at Walnut and Main Streets when the McStowe car backed to pull into a service station and collided with the front of the Hall car stopped behind, sheriff's deputies said.

Daniel L. Krupla, 19, Rt. 1, Bloomingburg, was charged with improper passing in a two-car crash on Bloomingburg-New Holland Road at Culpepper Trace Tuesday evening.

Sheriff's deputies said a car driven by Kenneth Jr. Penwell, 24, Bloomingburg, was making a left turn onto Culpepper Trace when the Krupla car attempted to pass and collided with the left side of the Penwell car. Damage was moderate.

Other mishaps were:

POLICE

TUESDAY, 11:16 a.m. — A car driven by Harry N. Jacks, 57, Rt. 1, was backing into a parking place on S. Fayette Street and collided with a parked car owned by Adam Everace, Rt. 2; damage minor.

TUESDAY, 12:12 p.m. — Trucks driven by Robin E. Fogle, 20, Delaware, and Lawrence L. Mongold, 21, Rt. 1, Greenfield, were involved in a minor crash on Court Street at the entrance to the Moore's Store lot; damage minor.

TUESDAY, 2:30 p.m. — Pearl L. Bennett, 47, of 422 Lewis St., was pulling from the Union 76 lot onto Market Street, and collided with a parked car owned by Carroll Halliday Inc., 906 Columbus Ave., damage minor.

Man sues city schools

CINCINNATI, Ohio (AP) — The father of a 14-year-old Cincinnati girl is suing Princeton City school officials for allegedly exposing his daughter to "promiscuous group sex practices."

Dewey Troy Carroll of suburban Sharonville is seeking $6,500 from school personnel. Carroll claims that a book assigned his daughter contained "offensive material" which resulted in a serious emotional conflict which damaged the girl and to her relationship of her parents.

Carroll is asking $2,500 for himself and $4,000 for the girl.

Carroll contends the book dealt with social atmosphere rather than any technical or "artistic" aspect of rock music.

Fayette woman held in Clinton burglary

A 23-year-old Fayette County woman was arrested Tuesday afternoon by sheriff's deputies on warrants from Clinton County charging her with grand larceny and burglary of an inhabited dwelling.

Shirley Ann Sims, 23, Rt. 3, was taken into custody at her home and later released to the Wilmington Police Department, who had filed the felony complaints.

Miss Sims and a male accomplice allegedly broke into the Chester Little residence in Wilmington and removed a television set, stereo and numerous other household goods. The burglary occurred March 18.

Wilmington police said Miss Sims is being held in the city jail under $5,000 bond and is scheduled for arraignment Friday.

Betty Myers, of 320 Cherry St., reported to police that someone shot out the front door window of her 1966 model station wagon sometime Monday night. The car was parked at her residence at the time. Damage was set at $140.

Police are also looking for two 17-year-old Washington C.H. juveniles missing from their home since Monday afternoon.

Officers said Kenneth Smith, 227 E. Elm St., and Monty McConkey, 531 E. Elm St., were last seen together about 4 p.m. Monday. Their parents said the pair are believed headed for Springfield, Ill. to see girlfriends.

FBI warrant filed against Ernie Holmes

PITTSBURGH (AP) — The FBI says a federal warrant for the arrest of defensive tackle Ernest Holmes of the Pittsburgh Steelers, stemming from an alleged shooting spree near Salem, Ohio, will not be served for the time being.

An FBI complaint, filed in addition to Ohio charges already pending against Holmes, alleged the destruction of property moving in interstate commerce.

However, Ian D. MacLennan, special agent in charge of the FBI here, said Tuesday night the warrant would not be served now, although he did not eliminate later action.

The 6-foot-3, 250-pound tackle, who shared playing time last year with Ben McGee and who was expected to become a starter this season, is free on $45,000 bond.

He pleaded innocent Monday in Youngstown, Ohio, to one count of shooting a police officer with intent to kill and two counts of shooting at police with intent to kill.

Holmes was arrested Friday night after a four-hour police manhunt in the Salem area for a man believed to have fired several shots at trucks earlier in the day.
